Worshippers Will Hail Glory Of Easter in Local Churches

In a world concerned with strange man-made objects which may travel to the moon and even beyond — in a world boasting newly-found abilities to pierce secrets denied man through the ages — another Easter will be observed Sunday.

Here in Newton it will probably be the most glorious of years. For the man-made rockets have served only to emphasize the greatness of the universe He created — and the inspiring hope and promise that He only can offer.

In every church — from the most humble to the largest edifice — the Glory of the first Easter will be told. And in every church the music of psalms and hymns will lift far beyond the reach of man's rockets as worshippers pay happy homage to the Lord, to the Christ who rose from the dead.

Friday will be Good Friday. Once again the story of the Garden of Gethsemane will be told; once again the story of the last Seven Words will be heard; once again man's mind will remind itself of the torturous Way of the Cross and its climax on the top of the Mount where Christ died on a Cross between two thieves.

Saturday will be Holy Saturday. The last day of Lent. A day of silence. A day when time itself seemed suspended. A day when a huge rock sealed the tomb in which He had been placed.

And when a sun on Easter morning first discovers the eastern skies, the observation of Easter will begin.

Local churches have been preparing their Easter programs for months. Choirs and soloists have been rehearsing. Organists have sought to master the great music — most of it written many hundreds of years ago — dedicated to the story of Easter.

Newton Leaders Endorse Herter For Governor

Executive Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., of Newton this week was endorsed for the Republican nomination for Governor by three leading Newton citizens.

They were School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman, John H. Rubenstein, Chamber of Commerce leader; and Abraham S. Karff, vice president of the New England regional Zionist district.

Freedman characterized Herter as the Republican who can win overwhelmingly in next November.

"The Republican party is fortunate in having two outstanding candidates who have presented themselves for consideration of their party," Freedman declared.

"I, personally, have given a great deal of thought to these candidates and, because I believe in them, I endorse them."

Governor Furcolo in Dilemma Over Port Authority Problem

Governor Furcolo apparently is in a dilemma over what to do about the Massachusetts Port Authority.

That seems to be the only plausible explanation for his delay in sending a message on the Port Authority to the Legislature.

Furcolo is being pressured vigorously by opposing factions on the Port Authority, and so far he obviously has been unable to work out a compromise satisfactory to both groups; nor is there any likelihood that he will be able to produce a plan acceptable to them.

What the situation basically simmers down to is that certain persons high in the councils of the Democratic party and close to Governor Furcolo don't want the Port Authority to get into operation.

They may talk about high bond interest rates, about increased toll charges on the facilities which would come under the jurisdiction of the Port Authority and an iron-clad guarantee for the construction of a second tunnel between Boston proper and East Boston.

But deep down underneath they're against the basic idea of the Port Authority, are opposed to allowing it to get into operation under any circumstances and conditions, and, most of all, vesting it with the power it would possess.

When the bill for the creation of the Port Authority was before the Legislature in 1956, they tried to block its passage, characterizing it as a "steal" and hurling other epithets at it. Now they're raising one objection after another against the measure.

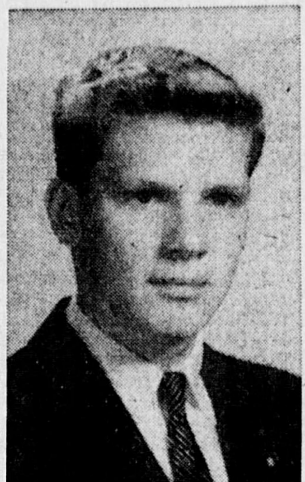

The persons who don't want the Port Authority to get into business not only are very close to Governor Furcolo, but they also wield tremendous influence with him.

They helped to accomplish both his nomination and his subsequent election in 1956, and quite understandably the Governor listens to them when they argue or counsel him about a message he is going to send to the Legislature.

It is unlikely that any bill to activate the Port Authority would have even a remote chance of passage.

Clean Sweep For Newton At State Drama Festival

Newton had its own Academy Award winners this week when two Newton High School youths, John S. Deming and Howard Gidez, won top acting honors in the Massachusetts Drama Festival competition at John Hancock Hall.

Added laurels came to this community in the contest when the dramatic offerings of two Newton schools, N.H.S. and St. Sebastian's, were judged the winners over scores of other Massachusetts schools competing in last weekend's drama festival.

Maybe Carry Ice Cream Sodas for Real Big Wins

The Newton High baseball team — first in high school ranks in this part of the nation to use a robot pitcher for practice — will also introduce a classy successor to the old water bucket this season.

Ready for heavy duty when the boys need a cooling sip of pure spring water will be a five-gallon, stainless steel container, mounted on wheels in the manner of a modern golf cart. It comes equipped with two bubblers.

Two members of the cast of St. Sebastian's play, Joseph Harrington of Belmont and Thomas Swan of Wellesley, also won places on the All-State Cast for their top-notch performances.

Newton High's presentation, scenes from Marc Connelly's all-Negro classic "Green Pastures", was directed by William Spink and Helen Ryan. Rev. Richard J. Powers was director for the English farce entitled "See How They Run" put on by the St. Sebastian boys.

Both plays will seek top honors in Montpelier, Vt., later in April when the New England Drama Festival will climax the series of competitions.

Deming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Deming of Carl street, Newton Highlands, is president of the Drama Club at N.H.S. He played the role of the Archangel Gabriel, while Gidez portrayed the double role of Sunday School teacher Mr. Deshee and the Archangel in the final scene.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gidez of 41 Woodland drive, Howard is president of the English Club at the high school. He had a leading role in the senior play this year, "Charlie's Aunt", and Deming won honors for his appearance in "Antigone" last year, which also was a finalist in the drama contest. St. Sebastian's 1957 offering was also a winner.

6 Coin Pitchers Obligated to Ante Up $30 in Fines

Coin-pitching may not be considered too seriously as a crime in other places but if it happens on Palm Sunday and in Newton it's something else again. At least Judge Donald E. Mayberry took no lenient view of the matter when six youths were arraigned before him charged with matching their skills in pitching coins on the Sabbath.

The court assessed $5 fines after the sextet offered nolo pleas. Five were charged with actual participation. A sixth, apparently a kibitzer, was charged with being present. Arresting officers were Patrolmen Francis J. Barry, William L. honey.

Whelan and William P. Ma. The pitchers were rounded up when the officers made a sudden appearance at Bacon and Washington street, Newton Corner, about 4:30 p.m. Palm Sunday afternoon.

City Workers Lose Close Fight For Raises Proposed by Mayor

Aldermen Trim Wage Hike After Overflow Hearing; Employees Move to Unite

Newtons municipal employees lost out by a narrow margin in their battle to obtain Aldermanic approval of the salary increases recommended for them by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.

Members of the city's police force came within a hairbreadth of gaining the $250-a-year wage hike the Mayor had proposed for them. A motion to restore the funds to the municipal budget to cover the suggested boost for the police was defeated by a tie 11-11 vote.

The Mayor's salary schedule for other municipal workers was rejected by a 12-10 vote.

As a result of the action taken by the Aldermen after an extraordinary and precedent-establishing public hearing, all permanent municipal workers will get a $100-a-year raise and those employed on an hourly basis will get a 4-cent-an-hour hike.

Alderman Joseph G. Bradley offered the motion to restore the full salary schedule recommended by Mayor Whitmore in the budget he submitted to the Board of Aldermen earlier in the year.

Those who voted in support of his motion were Aldermen Winslow C. Auryansen, Leo M. Cannon, Charles H. Cosgrove, Melvin J. Dangel, Theodore D. Mann, Paul S. Rich, William J. Robinson and Warren A. Sutherland.

The 10th vote was cast by Alderman Carleton P. Merrill who qualified it by explaining that he was against the $250 raise for police and firefighters.

Gap Between B&A and MTA Operations Baffles Commuter

What happens now? How do we get to work? How do we shop in Boston?

If you had the answer to those questions this week, you could win all kinds of popularity contests among those men and women who have been depending for many years on the transportation facilities offered by the Highlands Branch of the Boston & Albany.

No one had any definite answers. Everything was conjectural. And even though many of the regular commuters had anticipated the action by the Interstate Commerce Commission in removing the last obstacle to the road's abandonment of the branch line—they hadn't prepared themselves for the transportation chaos they appear to be facing.

The Highland branch handles about 3000 daily individual riders on the line. It is conceded that many months — possibly two years — will elapse before the MTA will be able to provide a substitute service.

Repairs must be made. New facilities must be installed. The entire system must be changed over from its basic character as a railroad to that of a rapid transit system. Only railroaders and rapid transit men realize the problems that are involved in that changeover.

Meanwhile, commuters are faced with their daily problems of getting to work.

Belmore Park Folk Lose Fight Against Garish Turnpike Sign

Too big! Too bright! Too flamboyant! Those are some of the objections you'll hear about a sign the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority is using to attract motorists to ride over its nice new road and to direct them to its nearest entrance. It's located at a point on Washington street near Belmore Park, Newton Lower Falls.

Folks say it's like transporting a piece of Broadway's nightly skyline and planting in the middle of a residential district. Or a bit of Coney Island.

They are very upset about it. However, it looks as though nothing can be done about it. The Pike Authority seems to like it very much.

It has turned a deaf ear to the pleas of residents. Some 75 of them signed a petition asking that the sign be made smaller — more in keeping with its surroundings. The Authority wasn't listening.

The petitioners declare the lights are garish and they shine into their homes at night — disturbing their sleep and rest.

Big G.O.P. Meeting Here Monday Night

Newton's big Republican event of the year is to be held next Monday night when Chairman Meade Alcorn of the GOP National Committee will be tendered a huge reception at the Newton High School.

Approximately 1200 Republicans are expected to attend the affair which will serve as a kickoff for the 1958 GOP campaign in the city. The reception is being sponsored by the Newton Republican Club and GOP organizations in 18 other cities and towns.

Senator Saltonstall and the Republican Congressman from Massachusetts have been invited to attend the event. Newton's Executive Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., Republican candidate for Governor, and other contenders for places on the GOP State ticket, will be among the speakers.

TV, Whiskey and Church Records Included in Loot

Burglars' tastes in loot differ pretty much these days.

Take the thief who broke into the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, 1441 Washington street, West Newton. He carried away — among other things — church records.

Then there was the burglar (or burglars) who broke into the home of Arthur Weber, at 21 Garden road, Newton, about the same time. Missing when an inventory was made were the following articles:

A sterling silver service for 12, $350; a television set, $159.50; eight suits, $600; eight cases of whiskey, $816; six bolts of imported cloth, $216, and costume jewelry, $200, for a total of $2351.50.

Arthur Marr of Malden Named City Comptroller

Arthur A. Marr, Jr., 40, controller of accounts for the city of Malden, has been nominated for appointment as comptroller of accounts for Newton.

The nomination, made by a special committee appointed by Wendell R. Bauckman of the Newton Board of Aldermen, was placed on the table for two weeks, following the usual procedure, when it came officially before the Board at a special meeting.

Marr is a graduate of Bentley School of Accounting, Northeastern University and attended Northeastern University.

Local Officials Protest Extension Of Toll Road

Representative George E. Rawson and others from Newton urged favorable action on a bill which would stop the Toll Road at Route 128 and substitute the building of a freeway along the Charles River to Boston, at a hearing before the Joint Legislative Committee on Highways and Motor Vehicles at the State House on Tuesday.

Opposition to the bill was heard from Waltham spokesmen who said a freeway along the Charles River connecting the Toll Road and Boston "would cut through the heart of Waltham's industrial and residential area and cost the city taxpayers huge sums in lost taxes."

Senator Charles W. Olson, House Chairman Representative Harold C. Nagle, and Representative Rico Matera of the committee, all reminded Representative Rawson that the matter had been threshed out last year when the Legislature passed laws giving the Toll Road Authority the right to continue the toll road through Newton and other communities to Boston. Representative Rawson said, "I realize that but we in Newton do not want the Toll Road to pass through Newton and destroy the community and we are trying to stop it."

Jaycees Sponsor Campaign For 'Big Brother' Members

"Big Brother Week" in Newton will be held from April 7 through April 13 under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. In observance of this, a proclamation has been issued by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.

"There is only one answer to the Big Brother Association now being formed in Newton," said Mayor Whitmore. "That answer is manpower. All that is needed are men willing to give four or five hours a week so that some boy may receive help and guidance from a Big Brother he so desperately needs at this crucial time in his life."

Joining in the campaign for members in the Big Brother Association are the service clubs and the Council of Churches throughout their many denominations.

Working on the Jaycees committee for this project are Robert Shaw, chairman, and David I. Herwitz and Robert H. Stackhouse. President Albert C. Horton, of the Jaycees, has heartily endorsed the campaign.

The Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce invites all men interested in the Big Brother movement to make application —JAYCEES CAMPAIGN—

Hammer Floating In A Bowl Gets TV Off to Good Start

If absorbed attention is the criterion, the use of TV to teach science is off to a wonderful start—at least among the sixth-graders at the Clafin School, Newton.

Along with other sixth-grade pupils in 49 communities in Massachusetts, the Clafin School pupils buckled right down to study via TV screens in the WGBH-TV broadcasting area.

No Mickey Mouse defied the laws of gravity to entertain the young Newton scientists of the future. No cows jumped over the moon in graceful Disney leaps. There was no music; no commercials.

But a hammerhead—a real steel hammerhead floated in a dish. In case you adults don't know it, hammerheads will do that if the liquid in the dish is heavier than the hammerhead. And the dish in which the piece of metal floated was mercury.

Did the lesson go home. It did. Not only among the youngsters in the classroom at Clafin School, taking time out from household duties at home were mothers who wanted to be in on the inauguration of TV education.

Many of them were acquiring with their offspring the knowledge about the hammerhead. Somehow they had missed that exposition of scientific fact back in their own school days.

It either wasn't on their agenda or they were absent that day.

The first 30 minutes of the hour-long inaugural program was a bit on the heavy side. For some reason or other Roy Zabierek's class at Clafin School wasn't really prepared for the program which concerned itself with rather heavy concepts and theories.

Those are rather necessary, of course, but the youngsters didn't find them half as interesting as the last 30 minutes of the TV class.

That's when they got the live experiments.

They were interesting — and the interest wasn't confined to the mothers at home. The sixth-graders ate the experiments up.

When it was all over, the inauguration was declared a success.

Only a few objections were heard. One was the inability of the screen to answer a hand raised with a question to ask.

If you watched the first show, you gathered the feeling that somehow or other TV education will get around even that.

It was wonderful, though. Not a single commercial.

No Dip Reported in Unemployment Here Last Month

Employment figures for Newton remained unchanged during the first half of March, according to the total of unemployment claims listed with the State Division of Employment Security.

Not only was there no improvement over the February picture but March claims remained about double those for a comparative period last year.

The Newton office of the State division reported 1848 men and women were receiving unemployment compensation and that 204 persons made initial claims for unemployment compensation, making a total of 2052 separate claims handled by the office.

The figures were for the week ending March 22. During the previous week 1858 were receiving checks, and 188 filed initial claims.

Glory of Easter—

All local shopping centers reported lively sales this week in the Easter finery which contribute to the "Easter Parade"—that dressed-up display open limited to the larger cathedrals and to the Blue Book.

Now every city knows its own parade and while the major cities find churchmen deploring the note of hippodroming which has crept in to the "big time" Easter parades the churches here find their flocks clinging to the old-fashioned ideas — "people want to look nice for Easter."

There'll be dignity in the Easter parades hereabouts — dignity, taste and style.

Last minute shoppers who forgot this or that for their costumes will find the stocks of the local stores ready and anxious to serve them.

Easter calls for feasting, too. The young people are home from prep schools and colleges. Many families will be staging their first reunions since Christmas.

Local markets will be ready to meet every demand—whether the main piece de resistance calls for the traditional ham, turkey, roast beef or lamb.

DA To Speak At Parent-Teacher Ass'n. Meeting

James L. O'Dea, Jr., District Attorney for Middlesex County, will speak at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting in the Franklin School on Tuesday, April 8, at 8 p.m. Attorney O'Dea will present a mock trial with the assistance of several of the association members, and he will also say a few words about the office of District Attorney.

Henry Gardner will introduce Attorney O'Dea, who, since his election in 1956, has inaugurated many new procedures, particularly in the handling of juvenile problems. Mr. O'Dea graduated magna cum laude, from Notre Dame in 1943, from Harvard Law School in 1948, and served in the U.S. Marine Corps, where he was wounded in action at Iwo Jima. He has engaged in the practice of law in Lowell and was elected to the Massachusetts Legislature in 1949. The Boston Chamber of Commerce selected him as one of the nine "Outstanding Young Men in 1957".

A short business meeting, conducted by Bernard Ristuccia, will precede the guest speaker. The program will close with refreshments served by Mrs. Carl Rayburg and Mrs. Francis Maloney.

The Franklin School P.T.A. welcomes any interested visitors who wish to hear District Attorney speak.

Is Named To Important Infantry Post

A 49-year old Newton man recently was appointed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower as Assistant Division Commander of the 94th Infantry Division, U. S. A. R., New England's largest Reserve unit.

Brigadier General Mical J. Galvin, of 107 Hobart road, this becomes one of the youngest Generals in the United States Army to hold such a position. The 94th Division is also one of the largest Reserve units in the country.

General Galvin's military career began in 1926, when he enlisted in the Army Reserve as a private. He made a distinguished record for himself as he rose through the ranks to his present title.

During World War II, while serving with General Patton's Third Army Tank Corps, General Galvin was awarded some 20 medals and citations for outstanding heroism.

Among these many awards were the Silver Star, the Bronze Star (with clusters) the Legion of Merit, Croix de Guerre (with clusters), and the Purple Heart to mention just a few.

A prominent Boston attorney, General Galvin was graduated from Northeastern's School of Law and Finance and was an honor graduate of the Commanding General Staff School.

The General is a former Under Secretary of Labor, having served during the Truman administration in that post.

A few of these activities include chairman of the Community Fund, Chairman of the Public Employee Division and a member of many charitable institution boards throughout the state.

Named Treasurer Of Newton 1958 Cancer Crusade

William H. Rice of 21 Herrick road, Newton Centre, has been named treasurer for Newton in the 1958 Cancer Crusade which will be conducted during April.

Mrs. Rice has served as Cancer Crusade Treasurer in Newton for five years. He is chairman of the board of the Newton Savings Bank, and is president of the Newton Cemetery Company. He is also a trustee of the Andover Newton Theological School and clerk for the Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People.

He is a member of the First Church in Newton, and the Brae Burn Country Club.

wisdom last year," said Representative Matera. "was thinking of the whole state and not just Newton, Wellesley and Weston. Do you want to abrogate the law already on the books and substitute your wisdom for the wisdom of the Legislature, acting for all the people?"

The Newton legislator said it wasn't a matter of his wisdom but the fact that Newton felt that the Toll Road was a bad thing. He added that he Authority "has the money to build the road because they are making just about enough money to pay their interest." When this was questioned he said, "I have seen the figures."

Several members of the committee spoke of pending action to expand and accelerate road programs and expressed the view that there would be no difficulty in raising money to enable the Toll Road to be extended through to Boston.

Justin T. Horan, representing the Newton Chamber of Commerce, said "Newton should have something to say about whether the Toll Road will cut through its territory." Representative Matera reminded him that the whole issue was discussed thoroughly last year in the Gardner Auditorium before the law extending the Toll Road to Boston was passed.

"The mayor, members of the Chamber of Commerce, and a lot of other people from Newton attended that hearing," remarked Representative Matera.

Richard E. Lee of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority recorded the Authority as opposed to the bill. Similar action was taken by City Councilor Donald S. Manning of Waltham.

Middlesex Petition For Fare Boosts Heard by D.P.U.

Hearing opened on the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company petition for fare increases before Roy C. Papalia of the State Public Utilities Commission.

The transportation firm is seeking an increase of 20 to 25 cents for a single fare and a hike in its price of tokens from five rides for 90 cents to four rides for 90 cents.

In the town-to-town fare schedule the existing fare charges a flat 20 cents from the center of one town to the center of the next. The new system would establish a zone-and-a-half ride for 35 cents, which takes the rider from the center of one town to any destination in the next.

Last year, 8,850,000 persons used the transportation system. Of these only 12,000 were in the town-to-town category which is the new zone-and-a-half system.

Principal witness for the transportation company was CPA John J. Harrington of Boston and Waltham. Also testifying was Treasurer Thomas E. McDonough of the M. & B.

Areas which would be affected by the hike include Newton, Waltham, Waverly, Concord, Lexington, Billerica, Arlington and others.

Local MDC Men Find Fault With Boss' Proposal

Associated Metropolitan District Commissioners Milton Cook and David J. Mintz, both Newton residents, appeared before a legislative committee to oppose their chief, MDC Chairman Charles W. Greenough, on a bill which would give the chairman the right to hire or fire employees of the commission.

The Newton commissioners declared the bill would give the chairman virtual czaristic powers. Greenough claimed the bill was word-for-word the language of a law which now gives the State Public Works Commissioner exactly the same power.

Greenough argued that the measure, if adopted by the Legislature and signed by the Governor, would permit more effective operation of the MDC.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS . . . A bulletin of happy tidings was sent to the homerooms recently. On March 26 and April 2, the seniors did not have to come to school until 10:20. The reason for this was that tests were being given to the sophomores and juniors on these dates. These tests were concerned with scholastic ability and lasted through the home-room period until the end of E-Block, so all students were permitted to miss their first period Wednesday class. Student opinion tests on Newton Plan were also given at these times.

A petition is circulating around Newton High at present. If enough students sign the bill, additional student parking areas are foreseen. The project is under the direction of a Legislative Committee, headed by Bruce Swerling.

JOTS AND DASHES . . . Jerry Burg has been selected as photographer editor for the 1958 Newtonian. Along with the other Newtonian editors, he is searching among the student body for those particularly interested in helping produce this publication.

THE OUT-DOOR TYPE . . . Dominating the after-school sports for the girls this winter were bowling, fencing, and basketball. Bowling was held ever Monday and Wednesday at the Newton Corner Garden City Bowladrome. The girls bowled to get a high score for the team and to improve their individual records. No leagues were formed and bowling is now held on Thursday afternoons. Several girls practiced fencing Tuesday and Thursday afternoons in the gym, either in the intermediate or beginner group. The fencers are now meeting after school on Tuesdays.

Basketball, the perennial favorite, showed a good record for this year. Both the Varsity and Junior Varsity girls' teams won all but one game. An outstanding feature has been added to the after-school sports program for the rest of this year and next year. Senior girls who wish to learn to swim will have the opportunity to do so every Monday afternoon from 3 until 4 o'clock at the Sydney Hill Country Club.

This winter the boys' gym department sponsored badminton at the Clafin School every Wednesday, a bowling league with 28 teams (that is still in session) on Thursdays at Newton Corner, and 13 teams in two basketball leagues. In the Franklin Basketball League, the "Daymits," headed by Bill Wallace and Bill Sellers placed first, and the "Bullets," who do not have any captains, were second. A playoff between Ernie Glickman and Larry Babbitt's "Ters" and the "Comets," led by Jim Bachman and Norm Witty was held at the high school to determine the winner of the Beethoven League competition.

An indoor track meet was held for the boys and in the sophomore division, Arnold Lasker, Stan Liner, and Allan Levi-tan placed first, second and third in the 25-yard dash. Ed Flowers, Arnold Lasker, and Marc Slotnick came in in that order in the 100 yard. The three winners of the 300-yard were Ed Flowers, Arnold Lasker, and Marc Slotnick. Cox, Castle, Cochran, Lasker, and Liner placed in that order in the high jump. The first three in the shot-put were Flowers, Abramson, and Liner, respectively.

At a recent girls' sports banquet, many letters were given to girls who excelled in various sports this year. Carol Berberian, Flora Butterfield, Janice Capello, Caryl Crosby, Pat Greene, Ann Jarrell, Brenda Mann, Joan Myer, Barbara Parkhurst, Doris Thurston, Helen Van Kuesen, Priscilla Watts, and Andrea Wragg received recognition for their participation on the junior varsity hockey team.

Letter for varsity hockey were presented to Betty Andersen, Elna Anderson, Nancy Doherty, Marjorie Gilmar, Debby Greene, Blanche Feeley, Karen Franseen, Beth Ham, Pat Hampe, Judy Moreau, Natalie Smith, Priscilla Thurston and to the team's manager, Virginia Barnes and Sylvia Keller.

THE MARQUEE . . . After very successful try-outs were held for the Drama Club's presentation of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," the following veterans of Newton High Drama were selected for the cast: John Kattwinkle, Ed Needell, Jim Draper, Judy Simone, Cathy Harper, Marilyn Klein, Emily MacMillan and Sandi Douglas. The play will be presented in mid-April.

Students in the "Green Pastures" cast was dismissed from school at 10:00 a.m. last Friday, as their rehearsal time in the John Hancock Hall was scheduled for 11:15 a.m. Each play was allowed exactly 45 minutes to rehearse and was timed to the minute. Newton High's production was presented first on Friday evening. Twelve other plays followed it on Friday night and Saturday afternoon. The students found the professional facilities and atmosphere very pleasant and helpful. Newton High's competent stage crew was chosen to work behind the scenes for all the plays. Each school submitted drama presentations for display.

The modern dancers in the school have been very active lately. Approximately 100 junior high school students enjoyed a class conducted by Barbara Fleischer, Penny Axelrod, Robin March, Ellen Kahn, Bunny Warshaver, and Betsy Cohen, members of the Performers' Group at the high school. All the members of the Performers danced to "Stormy Weather" which they choreographed themselves. Barbara Fleischer and Robin March danced to a song from "The King and I" and Betsy Cohen, and her sister, Sue, from Bigelow Junior High, interpreted "The Blue-Tail Fly." The workshop group also performed and refreshments were served.

The Orchestra members traveled to Dana Hall with other neighboring schools to view a class conducted by teachers from all the different schools. Refreshments were served and the girls thought it was a very good experience seeing how the different dance departments are run.

With the incoming spring, rehearsals and tryouts for next year's drum majorettes are being held. Sophomore and junior girls are allowed to contend.

AFTER-CLASS . . . In double debate with Boston Latin School, Ken Novack, Bob Baker and Gordon Nelson represented Newton at one time; and Bill Goldfarb, Joel Meshorer and Mark Raiman participated later; Alternates were Ken Malin and Steve Kaufman. Fred Jarrett and Carol Chandler were the chairmen of the afternoon.

On March 27, the debating team was represented by Walter Angoff and Fred Jarrett in a meet against the Winsor School for Girls.

At the last meeting of the Spanish Club, a South American girl who has been a student at Newton High since the fall, showed slides of her native country. After this, South American coins were displayed and refreshments were served.

Political Overtones

during the present legislative session except that Governor Furcolo knows that the Port Authority will be an issue in next fall's gubernatorial campaign.

If Furcolo allows the Port Authority to sit dormant and shackled, unable to do anything, the Republican candidate for Governor next autumn will blast him from the platforms up and down the State for keeping an agency which might have added to the prosperity and well-being of the Commonwealth.

The Port Authority can provide the political, ammunition for one more telling argument against Furcolo in a campaign which at this stage does not loom as an easy one for him. It furnishes the grounds for one more claim that Furcolo's has been a do-nothing administration.

If Governor Furcolo were disposed to follow the recommendations of the Port Authority members as to the steps which should be taken to allow them to float their bonds, he could have written his message in half an hour and sent it to the Legislature last week.

He obviously is reluctant to do that. The fact is he would be placed in an awkward political position if he did so. Last year the Legislature passed the bill which the Port Authority members wanted enacted into law, and Furcolo vetoed it when it reached his desk.

The Governor scarcely can afford to submit even in substance the same measure which he blocked last year. That would be a tacit admission that he made a mistake in 1957, and he would leave himself open to the charge of unnecessarily keeping the Port Authority inactive for almost a year.

Yet the Governor is being pressed energetically by business and civic leaders to sponsor legislation which would enable the Port Authority to get in business and do the things it was supposed to do when the law was passed calling for its creation.

Whether Governor Furcolo can do that without sponsoring substantially the same bill he killed a year ago, is uncertain.

Mr. Furcolo thus is confronted with two difficult problems.

1. He must find some face-saving device for himself so that he can in effect justify doing this year what he refused to do last year.

2. He must either mollify his lieutenants, who don't want the Port Authority activated, or brush aside their objections for the sake of his own political self-preservation.

The alternative would be to allow the Port Authority to remain inactive and out of business and risk whatever political consequences might occur, if any.

In fairness, it might be said that the Port Authority members haven't done too masterful a job in selling their story to the people of Massachusetts.

They've left it to the newspapers and to business, civic and taxpayer groups to fight their battle for them, and they have left doubts in the minds of many people as to just what the Port Authority would and wouldn't do if it does get into business.

After Governor Furcolo concluded an address before the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers the other day, he was accused of not knowing the facts about the Port Authority, and Chairman Ephraim Brest of the Authority subsequently issued a statement asserting that the members of his agency had been trying for nearly a year to sit down with the Governor.

It doesn't seem that the inability of the Authority members to arrange a meeting with the Governor should have prevented them from letting the facts be known—not only to Mr. Furcolo but to all the people of Massachusetts.

Herter Nomination for Governor Seen By Republicans in Capital

When the writer recently visited Washington, he found that a majority of the Massachusetts public figures there, both Republicans and Democrats, expect that Christian A. Herter, Jr., will be the GOP candidate for Governor in next November's election and that George Fingold will seek a fourth term as Attorney General.

They believe that is why Joseph Ford of Quincy bowed out as a candidate for Attorney General and is now aiming for a seat in the Executive Council. Herter, it is felt, would not be interested in running for Attorney General.

Former State Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe was mentioned by Bay Staters on Capitol Hill as a possible choice for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

Opinion was voiced that Volpe would like the endorsement for Governor but that he waited too long and the door is now closed to him.

But because political strategy would dictate that the Bay State GOP have a person of Italian descent somewhere on its State ticket, Massachusetts Republicans in the capital expressed the conviction that Volpe may be offered second place on the slate.

So far the influential Bay State Republicans now serving in Congress and in other prominent places in the national government haven't taken much part in the fight for the gubernatorial endorsement. When they do, most of them from all indications will give their support to Herter.

While a Governor ordinarily is the leader of his party in his home State, it is interesting to note that Massachusetts Democrats in Washington consider that Senator John F. Kennedy has assumed the role of the top Democratic chieftain in the Bay State, donning the mantle worn a few years ago by Paul A. Dever.

That is understandable since Kennedy not only is regarded as a favorite to achieve reelection next November but also a good bet to attain the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1960 and perhaps even the Presidency itself.

It's Easter, time of rejoicing, of hope and faith renewed, when in song and story, the glorious Easter message is heard again. May it bring to you gladness of heart and exaltation of spirit.

Under those circumstances it would be surprising if Kennedy were not rated as the Bay State's most influential Democratic figure.

Popular, hard-working Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., is rated as the strongest candidate the Democrats could put up for the Governorship in 1960, but there is some doubt in the minds of observers on Capitol Hill whether O'Neill, who is making an excellent record for himself in Congress, would be interested in abandoning his career there to seek the office of Governor and all the headaches which go with it.

Also tabbed as potential gubernatorial prospects in 1960 are Suffolk District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne and Congressman Torbert H. Macdonald.

On Tax Escalator

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Is Newton heading for higher taxes without a leash and a lock provided by the taxpayers? If we are to meet on a great battlefield to halt spiraling taxes, let it begin here, with the Mayor and Board of Aldermen in the front line.

First, I want to congratulate Alderman Wood and Alderman Cannon for the stand they have taken on specific items.

I am well aware of M.T.A. assessments down through the years. Also what the State distributions mean to the cities and towns which are always unpredictable. Both together will boost the tax rate about $2.00. Then we come to the higher school costs which will boost our tax rate about $3.60, because total school expenditures will be approximately a million dollars higher than 1957. You can pin point the squeeze right there and the greatest headache—"PASS THE ASPIRINS"—plural. The school budget up 14.1 per cent over what was spent last year. The municipal budget 8.7 per cent.

NOW WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

I am aware of the fact that on a technical basis, His Honor, Mayor Whitmore and the Board of Aldermen have no authority to curb school expenditures other than for capital improvements; but the fact remains that it is taxable punishment to the taxpayers, testing whether that taxpayer, or any other taxpayer can long endure the ever increasing demands. The time is fast approaching to circumvent the curbs; or Newton will be heading for the last roundup like many cities and towns who are now badly afflicted with "TAXITIS" with no hope for recovery unless our elected public servants apply microscopic scrutiny on every department item without political chicanery.

Pistol packin' decisions must be made to keep us out of the whirlpool to higher taxes. . . Surely, we are not on the road to "Squandermania." Surely, we are not going to capitulate to the demands of every department head to grant them increased funds year after year.

It is time to heed what the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers have said, as well as other units. . . Disaster will come if you don't hold the line and call a HALT.

Is the salvation for lower taxes to be found in a proper SALES TAX? I am confident it is. Beware of the anti-sales tax candidates. They are sailing on the River of Regret.

Mobilization by the taxpayers to illuminate the lamp posts and get an inside view of conditions to prevent us getting deeper in the heart of taxes appears to be on the calendar.

Lee Carver Kitson,

Oak Hill Park

Thanks from Heart Fund

Dear Sir:

I am happy to take this opportunity to express my gratitude, and that of the officers and members of the Massachusetts Heart Association, for your assistance in the 1958 Heart Fund campaign.

Although full returns will not be in for some time, as nearly as we can estimate now, the 1958 Fund should equal or exceed last year's record total of more than $1,000,000.

The campaign's success will make possible broadened programs of research, education and community services by the Association in its attack upon cardiovascular disease.

Your part in this wonderful effort was an important one. You have made a solid contribution toward the health and well-being of our people.

Most sincerely,

Edward F. Bland, M.D.,

President, Massachusetts Heart Association.

Praises Police Dept.

EDITOR, NEWTON GRAPHIC

The Newton Police Department earned public recognition by their immediate response to an emergency call in the middle of the night.

Within minutes the ambulance had the patient on the way to the hospital. I am indebted to them for their prompt and willing help.

The mark of a top outfit is performance. Measured against this hard yardstick the Newton Police rate second to none.

Senior Citizens Plight

Newton Graphic,

Dear Editor:

It is clear to me that the Newton Graphic is aware of the welfare of the citizens of our community, and therefore taking the opportunity to voice my opinion on a subject that is very vital to every family. It involves the handicapped and the senior citizens as I see it.

The facts that we face are undeniably that we live in a machine age and in a competitive society highly industrialized. This being true many of our citizens, through no fault of their own, cannot be part of our complex system with its speed-up requirements. These citizens need a place under the sun regardless of it is the duty of our more capable citizens to supply that place for the less fortunate.

I think that it can be accomplished in our time. My proposition is simple. A great service to each community could be provided by the Church and Synagogue for both the handicapped and our senior citizens who are retired or half-retired by inaugurating Sheltered Workshops. There are hundreds of patients released from hospitals yearly without any prospect for work. They are unable to meet competition in the trades or professions previously engaged in, being discarded from the work force of our communities.

In contrast we have the retired or half-retired senior citizens who have a little time to spare volunteering their knowledge and skills in the Sheltered Workshop. Surely some

Deadline for Dog Licenses Gone By

Monday was the deadline for some 5000 dog owners to get licenses for their pets in Newton. City Clerk Monte G. Basbas sent out notices to those who had a dog licensed a year ago, together with a special return envelope for the necessary information so that the license applications would be sent to City Hall by mail.

The law requires that all dogs three months old or over must be licensed. An extra penalty is assessed for damage caused by an unlicensed dog.

Ends Boot Training

Alan J. Achione, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Achione of 66 Clinton street, Newton, was graduated recently at the Naval Training Centre in Great Lakes, Ill. Graduation exercises marked the end of nine weeks of "boot camp."

Church or Synagogue has space available which could be utilized for this noble purpose without an overhead expense involved. In many instances articles made up could be sold to enable some remuneration to the handicapped while skills are being taught. They need that ONE, FIRST CHANCE.

I would like to read letters in the Newton Graphic in reference to Sheltered Workshops. With more interest in this subject one might be organized in our community by next fall. This would give many a NEW LEASE ON LIFE!

The reservoir of untapped skills of our senior citizens lie dormant which could be utilized advantageously. We are all aware that our senior citizens wish to be important and feel needed. Therefore it is logical to say that both parties would be greatly benefited and their confidence in their own worth restored.

Yes, we are our brother's keeper! We are all responsible to all for all! The question is not WILL IT EVER COME TO PASS? BUT WHEN WILL IT COME TO PASS?

The handicapped can only be understood by placing ourselves in their position.

Report of 3-Day Public Hearing Missing in ICC OK

The report of Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner H. J. Blond, who conducted a three-day hearing in Boston on the petition of the Boston & Albany to drop the Highland branch is missing. The hearings required the appearance of a number of Newton officials and voluminous testimony was taken.

Blond made no recommendation for or against the railroad's petition. According to word in Washington, Blond's report was not included in the ICC's formal okay of the B. & A. petition because the commission felt that public interest required expeditions action by the ICC.

I urge all Republicans to support the candidacy of Councillor Herter because he is the man who can and will win in November of 1958," he asserted.

In his endorsement of Herter, Rubenstein said: "Christian A. Herter, Jr., is my unqualified choice for the Republican nomination for Governor of Massachusetts.

"Rarely do the Republicans of this State have an opportunity to support a devoted public servant with such superb qualifications. I believe thinking Republicans throughout Massachusetts need a sincere, vigorous leader. All of the people of the Commonwealth deserve Christian A. Herter, Jr., as Governor."

Baffles Riders—

The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway will attempt to take up some of the burden. Car pools on a bigger scale than was attempted even during the war and gasoline rationing are being planned.

The gap between the actual abandonment by the B. & A. and the start of MTA operations may run between 18 months and two years. Whether the men and women who find other means of transport in that long stretch and refuse to accept the MTA when it finally gets operating was a poser none of the experts were prepared to answer.

"We'll do whatever is required for the year and a half or two years," until the MTA takes over, President John H. Walsh of the Middlesex and Boston promised.

General Manager Edward Dana of the MTA offered no detailed suggestions concerning the interregnum period and its effect on commuters.

This week officials of the Middlesex & Boston conferred with B. & A. officials concerning the hole their facility will attempt to play. Whether they can supply satisfactory bus service to the needed extent remained part of the puzzle, as far potential patrons were concerned.

Whatever the solution may be it was apparent that its basic features haven't crystallized yet. Commuters who didn't complain too much about late trains, service breakdowns in the last were agreed on only one thing — "The worst is yet to come."

Pond, vice-president; Charles P. Harris, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles P. Harris, recording secretary; and eighteen others present.

Rawson Would Curb "Monkey" Out-Boarders

Representative George E. Rawson of Newton bluntly told the legislative committee on public safety at the State House: "I'm trying to get at the monkeys who are operating small boats recklessly."

Rawson was seeking favorable action on a bill which would impose a fine of $10 to $50 for the operation of a motor boat in such a way as to endanger property. He complains the present law doesn't go far enough. It merely protects the lives and personal safety of individuals.

Students Will Take Part In Seder Service

A varied program involving teachers and students of Temple Shalom of Newton Religious School is planned as the Passover festival nears. All students will participate in model seders led by Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom.

Grades 1 through 3 will have their seder Saturday morning, March 29. The P.T.A., under the direction of Mrs. Esther Warshawer, will prepare the tables with the traditional Passover plates, and Mrs. Mildred Axelrod and Mrs. Morris Bleiwas will conduct musical selections from the Haggadah. The 8th, 9th, and 10th grades will join in a Passover assembly later the same morning. The Junior Choir, led by Mr. Richard Reynolds, will chant the Four Questions.

On Sunday, March 30, Grades 4 through 7 will hold a seder service. The following children will participate: Robert Berzin, Ann Brilliant, Jane Covich, Robert Darman, Jill Finsen, Debbie Glickman, Betsy Grossman, Marie Gulden, Richard Horowitz, Debby Karff, Judy Levin, Leslie Rosoff, Ronald Scotch, Robert Shaw, John Strumwasser, and Elizabeth Wantuck.

A family Passover service will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, April 5, and Friday evening April 11.

Saturday, Mar. 22, the second Teachers' Institute of the year was held by the faculty of Temple Shalom of Newton Religious School. Mrs. Libbie Braverman, author and consultant on Jewish education, visited the teachers during their Saturday morning classes. After a luncheon, served by the P.T.A. under the direction of Mrs. Manuel Andelman, Rabbi Murray I. Rothman introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Braverman. During the question period, Mrs. Braverman helped to evaluate the teaching situation at the school. The Institute was conducted by Mr. Bernard Shulman, religious school director.

Better Garbage Collection Looms In New Contract

Newton will get better garbage collection service beginning in July.

An increase in the number of routes followed in collections will be made at the expiration of the present contract. Under a new contract to be offered for bid this month 14 trucks will be employed, instead of the present nine. In addition there will be two pick-up trucks held for emergency calls instead of one as under the present contract.

The present three-year contract is held by John A. Janse.

Walter Taylor To Head Committee

The American Association of Junior Colleges has appointed Walter M. Taylor, director of Newton Junior College, to its Committee on Instruction.

The Committee on Instruction is concerned with high standards of classroom performance, the type of instructor desired at the junior college level, attention to the individual student, and methods of increasing class size without loss in quality of instruction.

Kenneth P. White, Dean of Men at Newton, represented the college at the meeting, held in Flint, Michigan.

Turnpike Sign—

The Authority didn't say so but its silence could be interpreted as saying — "Lower your shades."

Baffled by the Authority the objecting group, led by Philip D. Carey of 15 Belmore park, took the matter up with the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Association. The Association, through its president, Robert E. McCourt, conferred with Representative Irene H. Thresher.

She went to the Authority with protest. No go.

Finally it looked as though the residents would be obliged to play their ace in the hole — an appeal to the Outdoor Advertising Commission.

They figured that if any private concern tried to advertise its wares in such a fashion the Outdoor Advertising Commission would sit upon them — but good.

Accordingly the ace was played. It was no good.

The Outdoor Advertising Commission explained it had no authority in the matter because the sign was owned and operated by a public agency. If it happened to be some brewing company selling beer or a bra manufacturer extolling the virtues of its products — maybe the residents could get some action.

As the matter stands now, it looks as though the Belmore Park folks will have to grin and bear it — and pull the shades all the way down at night.

Ex-Convicts Held In Market Holdup

John R. Dempsey, 39, of High street, Everett, was held in $10,000 double surety in Newton District Court by Judge Donald E. Mayberry after he pleaded not guilty to participation in the robbery of DiPasquale's Market, 229 Watertown street, Newton.

Police told the court that Ivan W. Brown, 28, of Newton, had admitted his alleged role in the holdup.

Both men, according to police, are ex-convicts. Brown, police said, was released from Walpole a month ago.

Police charged that Brown held up Peter DiPasquale in the market and escaped with $500 in a taxi-cab which Dempsey had engaged as a getaway car. The pair, police further claimed, drove to Watertown square, where they dismissed the cab after paying the fare.

Election Study Committee Holds Hearing Tuesday

The bi-partisan committee selected by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., to study Newton's election laws will hold a public hearing in the Aldermanic chambers at Newton City Hall at 8 p.m. next Tuesday. Representative George E. Rawson will be chairman.

The committee is considering the possibility of establishing an election commission in Newton's city government. Elections are now administered by the city clerk's office.

Members of the committee, in addition to Representative Rawson, include Ernest G. Angvine, Lawrence E. Cooke, Joshua A. Guberman, Mrs. George Elbaum and Mrs. Jane Segal.

The members wish to hear from the general public on the matter and are hoping for a good turnout Tuesday. They have already conferred with the board of registrars and the chairman of the Democratic and Republican City Committees, representatives of the Board of Aldermen, the Newton Civic Association, the Newton Taxpayers Association, the League of Women Voters and the ADA.

Committee Says "No" to Newton Full Time Court

An adverse report of the joint Legislative Committee on Public Service made favorable action by the Legislature on a bill, which would make Newton District Court a full-time court, highly improbable, according to State House observers.

The committee brushed aside the arguments of Newton's five legislators who pointed out that the Newton Court handled more civil business than 27 other courts which have been placed on a full-time basis.

"Hippety, Hoppety... Happy Easter Day"... Let's start right off, by reminding you to write Atwood's Camera Shop down on your shopping list... It will be a wonderful Easter and you will want plenty of film to record every precious minute of it, from the scramble for baskets filled with bright colored eggs... to the children all scrubbed and shiny in their new finery, stealing the show at the parade... Yes, children and Easter just naturally go together to make wonderful pictures for the family album, or to share with loved ones far away... and then, hurry your films back to Atwood's for fast, efficient service, with a smile...

Get in on the treasure hunt for values at the Kidtrude Center in Newton Centre... Every dollar will stretch further during these special "lucky buck" days, in juvenile furniture department... A full 10% discount on every purchase, including the handsome vinyl play yard, or the adorable padded hamper sets, that are in the window... and by the way that play pen has nylon mesh sides and lightweight aluminum frame work... That's Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, so make your "bucks lucky" on "lucky buck" days.

"In your Easter Bonnet, with all the frills upon it"... Shopping for a spring

PLAYING PROMINENT ROLES in the Cancer Crusade is to be conducted in Newton this month are, left to right, E. Tyler Parkhurst, chairman; John Balkus, chairman of clubs and organizations; Wilfred Chagnon, advance gifts; Frank Battles, industry and business; Mrs. John H. Hanks, house-to-house drive; Police Chief Philip Purcell, co-chairman, and William H. Rice treasurer.

hat should be an exciting adventure at Gertrude's Hat Shop in Newtonville... You see they feature hand made hats, and made to order hats in addition to the "Hat Bar Specials" so that there is a tremendous selection in a wide price range for you to choose from... Every style and color imaginable... and while you are visiting Gertrude's, see the nice assortment of gloves and bags also...

"You'll be the grandest lady in the Easter parade"... I couldn't begin to tell you about all the lovely spring dresses at the Frances Shop, in bouffant, chemise or sheath. The fabrics range from the pure silk shantung to the ever ready cotton that no longer rates as a kitchen fabric... but nowadays comes dressed up party pretty for the fanciest occasion... For the traditional, here is a combination that will be "on the go", right through the summer... A navy crease-resistant suit in boxy jacket and straight skirt... The skirt will do a double take, and team up with a permanent pleated chalky white skirt for a nautical, provocative summer outfit... Ooooooh, so smart...

There'll be jelly beans for Johnny, colored eggs for Sister Sue"... and if the Easter bunny shops at the B. S. Edward Store in West Newton there will be just about anything you need for Easter... Baskets all filled with goodies and shiny in cellophane... or unfilled with candy and trimmings to "fix it yourself"... House plants for Mummy, socks, silk stockings, flowered head bands... even the kitchen wear for preparing that Easter Ham Dinner... The B. S. Edward Store has everything..."

"Though April Showers, may come your way" chances are that they will be bridal showers, and you will be shopping for gifts... Shopping at Allets, is like strolling down Fifth Ave... You never saw a more delightful array of gifts in china, glass, ceramics and novelties... For an elegant gift what could be more impressive than the Arzberg Dinner China and for a tiny remembrance how charming, the tiny miniature oil paintings by Patricia Lowry... You know her colorful scenes that are as New England as the surf pounding at the sea wall by the Light-house or the quiet countryside by the Covered Bridge... Gifts that will please from Allets...

An Easter Basket with a real thrill for your young hero, will have a brand new baseball tucked in among the Easter Eggs... And when it comes to baseballs or baseball equipment, you will just naturally think of Newton Sports Center... and pass the word along to your local team managers that he or any authorized representative will be allowed "team prices" when buying for the team...

As the song goes, "Hippety, Hoppety... Happy Easter Day"... Yes... Happy Easter, everybody.

Urges Continued Purchase Of Israel Bonds

Continued participation by New England Jewry in the purchase of Israel Bonds was urged in a Passover message by Lawrence G. Laskey of Newton, New England chairman of State of Israel Bonds. He said the 10-year record of sacrifices and achievement of the State of Israel represents a giant step toward the goal of fulfillment as prophesied in the message of Passover.

"In this great step forward," he stated, "Boston and New England Jewry can claim a vital and indispensable role as staunch supporters of Israel's rebirth 10 years ago, and as proud investors in Israel Bonds. "These Bonds," he added, "are helping Israel to establish herself as a modern nation with a firm base in industry and agriculture. They are helping her to discover her natural resources. They are providing the economic strength which is essential to national security."

"We must continue to give our full support to the State of Israel Bond drive, through which Israel will have the economic resources for continued progress and development in her second decade."

Medical Mirror

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

CANCER

PUBLIC BEWARE!

Q. Can cancer be cured with drugs?
A. Some types of cancer can be treated with chemicals. Other types require the use of radium, surgery, X-ray and radioactive substances. These are accepted treatment methods. Watch out for "sure cures" for cancer offered under fancy names and at fancy prices. One fellow who called himself "doctor" (he had a high school diploma from a correspondence school) charged $400 for his "cure" which consisted of a "tonic" and some vitamin pills. The cure had a "clinic" — and a million dollar racket. It's a big business. When you need medical advice, start with your family physician.

Q. Is cancer contagious?
A. So far as is known, human cancer cannot be passed from one person to another by contact.

Q. Can you inherit cancer?
A. Experts say that cancer in several members of one family can occur just by chance. Although it's hard to pin down, hereditary seems to play a part, at least in certain types of cancer. As one doctor explains it, all we inherit from our parents is a tiny blob of substance which has neither over nor mind nor musical talent nor cancer. All it has is the ability to develop these things.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

State Withholding Tax Unfair, Says Newton Solon

The proposed bill for withholding of State income taxes is unfair because it would require taxpayers to pay two years taxes in a single year, in the opinion of Representative George E. Rawson of Newton.

"I wish to make clear to my constituents my opposition to the so-called State withholding tax," Rawson declared in a statement of his views.

"To me it seems unfair to require taxpayers to pay two years taxation in a single year."

"Should this bill be enacted next January, the taxpayer will pay his tax on 1958 income on or before April 15, 1959, and he will pay his 1959 tax currently in 1959 by the withholding method, or by estimated returns, as the case may be."

"The situation will be especially severe for the taxpayer who is living on so-called 'unearned income.' He will pay in 1959 a tax of 7.38 percent on his 1958 income and 7.38 percent currently on 1959 income, or an outrageous total of 14.76 percent."

"When realization of this dawns on this class of taxpayers—and many of them are among our best citizens—there will be an additional exodus."

but for the hike for other city employees.

The 12 who voted against the blanket raise and in support of the Aldermanic Finance Committee's recommendation that the increase be trimmed down to $100 for everybody were:

President Wendell R. Bauckman, Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, Harry H. Ham, Charles F. Hovey, Charles H. Morang, John P. Nixon, William M. Powers, William H. Prentice, William P. Ripley, Stuart M. Spaulding, Edwin A. Terkelsen and Earle D. Wood.

There was some shifting and vote-splitting when a subsequent motion was made to restore the raise for the police and firemen.

Merrill, who voted for the increase for other city employees, recorded himself against the boost for the police and firefighters.

Powers made just the reverse switch. He had been against the general raise recommended by the Mayor but voted for the police and fire wage hike.

Spaulding split his vote, recorded himself for the $250 raise for the police but against the boost for the firefighters.

Alderman Hirsch Sharf and Benjamin Shattuck were absent from the meeting. Sharf is in Europe.

At the hearing which preceded the Aldermanic vote on the salary issue, spokesmen for three groups of city employees and two union officials representing workers employed on an hourly basis argued for approval of the salary schedule recommended by Mayor Whitmore.

Executive Director Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., of the Newton Taxpayers' Association opposed the raises suggested by the Mayor and supported the cuts proposed by the Aldermanic Finance Committee.

Those pleading the cause of the police and firefighters told the Aldermen that the latter two groups have the highest reputation for efficiency and public service but that they are not paid as well as comparable workers in neighboring communities.

President Harry Purcell of Local 800, Newton City Employees, declared that the salary schedule recommended by Mayor Whitmore was inadequate even before it was cut by the Aldermen. Purcell said the union had sought a 10 percent pay hike.

Others who advocated passage of the Mayor's salary schedule included Edwin W. Hadley, speaking for City Hall employees; John F. Finerty, arguing the cause of the police department; Charles O. Monahan, appearing for the fire department; and William G. Ward, president of the Massachusetts Council of State, County and Municipal Employees of the AFL, representing the hourly workers.

They asserted that the cost of living has gone up 4.9 percent in the past year and that the schedule proposed by Mayor Whitmore would not even cover that rise.

Director Muther of the Taxpayers' Association, opposing the increase, said the cost of living has risen 24 percent since the Korean war, while the compensation of patrolmen has been increased 43 percent in the same period, laborers 34 percent and typists 60 percent.

Close to 600 persons filled the Aldermanic chamber to overflowing for the hearing and to listen to the arguments on the amounts the wages of Newton's city employees should be raised.

One major aftermath to the hearing has been a move started by various city employee groups to unite into one new major organization.

from Massachusetts to neighboring states like Connecticut and New Hampshire, that do not have this kind of tax.

"The withholding tax will, in my opinion, place one more burden upon business and industry which alone can employ our people. Our business climate has been deteriorating the past two years. This will add to the worsening process with a consequent loss of jobs."

"It is my considered opinion that the bill ought not to pass. Therefore I opposed it in the House and voted against it on roll call. We lacked sufficient votes to defeat it in the House but I hope the Senate will reject it."

'Y' Registration For Camps Start

Registration is now open for three Newton Y.M.C.A. camping programs, Youth Work Secretary Russell E. Ball announces.

The Newton "Y" operates four camps during the summer, with an enrollment of 700 boys. Applications are now available for Camp Frank A. Day, the residence camp, and for the two day camps, Massasoit and Chickami. It is expected that applications for Camp Vagabond, the camp for older boys, will be available shortly.

Parents may enroll their sons for any of the above-mentioned camps at the Newton Y.M.C.A., 276 Church street, Newton. Applications and brochures will be sent upon request.

Camp Chickami, founded in 1946, will open the first of four two-week periods on June 23 at the camp site in Wayland. Campers are provided bus transportation to and from the 12-acre site each day. Activities include archery, softball, baseball, swimming, volleyball, crafts and nature study.

Camp facilities include a large outdoor swimming pool, ball field, wooded area and several buildings for crafts, nature and rainy-day programs. The camp is directed by Russell E. Ball, and the associate director is Donald J. Eacmen, associated youth work secretary. The camp is limited to 125 campers per period.

Camp Massasoit, the day camp conducted at the association building at 276 Church street, will open for its 15th season on June 23 with a capacity of 140 boys. This year the camp will be directed by Edward R. DiPersio, physical director of the "Y," and will run for four two-week periods.

The camp utilizes the large athletic field of the Newton "Y" for softball, baseball, archery, and track events. In addition, three tennis courts are available to the older boys, and tournaments are held at various times during the summer. The indoor pool is used for swimming instruction and the gymnasium for games periods.

Camp Frank A. Day, the residence camp, on the shores of Lake Quicumassett in Brookfield, will open for the first of

Win Recognition For Work At Navy Yard

A one hundred dollar superior accomplishment award has been made to Mrs. Sophie Danziger of 132 Nevada street, Newtonville, for her work at the Boston Naval Shipyard.

Another Newtonite, Edward C. Brown of 24 Crosby road, was chosen to share in a $225 Group Award made to employees of the shipyard's Supply Department.

According to shipyard officials, ideas for improving operations and outstanding performance of assigned duties won 200 employees about $7000 in awards. Their ideas, it is estimated, will save taxpayers $70,740 in the first year of use.

Editor-in-Chief David S. Viscott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Viscott, 38 Moreland avenue, Newton Centre, was recently elected editor-in-chief of The Dartmouth Quarterly, a literary magazine published by Dartmouth College students.

Now in his junior year, Viscott was graduated from Newton high school. He is a member of the Dartmouth College Band, the Dartmouth Outing Club, and Green Key, the junior honorary society. His academic major is English.

St. Paul Centre Gets $100,000 for Research Work with Blind

A $100,000 three-year project under a Federal grant has been inaugurated at St. Paul's Rehabilitation Centre for the Blind at 770 Centre street, Newton. St. Paul's will use the services of the Department of Biostatistics of the Harvard School of Public Health for this research.

Directed by Dr. Gordon B. Connor, administrator of St. Paul's, the project will attempt to determine the effectiveness of a 16-week training program for the blind in comparison with the 12-week program in effect since the agency was opened more than four years ago by the Catholic Guild for the Blind.

New England's only rehabilitation center for the blind, St. Paul's has provided training for more than 150 adults who have become blind.

The cost of providing rehabilitation services for 40 persons per year has amounted to slightly more than $2000 per trainee for the 12-week program.

Of this amount, the charge to trainee, or referred agency, has been $1,555.50 with the parent agency, the Catholic Guild for the Blind, assuming the difference of $444.50.

Under the 16-week program now in effect only 33 trainees will be at St. Paul's each year for the next three years. Because of the federal grant, there will be no increase in charges.

A four-man research team from Harvard, headed by Dr. Hugo Muench, working with 28 professional members of St. Paul's staff, has entered the initial stages of the research program.

The Harvard group, besides Dr. Muench, includes Dr. Jane Worcester and Dr. Robert B. Reed, associate professors of Biostatistics at Harvard, and Miss Margaret E. Drolette, M.P.H., instructor in Biostatistics at Harvard.

Cubs In Quiz On Exploring Alaska

A skit based on "The $64,000 Question" TV show was presented by Cub Scouts of Pack 23 on Thursday night at the Hamilton School in Newton Lower Falls.

Written by Den Mother Eleanor Boyland, the skit was a joint effort of all four Cub packs and was designed to broaden the boys' knowledge of Alaska—Cub Scout theme for March.

Mark Goodman played the role of the contestant while Peter Reynolds and P. J. Boylan portrayed the announcer and the master of ceremonies. All 25 Cubs made up a panel of experts on the contestant's category.

Earlier this month more than a score of Cubs won awards at the annual Blue & Gold dinner held at St. Mary's Church. Feature of the entertainment was a boxing exhibition. Cubmaster Irving Goodman introduced Scoutmaster John Carey, who spoke to the boys about activities at the higher age level.

The first week in March the entire pack traveled to the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain to see a program on Alaska in conjunction with the month's unit.

Plans to visit a submarine at the Navy Yard are currently being made by Dr. Ernest Blaustein as a spring project for the pack.

NEW MARINE—Daniel F. Wilcox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon F. Wilcox, of 607 Washington street, Newton, has completed his "boot" training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C. The young leatherneck now goes on to specialized infantry training at Camp Lejeune.

Publicity Chairman For Mt. Holyoke Show

Are You Sure You Can Sound A Fire Alarm?

It's information you may never need. It's the sort of thing you do not pay much attention to "until the time comes." And when "the time comes" what you do and how you do it can mean something as very important as the lives of yourself and your loved ones.

How do you report a fire in your home? It only takes a few seconds to read this advice of Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., of Newton. Read it. File it in that part of your memory where you store important knowledge. It could be vitally important to you some day.

Says the chief: Reporting a fire properly and quickly very often means the difference between life and death, or between little damage and complete loss.

The rules he urges everyone to study and remember are these: "First and foremost, get everyone out of the house the instant you discover or suspect a fire.

"Then report the fire—fast! "Be sure you always know the location of, and how to use, the nearest fire alarm box, to your home, school, church, and place of business.

"Make certain you know how to reach the fire department by phone.

ROTC Officer To Be Visitor At Military Academy

Albert R. Van Steenberg, 101 Washington street, Newton, a cadet Colonel in Northeastern University's ROTC, will be one of four cadets to visit the Military Academy at West Point.

The cadets, all high-ranking officers in the two Northeastern ROTC brigades, will be subject to the rules of West Point in every phase of the Academy's program.

Scheduled to report to the Army's school Thursday, March 27, the cadets will wear their ROTC uniforms. Except for this distinction, they will be treated no differently than a West Point cadet.

Van Steenberg, a senior in the College of Engineering at Northeastern, will be expected to submit suggestions on features of the West Point program that could be used by Northeastern's ROTC.

your own name and phone number.

"Don't assume someone will report the fire—do it yourself."

The chief's final reminder is this: "Be sure any baby sitters you leave in charge of children thoroughly understand these rules and have this information, too."

St. John's Group Seeking Old Toys

The Senior Y.P.F. Committee of St. John's Church in Newtonville calls attention to its drive for toys to be offered for sale in the fall.

"If you have any old toys in good condition that you wouldn't throw away but that you aren't using, we would appreciate your saving them for us," declares Sue Simonds of the committee.

"There will be a box placed in the parish house in which you can put any such toys. However, if you have no way to get them down to the church or they would be too big to put in the box, you can contact me at BI 4-6374 and we will try to arrange to have them picked up."

"We don't want any badly broken toys as we don't have the facilities to make a lot of major repairs; but if they merely need a coat of paint or a nail or two, fine," she declares.

Concert to Be Given April 8

Under the direction of Dr. Malloy Miller, violinist, composer and professor at Boston University, the High Pines String Orchestra will present a concert under the auspices of the Guild of St. Francis, at the Sacred Heart Church School Hall, Newton Centre, next Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

Dr. Miller has served as guest conductor of the Boston Pops orchestra, and his compositions have been played in Denver, Chicago, New York and Boston. Mrs. John Sanroma, a member of this group, will be chairman for the evening.

The boys and girls of Sacred Heart high school will present a skit, "A Day in the Life of a Bus Driver" under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Kenney. Refreshments will be served.

Two Newton Men Given Key Posts In Harvard Drive

Sidel is a member of the 1931 class at Harvard and owner of the Melann General Insurance Agency, Boston. He is vice president of both Temple Israel Brotherhood, Boston, and the Jewish Big Brother Association of Boston.

Today's Thought

You're an old-timer if you can remember back to the days when a baby-sitter was called Mother.

Fashion Show Features Cancer Drive Luncheon

A fabulous fashion show, featuring the latest Italian creations from the Houses of Fontana and La Tessitrice, will highlight the tenth anniversary luncheon of the Aid For Cancer Research organization to be held at the Hotel Statler on Monday, April 21.

The fashions to be displayed by professional models will range from sport clothes to exquisite ball gowns.

Getter, Daniels Endorse Herter

Two prominent Newton insurance executives this week announced their endorsements of Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Seymour S. Getter, who has been active in charitable fund drives in Newton, and Donald J. Daniels, vice-president of Temple Shalom in Newton, called for the election of fellow Newtonite Herter.

"I consider it a distinct privilege and honor," Getter declared, "to endorse the candidacy of Councillor Herter as the standard bearer for the Republicans in the coming convention. An exceptionally able and vigorous man, he has all the attributes of a statesman."

Daniels said he had known Herter since the late forties when they were both active in community and veterans' affairs in Newton.

"I found him most sympathetic to the readjustment and housing problems all of us experienced following our return to civilian life," said Daniels. "I feel that in all his public posts he has demonstrated constantly a keen responsibility for the public good."

Outstanding contributions have been made to hospitals and scientists engaged in cancer research for the past ten years by this women's group which is guided in its decisions to make grants by an eminent medical advisory board comprising Dr. David Weisberger, chairman; Dr. Joseph C. Aub, Dr. Sidney Farber, Dr. Francis D. Moore and Dr. Shields Warren.

Two grants given this year include: $7500 to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital for the purpose of establishing a research bed for one year which would enable doctors to conduct vital studies on patients afflicted with cancer who would otherwise be unable to remain in the hospital for this purpose. The other grant was for $5763.

Furcolo Backers Left on Limb As Governor Okays Convention

Governor Furcolo by signing a law making it mandatory for the Democratic party to hold a pre-primary State convention this year has once again demonstrated his unpredictability and the futility of trying to forecast what he will or will not do.

Over a period of months he made it plain that he wanted no convention. In fact, he even opposed the idea of holding a conclave in 1956 when it was necessary to stage one in order to choose the Democratic Presidential electors.

After the members of the Democratic State Committee deferred to Furcolo's wishes, the Governor placed his signature on a legislative act which, in effect, compels the committee to assemble again and reverse the stand which it took because of him.

Publicly, the State Committee members are not apt to make any issue about the Governor's action in pushing them out on the end of a limb and then sawing off the limb. But privately they have had some tart comments about his indecision and his inability to make up his mind as to what he really does want.

What effect will the holding of a pre-primary convention have upon Democratic prospects for next November's election? Probably none, although there already are indications that two members of the 1956 Democratic State ticket may ignore the convention.

State Treasurer John F. Kennedy, who was rebuffed by the convention two years ago, has served notice that he isn't going to turn the other cheek. Kennedy will snub the convention this year.

Newton Tax Rate for This Year Is Now Estimated at About $54

$4.80 Tax Rate Hike Seen After Aldermen Approropriate $664,500 From Surplus Fund

Newton's tax rate for this year has been officially estimated at $54.

That would represent an increase of $4.80 over last year's figure of $49.20.

Belief that the tax rate will not rise over the $54 mark this year was expressed by municipal officials after the members of the Board of Aldermen voted on Monday night to appropriate $664,500 from surplus funds to hold down the rate.

In advance of the meeting charts had been prepared for the Aldermen by the city assessors showing what the approximate tax rate would be in the event various amounts were taken from the surplus funds.

The charts showed that the 1958 rate would be about $54 if the Aldermen appropriated the $664,500 recommended by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.

Chairman Earle D. Wood of the Aldermanic Finance Committee reported to his fellow Aldermen that on April 1 the surplus funds in the city treasury amounted to $1,158,633.

At the same time Wood declared that if the assessors find it possible to use less than $664,500 and still establish a $54 tax rate they will do so.

Before the city's tax rate can be officially established the Aldermen must raise from $45 to $50 the ceiling on the tax rate for municipal operating expenses.

(Part of the money raised in the tax levy must be used to meet State and county assessments and to pay the city's share of the MTA deficit.)

Will Invite Bids From Local Firms On Defense Needs

Senator Donald L. Gibbs (N) of Newton today urged qualified Newton industrial firms to take full advantage of the Defense Department's acceptance of the plan set up by Leverett Saltonstall, Senator from Massachusetts.

Senator Saltonstall has compiled a list of Massachusetts firms which the Defense Department will invite to bid on the items it requires.

"Miles of red tape have been slashed by this move," said Gibbs, "and no longer will manufacturers be forced to send people to Washington to fill out extensive forms and endure long delays."

"The Defense Department is now geared to act upon bids so speedily that it will be possible for many firms to recall laid-off employees almost immediately," Senator Gibbs declared.

Police Say 22 Breaks Solved By Six Arrests

Forty complaints have been lodged against six youths rounded up by Newton police for 22 burglaries and two attempted burglaries. The complaints were presented in Newton District Court this week before Judge Donald E. Mayberry.

Police claim that two of the youths admitted armed holdups in Cambridge and two others were involved in three burglaries in Wayland.

The six were identified as: Peter L. Funderburk, 20, of 297 Crafts street, Newtonville; David H. Blinder, 17, of 393 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville; James E. Connors, 20, of 147 Lowell avenue, Newtonville; David J. Hanley of the Watertown Arsenal; Edward Quebec, 17, of 97 Court street, Newtonville; and Wilfred A. Boivin, 19, of 44 Kensington street, Newtonville.

Funderburk and Blinder were the two who Newton police said admitted two holdups in Cambridge in which about $50 was taken.

Two of the defendants, James E. Connors and David J. Hanley, are wanted by Wayland police for questioning in regard to three burglaries on Main street in that town on April 2. Chief Ernest H. Damon and Patrolmen Richard Groton were

A Malden firm has been awarded the contract for taming the Charles River in Newton, Needham and Dedham. MDC Chairman Charles W. Greenough announces.

A $288,400 job will be done by the Gil-Wyner Co., Inc., of Malden. The work to be performed is part of a $3 million MDC flood control project. It calls for demolition and reconstruction of the dam at Hemlock Gorge, near Route 9, in Newton Upper Falls.

A mile and a half of the river channel between Newton Upper Falls and Needham will also be widened and deepened.

It will be necessary to remove 4500 cubic yards of rock from the river channel above the dam to allow a free flow of water from the Dedham and Needham marshes.

The Dedham-Needham marsh area of the Charles connects through Mother Brook with the Neponset River in Hyde Park. A new dam will help control the marsh area water level as part of the combined Neponset and Charles River flood programs.

It is expected that work will get under way within the next three weeks.

Few Know in Whose Memory Newton Schools Were Named

By PHYLLIS NEWTON

Ask your son if he knows for whom his school was named. Or your daughter. They will be rare children, indeed, if they can tell you.

A very personal, very arbitrary, and very limited survey of this matter revealed that seven out of seven youngsters had not the slightest idea what famous figure of the past their school honored, and cared less.

Despite this discouraging start, a firm conviction that they should know and possibly even care, prompted further pursuit of the subject. This resulted in more detective work than goes into a week of TV who-dunnit's.

No wonder the boys and girls didn't know. It took the combined research efforts of the school department, the Jackson Homestead, a score of principals, and a handful of retired local folk to track down the patronymical facts on the city's 26 elementary schools.

M & B Will Provide Service For Highland Branch Riders

Through its president, John M. Walsh, the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway has expressed a desire and determination to do everything possible to afford Newton commuters adequate service in the period between the abandonment of the Highland Branch of the B & A, and the start of MTA operations.

The B & A has been granted permission by the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon the Highland Branch May 1.

Walsh announced that the M & B "is determined to furnish all of the transportation service which public convenience requires in the City of Newton, particularly all its areas served by the Highland Branch."

Details are being worked out. The B & A has agreed to post notices at its stations and possibly aboard its trains to acquaint the "orphaned-to-be" commuters of schedules which will be set up for their convenience.

Reports of the ICC for the month of March, 1957, reportedly the latest available, showed approximately 700 round trip riders a day being carried by His appointment will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of former chairman William R. Mattson.

Chairman Merrill, who resides at 15 Newtonville avenue, Newton, is an Alderman-at-Large from Ward 1; he has served the Republican City Committee as second vice-chairman for several years.

Highlights and Headlights From Newton High

BY JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS . . . With the summer drawing near once again, many students are making plans to attend the Newton High Summer School. Mr. Rogers, the present assistant principal of the high school, is going to be principal of the regular Newton High Summer School and of the Harvard University-Newton Summer School. The session this year will last six weeks and include thirty-two courses, ranging from eighth grade arithmetic to trigonometry and physics. Six full credit courses, U. S. History, World History, Algebra I, Math 12, Biology, and Physics will be offered this summer. The classes will be held daily from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and will bring regular credit to the attending students for graduation in Newton High.

The program allows a student with a special interest in a certain subject to pursue his studies during the summer and receive full credit. It also permits a student to fulfill some of his scholastic requirements in advance and take more electives in the winter. Curriculum I standards will be maintained. The students will prepare regular homework and take final exams. Certain grade levels are required of the students who wish to take these courses.

Finally, after many weeks of work and worry, Jerry Rogell, a present junior, has been selected as Newton High's Field Service Exchange Student for the summer of 1958. The country Jerry will visit has not yet been determined.

Allan Warsowe, chairman of the AFS drive to raise money for a scholarship fund for exchange students, is planning two fund-raising drives. As the first project, "Shares in World Friendship" will be sold to the students for one dollar apiece, and fifty additional cents for each extra share. Each student will receive a pin and his name on the Newtonite Shares-for-Scholarship Roll in addition to the shares he has bought. Several assemblies explaining the purpose of the drive and attempting to get the support of the student body will be held before the drive starts on April 14.

Mary Small and Jan Lee Clement are heading a drive to sell cookbooks containing foreign recipes to the community to raise more money for AFS, and to gain the interest of the adults. Student salesmen are being enlisted for this project. The committee working on the drive consists of Dick Cohen, Felix Shlaepfer, Marie-France Ereau, Nancy Lillis, Margie Castleman, and Marcia Boyd. Alan Paulson is publicity chairman, Ruth Butterfield, treasurer, and Francis Woodbridge, in charge of assemblies.

Approximately one hundred exhibits were entered in yesterday's science fair. Winners from the Junior Highs also contributed their displays, and for the first time in the history of the fair, an elementary school, Angier School of Waban, was asked to enter.

Mr. Howe participated as one of the four principal speakers at the Arizona Conference on the Advanced Placement Program and Science Education held Monday and Tuesday, March 24 and 25, at the University of Arizona, in Tucson.

Allan Warsowe was the Senior Standout in the April 2 issue of the Newtonite.

The Exchange groups made about $1450 on their rummage sale held recently in the Newton High gym. The money is being used to entertain sixty students from Washington, D.C. and Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. The Canadians arrived last night and the Washingtonians, today. Tonight there will be a get-acquainted party at Meadowbrook Junior High and tomorrow will be spent in regular classes, on a tour of the high school, and at a welcome assembly. Friday will hold a tour of Boston, Harvard, and M.I.T. for part of the group. The week-end's activities will be highlighted by a progressive supper Saturday evening; a night at the Totem Pole Friday, where the Four Lads will be appearing; and a supper for the students, sponsors, and parents on Sunday night. Some of the invited guests are Mayor Whitmore, Representative Curtis, and Mr. Howe. Saturday the one hundred twenty boys and girls will travel to Lexington and Concord and Tuesday the Nova Scotia group will go to the opening Red Sox-Yankee baseball game while the Washington group takes a tour of the North Shore. A farewell party will be held Tuesday night, and Wednesday the two groups will leave for home.

A recent science reception was held at Newton High for Reiner Beeuwkes and Dushan Mitrovich, the two Westinghouse Scholarship winners. Mayor Whitmore, High School and School Department officials, the teachers the boys studied under at Bigelow Junior High, all the students in the Advanced Standing science program, members of various science clubs, and student officials were invited to the party. Doc. Zolli, legislature president, presented the first annual Newton Science Award for distinguished work in the field of science to the boys on behalf of the school. Several of the officials spoke and refreshments were served. Several Lexington High students invaded Newton High on April 7, returning the visit Newton High students paid to Lexington in March. The group compared the two schools.

MERRYMAKER . . . "A Roaring Twenties" theme is planned by the new committee for the next Tigerama which will be held on May 9. The annual Motorcade will travel as usual down Elm street to Lowell, down Commonwealth avenue, and back to the high school. ## Political Overtones

Boston City Councillor Edward J. McCormack, Jr., the Democratic nominee for Attorney General in 1956, hasn't decided whether he will allow his name to be placed before the convention and probably will not make up his mind on the matter for some weeks to come.

There's no parallel between the cases of Kennedy and McCormack except that both were defeated in their convention bids and then went on to win nominations in the September primary.

Democratic leaders joined forces to administer what must have been a humiliating rebuke to Kennedy at the 1956 convention after he had served two years at State Treasurer.

He polled a mere handful of votes as he was overwhelmed by Clement A. Riley, present registrar of motor vehicles. When Kennedy subsequently addressed the delegates and told them their decision was not final and that he intended to take his case to the Democratic voters, a thunder of boos cascaded down upon him.

Kennedy walked down from the platform and out of the hall with the boos of a Democratic convention echoing behind him. Of course, he later obtained the necessary signatures to place his name on the primary ballot and won the nomination.

The likelihood is that Treasurer Kennedy would be endorsed by this year's pre-primary convention. But he isn't going to take the risk of another rebuff. So he's planning to stay away from the 1958 conclave.

That may pose an awkward problem for the convention delegates, especially if it should develop that there are no challengers desirous of contesting with Kennedy for the Democratic endorsement for Treasurer.

Riley was about as strong a candidate as the Democratic chieftains could find to match against Kennedy, and the present registrar, popular and well known across the Commonwealth, twice was defeated by Kennedy in primaries after the convention had given him its endorsement.

After Riley's two experiences it is highly improbable that the prospects of battling Kennedy in the primary next September will be a very inviting or attractive one for any ambitious young Democrat.

It would be ironic if the delegates attending the Democratic conclave in June were to find that they had no choice but to endorse Kennedy even though he snubbed and boycotted their assembly. That could happen since anyone who accepted the convention endorsement for Treasurer would know that in all probability he would be defeated by Kennedy in the subsequent primary.

Not only did Democratic leaders humble Kennedy at their '56 convention, but they also did everything they could to purge him from their State ticket by defeating him in the primary as well.

Every bit of strength which could be mustered was thrown behind Riley. But Kennedy proved too tough a candidate to stay beaten, and with practically every Democratic chieftain in the State against him he emerged a winner from the primary.

Democratic leaders gave Kennedy some uncomfortable moments in 1956. Now he's in a position to sit back and let them do the squirming.

In the case of Councillor McCormack it's probably a matter of assessing as carefully and accurately as possible his prospects of winning the endorsement at the convention.

If McCormack concludes that he has a better than even chance of prevailing at the convention, he undoubtedly will have his name submitted. If he finds that the odds are against him, he presumably will ignore the convention and stay away from it.

When McCormack ran for the nomination for Attorney General in the 1956 Democratic primary, he found that the one campaign argument leveled against him was that he had been turned down at the convention. He isn't going to let himself be placed in that position again if he can help it.

McCormack realized that he would have had a much easier time in the primary campaign if he hadn't gone near the convention. Consequently, he's not going to be in any hurry to move into the coming conclave.

The fact is, of course, that the convention this year isn't going to settle anything as far as the Democratic nomination for Attorney General is concerned.

Both McCormack and former Governor's Councillor Endicott (Chub) Peabody of Cambridge have declared that they will run in the primary regardless of what happens at the convention.

The third contender, former Representative Joseph D. Ward of Fitchburg, apparently is pinning his hopes on a triumph at the convention. But he received the endorsement of the 1956 conclave and then lost to McCormack in the primary. Should Ward prove to be the choice of this year's convention, he would have to meet both McCormack and Peabody in the primary.

McCormack appears to have substantially more delegate support than he did prior to the 1956 conclave. Whether that increase is great enough to influence him to make a fight at the June convention remains to be determined.

There have been intimations from persons close to Governor Furcolo that the Governor wants McCormack on the ticket with him. Those reports are given additional credence by the fact that some of Furcolo's lieutenants are aiding McCormack.

It would be understandable if Governor Furcolo does desire McCormack in the supporting cast which will run with him next fall. For one thing most politicians are superstitious, and Furcolo might well want the same ticket with which he rode to victory two years ago. That, of course, would include Treasurer Kennedy as well as Councillor McCormack.

From a more practical political standpoint, how-

If You Own A Dog, You Should Acquaint Yourself With Rules

While the Board of Aldermen ponder the future of Newton's dog population, City Clerk Monte G. Basbas has drawn up a list of rules for dog owners. They are based on law, common sense and are concerned with the safety and welfare of the public as well as the dog and its owner.

Here's the list as compiled by the city clerk at the request of the city's dog officer, Dr. Richard C. Schofield of 1100 Beacon street, Newton Highlands.

(1) Dogs must be licensed when three months old and annually by April 1 and hereafter. Dog owners can get licenses at the city clerk's office, City Hall.

(2) It is against the law to remove the collar or license tag from another person's dog.

(3) It is the obligation of anyone who finds a dog to notify the dog officer or police so the dog can be picked up and cared for in the pound, and reclaimed by the owner. Finders are not keepers. They may not keep the dog for themselves. The County Dog Commission has set the fee of $1 a day for boarding a dog in the pound. A dog that is unclaimed after 10 days can be purchased for his board bill. The person who had sent the dog to the pound will have first claim on it.

(4) Whenever a dog bites or scratches anyone, it is put in quarantine for 14 days. It is against the law to dispose of it in any way before the expiration of 14 days.

(5) No one can keep a dog that is a nuisance under the city's Revised Ordinances, 1952, Section 3.10. No person shall own or keep within the city any dog which by barking, biting or howling or in any other manner disturb the quiet of any person.

(6) Dog owners should cooperate for the general welfare in restraining their pets on those days when trash is being collected in their neighborhood until such a time as the trash has been collected on their streets.

(7) If an owner knows that a dog has a tendency to follow children, it is requested that the dog be restrained at that time when children are on their way to school.

(8) It is recommended that the 1957 dog tag be allowed to remain on the collar together with the 1958 tag for approximately two months after April 1. This will permit time for a completion of the '58 dog list and expedite the return of a lost dog to its rightful owner.

Happenings In The Newtons

The Women's Auxiliary, Afternoon Guild of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, is sponsoring a Spring Festival tomorrow (Friday) afternoon from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the church auditorium.

Tea will be served, and articles which the women have made, featuring things for summer living, will be on sale.

Six Newton children have roles in the fifth production of the Boston Children's Theatre, "Peter and the Wolf." They are Marilyn DiNapoli, Amy Kraft, Peter Brecker and Gail Schertzer, all of Newton, and Robbie Low, and Jo Smith, of Newton Centre. Sponsored by the church's Women's Fellowship and the Shere an Eve Club, the lecture is open to the public. Tickets at $1.25 each may be obtained in advance at the church office on Woodland road in Auburndale or at the door.

As a culminating activity for the study of William Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice," pupils of Miss Walsh's ninth grade English classes saw Sir Lawrence Olivier in his film version of "Henry V" at the Kenmore Theatre in Boston. Pupils agreed that the movie helped them in their interpretation of Shakespeare.

The third annual Straw Hat Luncheon of the Dr. Joshua Loth Liebman Chapter, B'nai B'rith, of Newton, will be held June 9 at the Sea and Surf Restaurant, Framingham.

Ticket chairmen are Mrs. Irving Andler of Newton Highlands and Mrs. Irving Goodman of Newton Lower Falls.

ever, Furcolo probably feels that he needs a Boston Democrat with a city-wide organization on his slate. Unless McCormack is nominated for Attorney General, the only Bostonian on the Democratic ticket next November would be State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley who runs a one-man campaign and has no real organization.

Those are considerations to which Furcolo and his advisors undoubtedly are giving more than passing thought.

SPEAKER — Norman L. Cahners, Boston publisher and industrial leader, will address Newton workers and captains of Combined Jewish Appeal Young Adult Division next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Temple Emanuel. Miss Hope Rabb will preside at meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Horne and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Lapidus.

On sale will be a wide selection of clothing for the entire family, and such other items as hats, shoes, household articles and pictures.

It will be the first meeting conducted by the newly elected officers: Mrs. Benjamin Kaplan, president; Mrs. Hy Hurwitz, senior vice president; Mrs. Rose Waldron junior vice president; and Mrs. Carrie Levington, chaplain. Plans will be discussed for the rummage sale to be held April 28-30.

By LEE LOUMOS

A question that is sometimes asked about TV sets has to do with cabinets and their composition. Is there any difference in performance to be expected from a wooden cabinet and one that's made of plastic or some other material?

The answer, according to most experts, is negative. The main reason for the prevalence of polished wood cabinets is appearance—the matching of style with other furnishings in the home. Because of the hand-rubbing involved in a polished wood cabinet, it is bound to cost a little more than should depend on what you want in the appearance of your set. The material used doesn't affect the TV signal one way or another.

Naturally, a larger cabinet provides more room for larger speakers, more tubes, etc. . . so size does have a bearing on the quality of the set's performance. And size is an important consideration for one other reason . . . that is, the space you plan for it. If TV is to be a focal piece of furniture in your living room, you will probably want a full-size console. But if space is at a premium, or if you're buying a second set for the den or any other room, the table models are a perfect choice, giving excellent reception in a very compact space.

You'll find a wide choice of cabinet color materials, finishes and sizes in our current display of fine new TV models. . . and no matter what style or model you may select, you'll obtain MORE value-per dollar invested when you get the added expertness of our installation and servicing facilities. ## Family Service Bureau In Campaign For New Friends

Under the leadership of Rabbi Harold D. Kastle, the Membership Committee of the Board of the Newton Family Service Bureau launched its campaign for new Friends of the Bureau at the orientation meeting for new Board members last Tuesday.

The Friends of the Family Service Bureau, paying nominal dues, are kept informed of the Bureau's work, are invited to certain Board meetings and receive newsletters of the Bureau's activities.

In giving new members an insight into the scope and variety of the services offered by the Bureau to the community, the Case Conference Committee presented a sample meeting in progress. Among the questions raised and answered were: Since you respect the confidence of your clients, how do people hear about the Bureau?

What kinds of situations should be referred? What's the story on paying for the service? How could one of our workers help any better than an intelligent friend or relative who's really interested? Supposing a family needs more than one source of help, how is that worked out?

Mrs. Richard Mitchell, chairman of the Case Conference Committee, pointed out that the agency's approach to the individual has its effect upon the family and the community, thus help to one becomes help to many.

Board members and staff members taking part in the program were: Rev. Hamilton Gifford, Mrs. Robert Mitchell, Dr. Lawrence Perlmutter, Mrs. James Currens, George Hicks, Miss Dorothy Taylor, Mrs. Caroline L. Enright, Mrs. Gustave Umbsen, Mrs. Morten Smith-Peterson and Sidney Modell.

Furcolo Wants A Blank Check, Says Rawson

Governor Furcolo's request for a $50,000,000 bond issue to alleviate unemployment in Massachusetts is a request for a blank check, says Rep. George E. Rawson.

"Fifty million dollars is a lot of the taxpayers' money to vote away without a demonstrated need," Rawson declared, "and I do not vote to give anyone a blank check."

Charging that the bill is loosely drawn, the Newton legislator explained his vote against the measure by pointing out that facts he obtained from the Division of Unemployment Compensation indicate the situation is not as severe as Furcolo claims.

"While 7 1/2 per cent of our people are now out of work," Rawson revealed, "figures show that 5.9 per cent are normally unemployed at this season of the year."

He also pointed out that 60 per cent of these unemployed are women, who would not be helped by highway work or jobs on public works.

"The Chief Executive's demand that we pass the bill first and discuss it afterwards does not make sense," the Newton Republican continued, calling the bill's provision for transferring funds to various departments, boards and commissions "positively dangerous."

"It could easily be made a 'slush fund' in that way," Rawson said, "and it is my intention to vote against it in the enactment stage, as not being in the public interest."

Zone Law Change Sought for Garden Apartment Homes

Petitions for zoning changes which would allow the construction of so-called garden-type apartments in Newton Centre; the switch of Newtonville land from residential D to manufacturing; and the conversion of a dwelling to a funeral home, have been filed with the Board of Aldermen.

The applications will be given public hearings before the Planning Board and the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee at 7:45 p.m. next Monday.

Margaret B. Hughes, et al, are seeking a change from private and single residence zones to residence D district approximately 125,000 square feet of land at Parker, Paul and Cypress street, Newton Centre. The change would be for the purpose of allowing the erection of garden apartment units.

Thomas F. McDonald seeks the change of zoning regulations for eight lots of land at North and Farwell streets, Newtonville, from Residential D to manufacturing.

Vyvan P. Mackay, represented by Attorney William Halliday, is seeking an amendment which would permit a zoning change to permit a funeral home in a residential area, "provided the premises are also occupied as the principal residence of a registered funeral director."

Mr. Mackay also seeks permission to use the frame building at 465 Centre street, Newton, now in a residence D zone, for a funeral home.

Schools Named—

Still a Mystery

And positive proof is still missing on the actual origin of two of the schools' names—the Franklin and the Hamilton. Presumed to honor Benjamin and Alexander, respectively, no actual data in the form of plaques, portraits, or authenticating letters could be turned up to verify this assumption.

Historical sleuths Fred C. Alexander of Newtonville and John W. Newton of Lower Falls did the bulk of the detective work. They combed the archives of the city, school department records, and dusty volumes recording Newton's early days. Both are active on the historical research committee of the Jackson Homestead.

Also helpful in securing data was Dr. Harold B. Gores, who asked each elementary principal to submit a brief biography of their school's namesake.

Roundabout Search

A few principals, who could find no evidence in their buildings or files, turned to the Jackson Homestead. Eventually this three-way search resulted in the accumulation of valuable material which will be placed in the Homestead archives and in the permanent files of the school department.

The information gathered illuminates the roster of familiar names and re-kindles interest in the six illustrious educators, the six civic-minded businessmen, statesmen, the five hardy local pioneers, the four national celebrities, and the two war heroes, for whom the schools were named.

Of late years, the school committee has apparently been reluctant to glorify any one person in this fashion. They have tended to let school names "grow naturally" from the geographic locations, as Oak Hill, Murray Road, Meadowbrook, etc.

Call It Countryside!

Admittedly pressures abound when it comes to naming a new school. One group favors a popular mayor while another plumps for a beloved principal. What to do? Call it Countryside! . . . a name with which no one can quarrel.

In some ways, though, it seems too bad that long and devoted public service — particularly in the field of education — cannot be commemorated in such a fitting way.

Despite their recent informal policy, indications are that the School Board is not so hidebound that it would not bow to a unanimous groundswell in favor of one individual should a new school need naming in the future.

Here Are the Facts

Following are the city's 26 grade schools with a brief biographical note on the personality each celebrates. More complete information is available at the Jackson Homestead:

Praises Firemen Who Risked Their Lives to Battle Blaze

John L. Hynes saw one Newton firefighter after another risk his life to save the property of the Hynes family in a fire which a month ago destroyed his home at 9 Saxon road, Newton Centre.

Hynes told of his experience in a glowing letter of appreciation for the great fight the firemen staged to halt the flames and to save as much as they could before the entire structure became a cauldron.

Three firefighters were injured in the battle and Hynes himself nearly lost his life when he re-entered the burning home under the misapprehension that some members of his family had remained trapped inside.

Hynes' tribute to the bravery and devotion to duty was contained this week in a letter to Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.

It read: "Dear Chief Perkins—Thank you and your department for the wonderful work done at the recent fire in our home. During the time I watched I saw a man after man risk his life to save our property. The concern they showed and the manner in which they protected our personal property amazed us.

"My family and I hope that the firemen who were injured recovered rapidly and are now back on duty.

"The citizens of Newton should be proud to know their lives and property are in such capable hands as its fire department in case of such a fire.

"Sincere thanks, again, from our entire family."

The fire was discovered at 3:45 a.m. on Sunday, March 9. It had gained considerable headway before smoke awakened Miss Constance N. Hynes. She aroused her parents, her sister, Mrs. Phyllis Mauger, and her brother, Edward A.

Hospitalized firemen were John J. Connors, Engine 26, and Daniel E. King, Ladder 3. They were taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Guerino Leone, driver for Assistant Chief John L. Martin, was treated at the scene for smoke inhalation. All have returned to duty.

After the fire had been brought under control, firemen recovered approximately $1000 in cash from a bureau drawer. It represented collections for the Sacred Heart parish building fund which was temporarily in Mr. Hynes' custody. Also recovered by the firemen was Mrs. Mauger's diamond wrist watch.

The fire caused damage estimated at $25,000. Mr. Hynes is in the oil burner business and is distantly related to Mayor Hynes of Boston.

Peirce — named for "Father" Cyrus Peirce, a Unitarian minister, who was considered by Horace Mann "the man of all teachers in the state fitted to carry on the Normal School." He served as principal of this history-making establishment, and "settled the problem of the Normal School system against all and every kind of opposition," according to Miss Lucy Allen's "West Newton Half a Century Ago."

Rice — perpetuates the memory of Marshall S. Rice, who operated a boys' school in his home located at the site of 1094 Centre Street, in the 1830's. He was town treasurer, and his grandson is William H. Rice, chairman of the board of the Newton Savings Bank.

Spaulding — for Frank Spaulding, nationally famous educator who served as superintendent of school in Newton from 1908-1914 and later became a collegiate dean. His reports and writings were classics and required reading in every college of education. Now living in California, he is an active-by-mail member of the school's PTA.

Stearns — named for the Stearns estate on Watertown St., which belonged to one of Nonantum's oldest families. Part of the land owned by Daniel Stearns was sold to the city to erect a school in 1906. Two of his daughters taught in Newton schools, one at Stearns.

Underwood — named for General Adin B. Underwood who lived in the Farlow Park area and suffered a "hideous wound" in the Civil War. An early benefactor of the Newton Free Library, he was surveyor of customs at Boston.

Ward — commemorates the dedication of John Ward to the early life of New Cambridge Village (Newton) in the late 1600's. A selectman in the 1679-89 government, and a representative for eight years, John Ward and his wife, Hannah Jackson, had 13 children and 300 acres of land which he distributed among his sons before his death in 1708.

Williams — honors Thomas Scott Williams, an Auburndale resident on whose land the school was built. His self-taught knowledge of civil engineering and railroad management enabled him to construct the waterworks for the city of Boston in the 1840's and to serve as superintendent of the Boston and Maine Railroad.

Hyde — named for the first mayor of Newton, the Hon. J. F. C. Hyde, a descendant of one of the city's 17th century pioneers whose home was in the Newton Highlands area near Crystal Lake.

Lincoln-Elliott — memorializes Abraham Lincoln, emancipator of the American slaves, and John Elliott, apostle to the Indians, who formed the settlement of Nonantum, which means "rejoicing."

Horace Mann — accords tribute to Horace Mann, who established the first permanent Normal School for Girls in the World in West Newton. Considered the father of the state's educational system, Mann made his home at the corner of Chestnut and Highland streets. Schools throughout the United States are named in his honor.

Mason — for David Haven Mason, District Attorney for the state in 1870 as well as a member of the Board of Education. A civic-minded attorney, Mason was a frequent speaker on educational questions. He lived on Homer St., and three generations of his family have attended the Mason School.

Memorial — opened in 1950 and dedicated to the memory of the Newton veterans of World War II, this school is located in the center of what was originally the Oak Hill veteran's housing project.

Murray Road — named after the street in Auburndale where it was built in the early '50's.

Tax Rate Raise—

A public hearing has been scheduled by the Aldermen for 7:45 on Thursday night of next week on the Mayor's recommendation that the tax rate limit for city operating costs be boosted $5.

Since the Aldermen already have approved the budget for this year and for all practical purposes have okayed a $54 tax rate, the hiking of the tax rate ceiling now remains little more than a routine formality.

Streets, Sewer Unopposed At Newton Open Hearings

Public hearings held by the Newton Board of Aldermen on the acceptances of four streets and the construction of two sewers brought no opposition this week at City Hall, where the hearing was held.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Charles O. Richter joined a group of nine residents in urging the acceptance of Mildred road, from Truman road to Elinor road, Newton Highlands. Mr. Richter said that the proposed street is needed for about 30 children from the area who are to be transferred to the Countryside School, where an addition is being completed.

The transfer will result in the saving of one or two teachers at the Oak Hill School since no additional teachers will be required for the transferred pupils at the Countryside School, Mr. Richter said.

Also unopposed were the acceptances of Joseph road, from Farwell street to Albermarle road, Newtonville; Rustic street, from California street northwesterly, Newton and Oliver road, from the accepted portion to Stanley road, Waban, and the construction of sewers in Columbia avenue, from the existing sewer to beyond Old Winchester street, Newton Highlands, and in High street, from Columbia avenue to Jaconnet street, Newton Highlands.

No opposition was presented to requests for licenses to store inflammables by the following: John M. Rufo Associates, 87-89 Adams street, Newton; American Oil Co., by V. Ciulla Sons, at 671 Saw Mill Brook parkway, Oak Hill, and H. H. Hawkins and Sons Co., for 236 Washington street, Newton.

The hearings were conducted by the president, Wendell R. Bauckman, who welcomed a group of students from Newton and Lexington high schools who were present under the direction of A. Raymond Rogers Jr., assistant principal of the Newton High School.

Brookline High 25 Year Class Seeking Alumni for Reunion

The Class of 1933 at Brookline High School will hold its 25th reunion at the Hotel Beaconsfield, Brookline, on May 10 at 7 p. m.

Local residents who are alumni of the High School are asked to contact Mrs. Charlotte Lockwood, 12 Fairfield street, Newtonville.

Big Turnout for Track Team As Tigers Eye Title Repeat

Success breeds success and a team with championship label usually commands a nice turnout of candidates seeking to get some of the class to run off on themselves — or to add a little lustre of their own.

That appears to be the explanation of one of the biggest track team turnouts Newton High School has known in years. Busy these days, working hard and trying to decide whom to keep or let go, are coaches Ed Boyle and Mal Gallagher.

Their job is to beat off challenges who would take from the Tigers the State championship they won so handily last year.

Ninety aspirants turned out for this year's team. They included a number of stalwart point-winners from the 1957 edition along with a fine looking platoon of sophomores. In fact there were several platoons of second-year boys.

Of the veterans showing up there were Larry Smith, Jim Yancey and Von Cooney for the short sprints, along with a likely-looking soph, Dick Aransky; for the 200-yard dash there were Hal Cogen and Mike Hubberman; in the 440 brigade, Charley Stewart, Neil Buchanan and Gerry Kenney.

Captain Scott Brent and Ernie Raymond head the 880 candidates. Also on hand were Fran Woodridge who is dropping down from the mile.

Phil Johnson who started as a 600-yarder, is being groomed for the mile this year. Marty Beckwith, the brilliant high jumper, will also try the low hurdles along with Dick Sperber. Dick Hession, Bill Young and Vern Rollins figure highly in the plans for the high hurdles.

The usual strong field event potential was apparent when the first call for candidates was issued. Shotputters on hand included Gary Snerson, Dick Abrams, Ed Needell, Garrett Morrison and Joe Gleason.

A number of the sophomores

Tiger Golfers

Newton High's golf team will open its 1958 season April 21 against Belmont High at Belmont. Nine matches are carded for the Tiger linksmen, with the season winding up May 21 when Newton plays host to Andover Academy.

The schedule is as follows: April 21, at Belmont; April 28, Waltham, here; April 28, Watertown, here; May 1, at Brookline; May 5, at Waltham; May 12, at Watertown; May 14, Belmont, here; May 19, Brookline, here; May 21, Andover Academy, here.

Fitz and Buckley Lead SHHS Nine

Jim Fitzpatrick and Jim Buckley were elected co-captains of the Sacred Heart High School baseball team and Bob Nangle and Bill Hart were named co-captains of the 1958-59 basketball team at a meeting of lettermen.

All four are outstanding stars and all four have won the confidence of their teammates not only by their outstanding play but by their qualities of leadership as well.

have indicated their desire to try the broad jump. Veterans on hand will be Young, Dave Blomberg and Howie Haywood. Joe Sauro and Bill Aransky are Tiger specialists. Woodridge and John Todrin have a wealth of pole vaulting experience and again there are some promising sophs.

The outdoors season opens April 23 when Boston Technical, Charlestown and Watertown High come to Dickinson Stadium for a quadrangular meet.

Newton Looms as Contender For Suburban Baseball Title

Don't blame the lack of preparation if this year's Newton High School baseball team doesn't go all the way — not only by winning the Suburban League championship but the State title as well.

While coaches and players on other squads have been bewailing the weather which was bad for the early diamond birds in this part of the country, the Tigers have not had to worry about such matters.

They were among the first teams to start thinking in a baseball way this year, and Coach Howie Ferguson has had his charges at work since March 1.

The squad he assembled on that date numbered 150. Of course, that was finally cut down to manageable proportions. But if it did one thing, it showed there's a lot of interest in baseball among the Newton High population.

82 Trackmen Out At Newton High

Eighty-two candidates, one of the largest Newton High outdoor track groups in recent years, is currently preparing for the season's opening meet on April 23. Those trying for the team include:

Shopping around gives me a wonderful opportunity to meet interesting people. I spent a delightful hour talking to Miss Catherine Dennehy about the new camp site for the Algonquin Day Camp which she has owned and directed for 18 years. I am sure she is no stranger to most of you, having entrusted your children to her loving care throughout the years. For years the camp was located on the campus of Mt. Ida College, and as it

Greg Kelley Runner-up To Nat. Champ

Gregory Kelley, 14-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Kelley of 1032 Centre street, Newton Centre, placed second to Jim Short, 20, of California, in the finals for the National Junior Men's U.S. figure skating championships.

The competition was held in Minneapolis. Gregory's fine showing helped the Skating Club of Boston to win the Harned Trophy for the club accumulating the largest number of placements.

Gergory is an eighth-grader at Sacred Heart School.

Huge Turnout of Little Leaguers

More than 275 aspirant baseball stars, the largest registration in the Newton North Little League's history, have signed for tryouts.

They will compete for 60 berths in the Little League "majors" and "minors." Sixty more positions become available through a "farm" league, if enough adult supervision is obtained.

Boys can still register at 9 a.m. Saturday at the first tryouts at Albermarle Playground.

Boys accompanied by a parent can have their certificates signed at that time and will be able to take part in the first day activities.

grew, there was a constant search for the ideal camp site. At last, Miss Dennehy has found 25 acres of perfect camp ground in Weston, with real camping facilities to carry through the extensive program including boating and swimming under the most rigid supervision. Live animals to love and care for. Full course luncheons and accommodations for all indoor and outdoor activities. With completely separate nursery areas for the wee little tots. Miss Dennehy's enthusiasm is unbounded, and she will be happy to answer any questions concerning the most exciting summer in your child's life. At the Algonquin Day Camp.

With the lawns turning green and the crocus in bloom. Spring is officially here and garden planning is in order. Clapper's is well known as Newton's Garden Shop and small wonder everything is right there under one roof. Seeds, bulbs, fertilizers, sprays, tools and most important, good sound advice to make your yard the showplace you have always dreamed of.

$2500 Damage In Home Fire

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sullivan at 50 Broadway, Newtonville, was damaged to the extent of $2500 in a fire early this week.

Firefighters battled the flames in the cellar for nearly three hours after Mr. Sullivan smelled smoke and called the Fire Department. Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr. said the fire started because of careless disposal of rubbish in the cellar.

"That's No Commuter; That's Me," Says B&M's McGinnis

If President George Alpert of the New Haven Railroad and Newton happens to get red in the face every time you mention the annual report of the New Haven Railroad, recently given wide circulation—there's a reason.

On Page 8 of the report, there's a picture, used supposedly for the purpose of illustrating the general tenor of the whole report. That tenor is to the effect that the New Haven is losing money by the bale.

The picture shows three persons—two men and a woman—standing on what appears to be a railroad platform.

The caption reads: "To carry commuters such as these it costs your railroad $2 for every dollar received in commutation fares."

Someone identified two of the persons in the picture as Patrick McGinnis, president of the Boston and Maine, erstwhile head of the New Haven, and Mrs. McGinnis.

McGinnis readily identified himself and Mrs. McGinnis in the doleful report. Said President Pat, "Those are no commuters. The lady in the picture is my wife. The man on the right is me (sic) and the fellow in the center is Pete Polson, the chief engineer of the railroad."

McGinnis thought the picture was taken either at Rowayton or Noroton Heights, Conn.

The head of the New York advertising firm which assembled the sad volume said he wanted the figures to be faceless and completely anonymous. There was no immediate comment from Newton's Mr. Alpert.

Neither did the New Haven say whether the advertising firm would be retained to get out the next annual New Haven report.

Begin Nursing Careers

Patricia A. Finn and Merle H. Steinmetz, both 1957 graduates of NHS, were among 36 freshmen students at the B.U. School of Nursing welcomed into the nursing profession at the school's annual recognition ceremony.

Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Finn of 56 Colgate Rd., Lower Falls, and Merle, daughter of the Jack Steinmetz of 80 Eastbourne Rd., Newton Centre, appeared with their class for the first time in complete school uniform.

200 Exhibits At Day Science Fair

The annual Science Fair at the F. A. Day Junior High School was held recently in the school auditorium with over 200 students participating in the exhibits.

Judges included three members of the Newton High School science department, headed by Dr. Albert Nave, chairman, as well as faculty members from Weeks, Warren, Bigelow and Meadowbrook.

First prize winners were David Devore, John Seeton, Richard Bluestein, Howard Wensley, Donna Lavers and Marilyn Haley, Malcolm Morrison, and Donald Rossman and Richard Nathan.

Two Newton Men Pass Civil Service Exams

Two Newton residents were among a group of 52 men and women who passed the civil service examination for promotion to employment office manager in the state Division of Employment Security. They were Louis Nelson, 54 Jerome avenue, West Newton, and Parker B. Robinson, 48 Fessenden street, Newtonville.

Chamber's Member Drive Reports 90 New Members

The 1958 membership campaign of the Newton Chamber of Commerce has netted 90 new members, bringing the total business firms from 250 to 340 Chamber members.

It is quite evident that the end result of this campaign will result in a little over 100 new members for the Chamber. There are still a few prospects which have signed their desire to become members and require only one more call by the workers.

The successful result of this membership campaign is due primarily to the efforts of the more than 50 Chamber members who personally contacted hundreds of prospects.

The member workers whose efforts resulted in gaining these new members are as follows: Phil Bram, of the Bram Tire & Battery Co.—12 new members; Charles Fitzgerald, of the Newtonville Branch of the Newton-Waltham Bank—8; Harold Moyer of the Moyer Chevrolet Co.—8; Tom Dillon of the John T. Burns Co.—6; Giles Mosher of the Newton-Waltham Bank—5; Frank Battles, Jr., of Frank Battles, Inc.—4; David Eades of Raytheon Mfg. Co.—4; Grenfell Swin of the Gamewell Co.—4; Victor Nicolazzo of the Bigelow Oil Co.—3; William Paul of Barron's, Inc.—3; David Deacon of Foto-Beam, Inc.—3; Philip Harris of Sherman Paper Products Co.—2; Dr. Charles Haney of Haney Associates—1; Payson LeBaron of LeBaron Hardware—1; Richard M. Thompson of Everett M. Brooks Co.—1, plus a number of other firms who signed up as a result of the membership campaign kickoff dinner meeting, and other new members who were the results of the efforts by the executive director.

Plans are under way to appoint a full time membership committee whose job it will be to contact prospective members on a year-round basis. Any member wishing to serve on

Newton Thief Heavy Smoker

A thief who apparently felt that he just had to have a smoke broke into a garage in Auburndale over the weekend and stole cigarettes and matches valued at $75.

The garage of Howard E. Mubbell, 11 Central Terrace, Auburndale, was the scene of the break, which was managed by removing a padlock.

Tomorrow's Boys Topic For Talk

"Building Tomorrow's Boys Today" is the title of the talk to be delivered by William H. Montgomery, Sr., at the annual meeting of the Newton Boys' Club to be held next Tuesday at the Nonantum Library auditorium.

Montgomery is regional director of the Boys' Clubs of America, and has been active in youth activities since 1921. An alumnus of Columbia University and the Wilmington Law School, he formerly served as a chief probation officer and juvenile court judge.

Jerry R. Angino, club president, will speak on the recent growth of the Newton group and the facilities and services now available.

Assets Increase Over One Billion Dollars in Year

The 176 Co-operative Banks in Massachusetts showed a steady growth in business in 1957, according to Oscar B. Keith, president of the Massachusetts Co-operative Bank League.

During last year the assets of Co-operative Banks throughout the State increased more than $56,000,000 bringing the combined total assets to over one million dollars, Mr. Keith reports.

Under Massachusetts Law all savings in a Co-operative Bank are insured in full, and better-than-average dividends are paid periodically to the depositors.

Drive for Funds Raises $206,908

A total of $206,908 has been raised in cash and pledges toward the present goal of $600,000 which is the first phase of the $1.5 million 150th anniversary development program of the Andover Newton Theological School at Newton Centre.

Announcement of the progress of the drive was made by Roy F. Williams, executive vice president of Associated Industries of Massachusetts and Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., vice president and treasurer of H. F. Hood and Sons, co-chairmen of the drive.

The Rev. Dr. Herbert Gezork, president of the school, said the aim of the immediate effort will be to raise $600,000 of which $150,000 would be for faculty support, $100,000 for scholarship aid, and $350,000 toward the building program.

The latter, he said, includes a new married students dormitory, new student center, and the modernization of several buildings on the 40-acre hill-top campus.

The school is the oldest Congregational and one of the oldest Baptist seminaries in America. Both were merged in 1931 to form the present Andover Newton Theological School.

The Development Program is part of a long-range program of the school to help fill the 15,000 vacant Protestant pulpits throughout the United States.

America's Betrayal Sought By Reds, Says FBI's Hoover

His New Book Describes "Masters of Deceit"

Red Party Chiefs at the top live well, far beyond the screams of those being sacrificed in the vortex of cannibalistic depravity for furtherance of the Party goals, according to J. Edgar Hoover in his new book, "Masters of Deceit," which is sweeping toward the top of the best seller list this week.

In New England the book is to be serialized in the Sunday Advertiser and the Boston Daily Record beginning this Sunday (April 13).

Just published by Henry Holt & Co., New York, it's his first book in 20 years and the top G-man crystallizes in sharp, effective scenes just how the Communist forces are driving relentlessly toward the seizure of power in the United States... along a bloody trail of execution, lechery, deceit and betrayal. A mass of undercover couriers, escape routes, hideouts and clandestine meetings

ROSAMOND DROOKER

Miss Drooker Presents Recital

Rosamond Drooker, of Chestnut Hill, Newton, will give a recital of organ works by J. S. Bach over radio station WERS-FM from 8:15 to 9 p.m. next Tuesday. The program will consist of the Prelude and Fugue in C Minor, the Pastorale, the "Little" Fugue in C Minor, and the Prelude and Fugue in B Minor.

Miss Drooker, a graduate of Radcliffe College and Radcliffe Graduate School, has attended the Longy School of Music in Cambridge, the Fontainebleau School of Music in France, and the Organ Institute at Andover. She was, for two years, a Fulbright grantee to Austria, where she studied organ and harpsichord at the Vienna Academy of Music.

Sacred Heart Seeks Repeat In Catholic Baseball League

Sacred Heart High School, eyeing a repeat performance on its acquisition of the 1957 Catholic Suburban League championship crown, will field five starting regulars in its 1958 baseball campaign.

Topping the holdovers with championship experience will be pitchers Jim Fitzpatrick and Bob Nangle, infielders Jim Buckley and Ozzie McConathy and outfielders Dick Quinn and Paul Fitzgerald.

Coach Hank Barry thinks he has the best one-two pitching punch in the league in Fitzpatrick and Nangle. A year ago they turned in a card which saw 11 wins against only two losses.

One of Hank's toughest jobs will be to find a catching replacement for the sterling Bob Barry.

McConathy became familiar with both second base and shortstop duties a year ago. Quinn seems to be a favorite to return to his regular left field post while Fitzgerald is expected to nail down the right field post.

Here's a run-down on the candidates out of which Barry hopes to construct another winning machine:

Seniors: Jim Fitzpatrick, Jim Buckley, Mike Morrissey.

Juniors: Paul Fenton, Bob Nangle, Joe Canning, Paul Fitzgerald, Walter Milford, Bob Montana, Fran Scialano, Paul Doyle, Osbourne McConathy, Richard Quinn.

Sophomores: Robert Murray, Arthur Herring.

Talk On Medical Foundation For Community Chest Dinner

The Newton Community Chest, Inc., will hold its 26th annual meeting next Wednesday, with Dr. James W. Faulkner, president of the Medical Foundation of Metropolitan Boston as principal speaker.

H. Donald Norstrand, president, will introduce the speaker at the dinner to be held at the Waban Neighborhood Club at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Faulkner is medical director of the Homberg Infirmary at M.I.T. and will explain the purposes of the Medical Foundation, which was organized last year to provide community pooling of funds for medical research.

New officers and directors will be elected following the report of the nominating committee by Anthony Jauregui, chairman. Treasurer George L. White will present the financial report.

Dinner reservations may be made at the Chest office, 1990 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls.

Israel's Birthday To Be Observed

The traditional Jewish holiday period of Passover, which started last week, "precedes by happy coincidence" the big celebration here of Israel's Tenth Anniversary with a rally at Boston Garden on Sunday evening, April 27, according to Benjamin Ulin of 121 Monadnock road, Newton Centre, chairman of the Greater Boston Committee in charge of the observance.

Pageantry, drama, music and speeches by nationally-known figures will be on the program at the Garden. There will be no admission charge, and tickets are still available.

Atlantic Refining Tax Appeal Will Get Hearing Soon

The Atlantic Refining Co. has conceded Newton's assessors were right in fixing the valuation on property it owns on Route 128, Newton Lower Falls, but has appealed to the State Appellate Tax Board on the question of the law involved.

A hearing before the State board will be held next month.

The board of assessors assessed the land for $117,950; a restaurant on the land at $75,000 and a gasoline station for $14,000.

The company contends that inasmuch as the land has been taken by the State for highway purposes, Newton has no right to collect taxes.

The city is represented in the case by Assistant City Solicitor George J. Elbaum. The firm of Powers and Sherman of Needham represent the appellant.

Chestnut Hill Man Charged

A hearing will be held next Tuesday before Judge Donald E. Mayberry in Newton District Court on a complaint charging Benjamin Goldstein, 40, of 132 Algonquin road, Chestnut Hill, with illegal surgery.

Goldstein was held in $3000 bonds for the hearing after he had pleaded not guilty. Victim of the surgery, police alleged, was a 30-year-old Fitchburg divorcee, mother of three children. She was hospitalized following the alleged operation.

Harvard Professor Discusses Russia

"Some Misconceptions About Russia," was the subject of a talk by Professor Harold Berman of the Harvard Law School to the Newton Wellesley Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom at a recent meeting held at the home of Mrs. Roger Bennett, 44 Valley Road, Wellesley Hills.

Prof. Berman, who is a member of the Russian Research Center of Harvard, suggested that people who live under an evil system are not necessarily conscious of wearing the yoke of slavery. He found the Russians to be peaceful, tolerant people, curious about America.

Mrs. James Lewis of 38 Brookdale Road, Newtonville, read a message from the WIL national office in Washington, urging all members to oppose two bills which would permit United States sharing of nuclear weapon blueprints with other countries, thereby increasing the likelihood of accidental nuclear war in the league's opinion.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Henry B. Brainard, of Dover, assisted by Miss Geraldine Gordon of Wellesley. Mrs. Erich Lindemann of 51 Crescent avenue, Newton Centre, presided.

Dr. Frank Maurer At B.U. Discussion

Dr. Frank W. Maurer of 301 Lake avenue, participated in an engineering management round-table held Monday at Boston University.

Sponsored by the College of Industrial Technology, the discussion was conducted as a corporate shareholders' meeting.

Dr. Maurer, assistant to the vice-president of engineering at Arthur D. Little Co., was one of four representatives of industry.

Mayor Seeks ICC Order to Continue B & A Highland Line Operation Until MTA Takes Over; M & B Promises Fast "Rush" Service

Only two weeks to go!
As May 1 moved closer on the calendar this week, Highland Branch commuters, facing officially-okayed abandonment by the B & A Railroad of the service now provided, found their future transportation requirements riding in the realm of doubt and confusion.

Developments were concerned with the question of getting them to Boston and back; the commuters themselves made the abandonment and its implications the most popular topic of Highland Branch smoker conversation; municipal and bus transportation officials strove to find the best answer to the problem.

Here was the situation just 14 days before the railroad planned to quit its operation of the Highland Branch:

WEST NEWTON WOMEN directing cake sale to be held for the Multiple Sclerosis fund at Filene's in Chestnut Hill from 9:15 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. tomorrow are Mrs. Milton Kay, left, and Mrs. Stephen Gordon, right. Miss Betty Ray, seated in wheel chair and a multiple sclerosis patient, is getting the first tidbit.

(1) Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., in a move paralleling that of Brookline officials, sought to have the ICC modify its ruling in such a way that the railroad would be obliged to continue operation of the branch during the change-over to MTA operation.

(2) The Mayor sought through a questionnaire to the commuters themselves to determine their suggestions and tentative plans for the "no-service" period.

(3) The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway, seeking a boost from 20 to 25 cents on its single fares disclosed before the State Public Utilities Commission at the State House its plans for the interim period. The M & B's spokesmen said they would be able to give 15-minute morning and evening rush-hour service to some 100,000 passengers a year, covering most, although not all, those now using the Highland Branch.

Working night and day on the problem Mayor Whitmore explored every means of taking up the slack which the abandonment is certain to create. The MTA figures it will require from 18 months to possibly two years before it will be ready to assume the burden. The right of way must be adapted to its rolling stock; facilities calling for major construction work must be completed officials of the road asserted.

Youth Takes Over Reins For a Day

Boys Invade City Hall As "Officials for Day"

Last week provided several unusual events in the lives of a platoon of youngsters from the Newton Boys' Club when "Boys' Day in Government" was held at city hall. The lads were greeted by Newton city officials and then took over the reins of government for a day.

The youthful invasion was welcomed at City Hall by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., Police Chief Philip Purcell and Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr. The boys were sworn into office by City Clerk Monte G. Basbas.

Jerry Marchand was "Mayor" for the day and he and his young colleagues signed the guest book and were given facts and figures about Newton and its various operations.

The different department heads of Newton escorted each boy assigned to their respective departments and explained to them their particular duties.

At 10 a.m. the boys toured the War Memorial section of City Hall where each memorial to the wars in which the United States participated was explained to them by Mr. Basbas, who is also commander of Post 48 of the American Legion. The youngsters then returned to the Aldermanic Chamber where they were officially welcomed to City Hall by Mayor Whitmore and several department heads. City Clerk Basbas then explained the alderman's duties and procedures.

Elks Install Warren as New Exalted Ruler

Exalted ruler Daniel C. Warren, well known retired insurance broker and his suite of new officers were installed recently by the Newton Lodge of Elks at Elks Hall, Newton. Nearly 400 attended.

Judge David Williams of Concord, past exalted ruler of the Concord Lodge, was the installing officer.

Installed with the new exalted ruler were John F. Lovely, esteemed leading knight; J. Arthur Brouillette, esteemed loyal knight; Stephen J. O'Brien, esteemed lecturing knight; Thomas I. Copping, secretary; D. Walter Kern, p. e. r., treasurer; Dana Foley, tiler; Alfred R. Guzzi, trustee for five years; Michael DeGeorge, p. e. r., alternate delegate to grand lodge convention; W. ## To Cease Using Pleasant St. Dump

The troubles of long-suffering Newton residents living in the Albemarle section of the city too close for comfort to the Watertown dump will soon be at an end.

After 15 years of surveys, reports and bickering, the Watertown town meeting voted this week to construct an incinerator at a cost of $675,000.

They will also attempt to sell all but 10 acres of land at McNamara's dump and all land at the Pleasant street dump on the west side of town, about —STOP USING DUMP— (Continued on Page 4)

Anyone Missing Acetylene Tank?

Police seek some ambitious men who left one acetylene tank; one blow torch; one hammer and one pair of work gloves in the hallway leading to the office of Homes, Inc., 313 Washington street, Newton. The equipment was part of the paraphernalia the ambitious men carried to the scene when they decided to tap the Homes, Inc., safe for whatever cash rewards it might contain.

The tank, etc., were abandoned when someone called police attention to "men acting suspiciously" at the Washington street address. The ambitious men had departed swiftly before arrival of police. The knob was knocked off the safe but it was otherwise intact.

2nd Annual Inspection of Homes Is Now Under Way

The second annual "in-service inspection" of homes in Newton was started this week by members of the Newton fire department.

As was the case last year the inspection work will be performed by the fire companies in each of their respective districts. Each day certain fire companies will be assigned to inspection duty and the work will be continued street-by-street until the entire city has been canvassed.

Usually those are the places where fire finds the largest amount of old waste upon which to feed. Most of these materials are worthless and should have been disposed of long ago. The older they become the more susceptible they are to fire.

"Secondly, this type of inspection allows the firefighters to become better acquainted with the various types of buildings in their districts enabling them, in an emergency to act in a more efficient manner, thereby saving needless fire losses.

"In every community that this inspection program has been established the results have shown: (1) reduction in the number of fires; (2) lower fire loss; (3) improved safety conditions.

Among the important items to be checked will be: Electric Fuse Boxes; — for overloads and oversized fuses. Also check for the misuse of —INSPECT HOMES— (Continued on Page 2)

Police Probing Varied Thefts

A wide variety of thefts, ranging from a new car valued at $3,000 to 25 gallons of gasoline, was reported to Newton police early this week.

Joseph E. Keeley, 1354 North street, Walpole, told police that his 1958 auto, which had been driven only 1,500 miles, disappeared from the Austin street, Newtonville, Municipal Parking area Monday.

William Kiley, 108 Jackson street, Newton Centre, told police that four hub caps had been stolen from his car. Two hub caps were taken from each of their cars, it was reported by Joseph Dias, 22 Cheryl lane, Hyde Park; Robert Kirwin, 440 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, and Mrs. Lillian Reed, 212 Tremont street, Newtonville.

The siphoning of 25 gallons of gasoline from a Procter and Gamble Co. truck was reported by Richard Oseworthy of 134 Spiers road, Oak Hill Park. The gasoline was taken while the truck was parked at the rear of 79 Needham street, Newton Highlands.

Ex-Gov. Dever's Death Is Blow To Democratic Election Hopes

Former Governor Paul A. Dever's sudden death will impair Democratic prospects for next fall's State election in Massachusetts.

Dever was the political arbiter who resolved many of the disputes and differences which developed in Democratic councils and at times was responsible for holding the Democratic party together in this State.

He was able to do that partly because the heart condition from which he suffered caused him to put aside his own political ambitions and sit on the sidelines as a youthful elder statesman.

From the time Dever was first elected Governor in November, 1948, until Foster Furcolo won election in November, 1956, Dever largely ran the Democratic party in Massachusetts. For four years of that eight-year span Dever, of course, was out of office.

But from his law office on State street he pulled the strings, directed party policies, and was the motivating force behind the fund-raising Jefferson-Jackson dinner, the annual event he was helping to plan when death suddenly claimed him.

It was Dever who quieted many of the feuds which erupted in the Democratic party when opposing personalities and ambitions clashed head-on.

It was Dever who brought together Foster Furcolo and Senator John F. Kennedy after their differences in the 1954 campaign. It was Dever who arranged for Furcolo and Kennedy to pay warm tribute to each other at the 1955 Jefferson-Jackson dinner as if never a harsh word had occurred between them.

Don't Forget License If You Go Fishing

A reminder to Newton residents who are planning to do any fishing in inland streams, lakes and ponds that they must obtain licenses for 1958 before they drop their lines into fresh water, was issued today by City Clerk Monte G. Basbas.

The fishing season officially opens an hour before daybreak on Saturday morning.

Basbas urged those planning to go fishing this weekend to get their licenses today or tomorrow, pointing out that City Hall will not be open on Saturday.

The fees for fishing licenses are $3.25 for men, $2.25 for women; and $1.25 for children between 15 and 18. Licenses are issued free of charge to persons over 70.

Basbas said that it is not necessary for persons desiring fishing licenses to apply for them personally, adding that anyone may get the permits for them by paying the specified fee.

Aldermanic Committee Urges Rejection of Proposal Aimed At City's Canine Population

A petition by the Newton Council for the enactment of a full-time leash law to curb the freedom of the city's dogs, is slated for rejection by the Board of Aldermen, it was learned by The Graphic today.

The proposal, which was the subject of bitter controversy for a period of weeks during the winter, is due to be acted upon by the Aldermen next Monday night.

A report will be made at that time by the Aldermanic claims and rules committee recommending that the PTA request be denied by the full board. The committee reached its decision on the measure at a meeting Monday night.

Only one committee member recorded himself in favor of the PTA application for an ordinance which would prohibit dogs from running loose in Newton, it is understood. All the other committee members lined up against the petition.

While no formal vote of the full membership of the Board of Aldermen has yet been taken, informal discussions among the city fathers have indicated that the measure is doomed to defeat.

Unless there is a change in plans, no attempt will be made to produce any compromise ordinance which would go even part way toward meeting the request of the PTA Council.

The present disposition of a majority of the members of the Aldermanic Board is simply to reject the petition and not to adopt any substitute measure in its place.

A fight may be made next Monday night to overturn the adverse report of the claims and rules committee but there appears to be little likelihood that it will succeed.

It will mark the second consecutive year that the PTA Council has failed in its attempts to obtain an ordinance which would restrict the liberty of dogs in Newton.

PTA members launched their drive both this year and last because, they declared, dogs have wandered into schools, disrupted classes, have interfered with the measure is doomed to defeat.

Weekly Newspaper Fills Great Need, Publisher Tells College Audience

A community newspaper, such as the Newton Graphic, published in the shadow of a great metropolitan city, is today filling a need which large dailies cannot adequately, economically or physically do, Richard W. Davis, publisher of the Graphic and other community newspapers, told members of the advertising and news staffs of Northeastern University, undergraduate college paper, last week.

Davis, an alumnus of Northeastern, addressed the staffs, faculty members and department heads at the annual President's luncheon tendered by Dr. Carl S. Eli of Newton, president of the University.

In pointing out that the weakness of the daily newspaper is the community newspaper's greatest strength, Davis said that the daily paper cannot effectively cover these suburban areas on the local level without sacrificing state, national government, and international news, and now a new sphere—that of science.

"In fact some dailies are giving more news space to 'satellite townships' than to the towns covered by their own circulation," Davis observed.

"Government has become so tremendously enlarged that to adequately cover it today from the cradle-to-the-grave is a difficult task," he asserted. "Daily papers simply haven't the space in their news columns to begin to cover adequately the urban and suburban areas and the new communities which have sprung up around their perimeters.

"Consequently this leaves an ever-widening void for the community newspaper to fill."

Pen-Pal Program to Draw City's Youngsters Closer

A projected pen-pal program between Newton's elementary schools may soon establish a cultural exchange that will enlighten small fry in the far reaches of Oak Hill or Auburndale as to what life is like in the interior regions of Newton Centre and vice versa.

Third graders at the Emerson School, for example, will describe the climate and customs of Upper Falls in letters to their counterparts in the distant outpost of Nonantum.

Native dress in Newtonville will be described by Claflin boys and girls to their pint-sized correspondents across Commonwealth avenue at Mason.

Instead of exchanging information on the aboriginal customs of Saudi Arabia or equatorial Africa, Newton youngsters will exchange information on studies, sports, hobbies and family life in the city's various villages.

NHS Students Seek Funds Over Field Service Week To Help Exchange Program

Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. of Newton has issued a proclamation proclaiming the week of April 17-24 American Field Service Week in Newton, and has urged all citizens to back the Newton High School's drive for funds to send two Newton students to Europe for the summer and to enable two foreign students to study at Newton High School next year.

The manner in which the money required is to be raised is two-fold. During the school week of April 7-11 the students were asked to contribute, and a series of lectures by the two foreign exchange students studying at Newton High, Marie France from France and Felix Schlepper from Switzerland, were given at three assemblies. The students were asked to buy a share of "world friendship" at a dollar for the first share and fifty cents for each additional share.

A second phase in the drive will take place during American Field Service Week. The committee, headed by Alan Warsaw, has been able to purchase the cookbook, "A World of Good Eating," at seventy-five cents a copy. These attractive books contain recipes from the various European and Asiatic countries.

During the week of April 17-24 about 100 volunteer students will take time off from their vacations to sell these books from house to house at $1.50 each. Though the goal of the drive is to raise $1000, with the support of the citizens of Newton it is hoped that the goal will be surpassed by at least $500.

Mayor Whitmore's proclamation follows:

"Whereas: Friendship and increased understanding among the peoples of the world have been the aims of the American Field Service since 1915, when it was founded as a volunteer ambulance service which carried thousands of wounded in two World Wars;

"Whereas: The American Field Service International Scholarships, which have sponsored thousands of exchange students both to and from America, offer an open door to peace, understanding and world brotherhood between America and her foreign neighbors;

"Whereas: The foreign students in America learn firsthand the many different aspects of our life — of our customs, ideals, interests, and problems, and also broaden our horizons by telling of their countries and daily lives in their own homes;

"Whereas: Newton High

Man Stricken While on Bus

A Wellesley man was the victim of a fatal heart attack while he was a passenger on a bus in Newton, and was pronounced dead on arrival at Newton-Wellesley Hospital Monday.

Daniel G. Sullivan, 47, of 94 Mayo road, Wellesley, collapsed on a bus near Filene's store in the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center. He was taken to the hospital by Patrolmen George F. Slavin, John J. McGuinness and Daniel T. Calnan, who administered oxygen in a vain effort to save him.

Dr. Peter Angelo, medical examiner, said death was due to a heart condition. The operator of the bus was listed by police as John Canon, of 1 Dale street, Wellesley.

Directs Flower Show

Mrs. Allyn T. Gilbert of Oldham road is currently arranging the Flower Show to be held at the Women's City Club of Boston next Thursday. "Spring Comes to Beacon Hill" will be the theme of the show.

School is a long-standing and active participant in the American Field Service, and is currently trying to raise funds for scholarships to enable two foreign students to study at Newton High next year, and also enable two Newton High School students to live in a foreign country next summer;

"Therefore: I, Howard Whitmore Jr., Mayor of the City of Newton, declare that April 17-24 be designated as American Field Service Week in Newton, and hope that all citizens of Newton will support Newton High School in its worthy drive to further world peace."

pennies and metal pieces placed behind flues.

Wiring: — for substandard service and workmanship. Storage of flammable fluids such as fuel oil, turpentine, gasoline, paints, etc., and other easily combustible substances: — to see that they are kept in proper places and containers. Where storage conditions are poor or leaky containers are found, corrections will be required.

Permits and Licenses: — to insure permission for storage of such flammables. Where none are found, occupants will be notified to secure them.

The home inspections are purely a cooperative operation, Chief Perkins emphasized. Under the law, the fire department cannot inspect a single or two-family dwelling without the consent of the residents.

"We are, therefore," said the chief, "asking the full cooperation and permission of every homeowner to allow us to make this inspection for everyone's safety."

"When a firefighter calls at your home, greet him as a friend, for in truth that is what he is because of his interest to save your home and family from fire."

"Let us all work together and prove that we can make Newton a much safer place in which to live, work and play. Start right now to clean up, not burn up," the chief urged.

Boy Officials—

At 11:30 the youngsters enjoyed lunch at the City Hall cafeteria with their local political counterparts also in attendance.

The afternoon was just as exciting for the Newton Boys' Club members. At 12:30 p.m. they boarded the bus to tour the police department. They were personally conducted on their tour by Police Chief Purcell who explained the various departments and the wide-eyed youngsters were deeply impressed with the efficiency of the local police. They then met Judge Mayberry at the District Court and were told of the procedures that are conducted there. Kenneth Prior, district probation officer, explained his work to the boys.

Following the tour of the District Court, the youngsters then returned to the Newton Boys' Club and each youth wrote a review of his impressions of the day.

Throughout the day, the youngsters were keenly interested in each operation of the city government and executive director of the Newton Boys' Club, Samuel Crocetti, stated: "The cooperation and interest of the city officials of Newton was highly impressive. Each of these gentlemen showed a keen interest in the youngsters and generously gave of their time to make the day great success it was. I know that I speak for the president of the Newton Boys' Club, Jerry R. Angino, when I express our sincere appreciation to the City of Newton for a day that was so important and so informative to the boys."

Local Student to Visit Russia

Maynard Goldman, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner S. Goldman of 20 Nobseot road, Newton Centre, will be one of 10 Greater Boston students who will spend the summer in Russia under a reciprocal exchange program between the U. S. and the Soviet Union.

A total of 40 students from this country will make up the party which will leave the U. S. on June 30. Arrangements for the exchange were made in an agreement between the Council on Student Travel, a private coordinating agency for educational travel organizations in this country, and the Soviet Youth Committee, a central USSR organization.

Young Goldman's president of Student Government at the University of Michigan.

The American group will visit Russian cities and collective farms during the nine or ten weeks of the trip.

Goldman graduated from Newton High School with the class of 1955.

with activities on playgrounds and in school yards and molested children on their way to and from school.

While a poll conducted by The Graphic disclosed a strong sentiment on the part of Newton residents for a leash law, opponents of the move showed up in greater force for an Aldermanic hearing on the night of March 17 and put on a much more colorful show than did those supporting the petition.

How much of an impression that made upon the Aldermen is not known, but it is certain that it did not aid the cause of the PTA Council or improve its chances of obtaining the law it was seeking.

Under the terms of the petition submitted by the PTA Council, unleashed dogs would not have been allowed off the property of their owners unless accompanied by and under the control of a responsible person.

West Newton Savings Bank Deposits Up 10 Per Cent

Total assets of $24,500,000, increased by $2,500,000 during the past year, were reported at the annual meeting of the West Newton Savings Bank. President Kenneth W. Rogers said that deposits increased 12 per cent during the last 12 months to reach a new high of $21,250,000 or a gain of $2,250,000 for the year.

In the brief period of four years, the West Newton bank has gained six places in rank according to size as measured by Total Assets reported to the Savings Bank Association by the 188 Savings Banks of the Commonwealth. A gain of four places was recorded during the last year alone. Growth of the bank has been due in no small measure to the very satisfactory progress of the branch office recently opened in Wayland. Deposits of the Branch already exceed a million and are steadily increasing.

Report of Treasurer, Robert P. Lurvey, showed gross earnings up 18 1/2 per cent and expenses related to gross income down 1 1/4 per cent compared with figures reported March 31, 1957. Based on these figures, the indications are that the 3 1/2 per cent dividend for West Newton Savings Bank is well protected at prevailing rates. Corporators of the Bank elected Cornelius J. Maguire and William A. Waldron as new Trustees. Both are residents of Wayland. Trustees Archibald G. Barron Benjamin J. Bowen, William F. Chase, Roland F. Gammons and Charles J. A. Wilson were re-elected for a three year term.

Highlights and Headlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS — On Monday, April 7, during S-Block, approximately one hundred juniors and seniors received envelopes that contained the joyous notice that they had been elected to the National Honor Society. Jeremy Alperin, Joan Andler, John Arduino, James Bachman, William Baumann, Judith Becker, Reiner Beeuwkes III, Mark Berenson, Alan Berger, Ed Berger, Malcolm Bessom, Martin Bialow, Barbara Blake, James Clark, Richard Cohen, Barbara Dubins, Bettina Fredrick, Elliot Gardner, Peter Gillespie, Paul Gleason, Ernest Glickman, Carol Goldberg, Patricia Hampe, Anne Hovey, Gary Hicks, Jane Hirschfeld, Sally Holdbridge, Martha Hume, Alice Jacobson, Robert Kantar, Marsha Katsoff, Marilyn Klein, Olga Langille, Mary Ann Lawson, Eric Lief, Roberta Litzerman, Sonya Loeb, Frank Manguso, Robert Masow, Richard McCarthy, Daniel Morrison, Loraine Newstadt, Nancy Oncley, Sue Ostroff, Sophie Panagiotopoulos, Geraldine Pelzer, Norman Phillips, Dwight Rideout, Maria Salvia, Barbara Sandberg, Nancy Scammon, Steve Secunda, Clinton Shaw, Sue Sholkin, Peter Shrier, Carol Shulman, George Smith, Minda Tessier, William Trumble, Clare Vaccaro, Helen Van Keuren, Sidney Vogel, James Warner, Irma Warshaver, Allan Warsowe, Robert Webber, Virginia Weber, Ellen Weiss, Marion Young and Margaret Zottu were the seniors, and Elizabeth Anderson, Elna Anderson, Mary Auryansen, David Ballen, Ed Bayard, Judy Bedrick, Bennett Blumenberg, Ed Brown, Gerald Burg, Elaine Cocotas, Harold Cohen, Phil Corsi, Robert Craig, John Derr, Neil Driscoll, Ed Fineberg, Karin Franseen, Jane Gilbert, Michael Greenwald, Harriet Hoffman, Ann Holmes, Carol Isenberg, Sylvia Keller, Etheline Lane, Howard Levine, Tom Martin, Frank Maurer, Vincent Mazzola, Linda McKenney, Barbara Parkhurst, Nancy Preston, Marlene Richter, Janice Rideout, Gerald Rogell, Linda Jane Rubin, Hellmut Seidenberg, Mary Small, Robert Snyder, Arthur Tennenbaum, William Vacchon, Wayne Wedekind, Susan Williams, Jean Winer, and Larry Yeo, the juniors, who reported to Room 137 immediately for a short meeting with the faculty advisors and past members of National Honor Society. This Monday, a rehearsal of the ceremony which will be performed on April 30, was held in the auditorium.

Winner of the National Math Test at Newton High was taken by approximately one hundred students at the end of March is Felix Schlapfer. In a test where the incorrect answers were counted as minus points, Felix ranked highest of all the Newton pupils. Leading the junior class was John Derr. Seniors Standouts in yesterday's Newtonite were Bethal Billzekian, Sue Sholkin, Ed Berger, and John Deming. The paper is writing short personality sketches on the senior standouts rather than lists of the activities in which the students are engaged.

Assemblies are the rage at Newton High. As a result of an investigation made by a subcommittee of the Civics Committee, several assemblies are being presented to the three classes at the high school. Alan Paulson's committee has suggested that next year well-known lecturers from the colleges in and around Boston come to Newton High School in the afternoons to lecture on their particular subject. A forerunner of the proposed plan was an assembly last week about the art work in the book, Moby Dick. Gil Wilson, the artist of Herman Melville's book, flashed a collection of several pictures on the screen in the auditorium. The afternoon was sponsored by the Melville Society.

The American Field Service held a series of three assemblies, one for each grade, last week during S-Block to start off their "Shares in Friendship" drive. Mr. Rogers, Dick Cohen, last year's A.F.S. student, Jerry Rogell, this year's A.F.S. student, and European boys and girls representing France, Sweden, Switzerland, and Germany who are here in America through the American Field Service, and Al Warsowe, chairman of the drive, spoke on the various days. During the assemblies, pledge cards were passed to the students asking them to buy shares in friendship. The group working on the drive is trying to raise $1000 to bring two students to Newton High next year and send two Newtonites, in return, to Europe.

Also in line with the assembly was a concert given by the Navy Band during a Wednesday home-room period. Under the leadership of Admiral Richardson, the group of almost thirty sailors entertained the Newton juniors with selections ranging from classical pieces to rock and roll to dance music to jazz. The assembly was greeted with rounds of enthusiastic applause from the juniors, and most students considered it an excellent way to start off a school day.

With fourteen offices available to students in the junior class who wish to run for office for their senior year and a large number of offices open to present sophomores for next year, the election committee of the Civics Committee is busy preparing all details for the campaigns. The primary elections were held yesterday.

AFTER-CLASS — Lou Shapiro and Felix Schlapfer of the Newton High Chess Club have qualified for the State Schoolboy Chess Team.

Ruth Gesmer, president; Kathy Morse, treasurer; and Madalaine Totaro, Margaret Snow and Joannee Arcuri of the Future Teachers of America Club recently traveled to Natick High with the club advisor. There were almost six hundred students from all over the state at this meeting. They represented Future Teachers' Clubs. College boys and girls from the Student National Education Association were also present. The group was taken on a sightseeing tour of the modern building, and the state officers and other speakers greeted the large group. The teachers separated from the pupils and went into workshop groups for the rest of the morning. Lunch was served in the cafeteria and in the afternoon, speakers from the NEA in Washington addressed the assembly. A skit of a first grade classroom scene was produced by the members of the Walpole Future Teachers Group.

At one of the last math club (Alpha Gamma Tau) meetings, a panel discussion on sputniks and rockets was led by Dushan Mitrovich, Jim Draper, Elliot Gardner and Reiner Beeuwkes. Felix Schlapfer spoke about the Swiss school system in regard to its math program. He explained that the Swiss high school student graduates with a better knowledge of math than his American counterpart. This is because the study is more concentrated in the junior highs and the standards are set for the highest rather than the average pupil.

More recently, the math club, with its sponsor and the Newton teacher of the data processing course, saw IBM's computer No. 650 at work. The club had previously prepared and programmed two problems before going into Boston. The club members solved the problems themselves and then checked their answers against the machine's answers. The math club plans to discuss and evaluate this trip. The club also took a trip to Weston High with the Brookline Math club to hear Mr. Berkeley speak on symbolic logic.

Jim Bachman, a senior in third year Spanish, and Dorothy Gurvitz, a junior in second year Spanish, will represent Newton High in the Wellesley College Spanish Contest in May. Oral questions concerning Simon Bolivar and Venezuela will comprise most of the competition.

THE OUT-DOOR TYPE — Gail Spuler, Brenda Mann, Sandy Van Steenberg, Pat Howard, Priscilla Thurston, Barbara Boyle, Ann Hokmes, Jane Kudisch, Eleanor Norton, Marjorie Gilmartin, Helene Gilmartin, Judy Moreau, Terry Martin, Blanche Feeley, Maxine Cohen, Mary Oliveri, and Esther Wax received letters from the girl's gym department for participating in the winning basketball class teams in the intramural games.

COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER and the important part it plays in the life of the area it serves was the topic of discussion at the annual Presidents Day luncheon tendered by Dr. Carl S. Eli of Newton, president of North eastern University, to members of news staff of the college undergraduate paper. Here, left to right, Dr. Eli, Joan Hearn, news re-write editor; Richard W. Davis, Graphic publisher and guest speaker, and Michael V. Leonard, Jr., editor, scan news content and layout of Newton Graphic.

munity newspaper to fill," he continued.

"The community newspaper today, concentrating as it does on local government, school, social problems and civic needs, becomes more than ever a necessary part of community life and communications. We have the bread-and-butter job of keeping people informed of the interests closest to them and effecting their pocketbooks," Davis told his listeners.

"The metropolitan paper today is not nearly as close to its potential readers as is the community newspaper and consequently does not have the devoted readership. If you want to know what happened at the aldermanic or town meeting, board of education or parent-teacher meeting, you can only find it in your community weekly," he stated.

"Insofar as the daily is concerned it is harder for the reader to find out what is going on in his respective town or community than to find out what Krushchev is doing," Davis continued.

"Because the community newspaper has this loyalty of readership almost unique in the media field it likewise offers a powerful and effective advertising voice for merchants. It is the one vehicle that guarantees a home delivery that is tailored to the community or shopping area it serves," the Graphic publisher said.

"Since it achieves positive penetration at the local buying level, the community newspaper registers greater impact at far lower cost than media with widely dispersed circulation that is neither required nor beneficial. In other words the advertiser buys no waste

Members of the association and their friends have been invited to a reception tea and exhibit by the Institute of Contemporary Art at 230 The Fenway, Boston, on April 24 from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Association members will present an outdoor show of their pictures on Saturday, May 17, at the Newton Junior College. Pictures may be purchased by the public.

circulation in the community newspaper," Davis declared.

Davis stressed the unlimited opportunities available in the newspaper field to serious-minded graduates who are enthusiastic, ambitious, and have a desire to work hard to get ahead.

"The cooperative program of class room study and on-the-job training offered by Northeastern gives the student a practical education in journalism unequalled by any other college. The graduate of Northeastern bent on a career in journalism has a definite head start on the road to success than does his fellow graduate of other colleges," he concluded.

Political Overtones

It was Dever who guided and directed the 1954 Democratic State convention from the background, stepping in to break a log-jam at the conclave when a stalemate developed between Robert F. Murphy and Patrick J. McDonough in their fight for the endorsement for Governor.

In 1956 ex-Governor Dever, Senator Kennedy and Congressional Majority Leader John W. McCormack debated them decided who the Massachusetts delegates would be to the Democratic national convention.

Kennedy and McCormack, of course, have been very influential figures in the State's Democratic party, but both have been too absorbed by their duties in Washington to play the role in political affairs back home that Dever assumed.

Governor Furcolo was Dever's political protege. In the summer of 1952 Dever took Furcolo out of Congress and made him State Treasurer. In the September primary of that same year Dever marshalled his political forces behind Furcolo to pull the latter through his first State-wide fight and give him the Democratic nomination for Treasurer.

At the 1954 State convention Dever backed Furcolo against Congressman Philip J. Philbin for the Democratic endorsement for U.S. Senator and played a prominent part in Furcolo's subsequent fight against Leverett Saltonstall.

When Furcolo was elected Governor in 1956, some political observers expected and predicted that Dever would try to run the State government from behind the scenes. That did not prove to be the case.

Dever's influence was apparent in some of the things Furcolo did. The men holding high State posts in which they had been placed by Dever were retained by Furcolo.

But the major decisions Furcolo made were his own, not Dever's. What transpired between the two men when they sat down privately is not known. All the indications, however, are that Dever let Furcolo do things his way.

Former Governor Dever obviously neither advised nor encouraged Governor Furcolo to advocate a sales tax. That advice came from Governor Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut who told Furcolo a sales tax was the answer to the problem confronting him.

Dever will be sorely missed when rows and disagreements occur within the Democratic party next fall, and a strong, firm hand is needed to iron them out and to bring the warring factions together.

It will not be easy for anyone to fill the role Dever played in Democratic councils. Eventually, someone presumably will step into it. The identity of the person will depend on developments still to happen.

For the present the two top Democratic leaders in Massachusetts will be Senator Kennedy and Governor Furcolo, and Paul Dever no longer will be on hand to smooth out the differences which probably will continue to arise between the two.

Kennedy unquestionably will wield great influence on Democratic affairs in the State, at least for the next year or so. But he won't have the time to devote to matters on the home front that Dever did. He has his senatorial duties in Washington, and as soon as next fall's election is over he'll be looking ahead to the 1960 Presidential campaign. He'll be dividing his attention among the 48 States.

Furcolo will assume a position of increased importance in the Democratic party if he is reelected next November. Should he be defeated, however, Kennedy will remain the dominant figure until a new leader takes over the party reins.

It might be dynamic, colorful Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., who is gaining steadily increased recognition in Washington, who is popular with all elements of the Democratic party in Massachusetts and could well be its candidate for Governor in 1960.

Of all the young men coming along in the Democratic party, O'Neill is probably the best fitted and equipped to fill the gap left by Dever's death, but it's likely to be at least another two years before he moves out to do it.

State Senator John E. Powers, who was extremely close to Dever and has much the same political philosophy as Dever, is another possibility. But Powers' immediate objective is election as Mayor of Boston. The duties of that office are such that if he achieved it, it would to some extent take him out of the sphere of State politics.

The loss the Democratic party suffered through the death of former Governor Dever will be felt more keenly and may become more apparent as the party holds its pre-primary State convention in June and then moves on toward the election campaign next autumn.

When the disputes arise and the quarrels start, there'll be no strong-minded arbiter who can step in as peace-maker. It may be some time before the Democratic party in this State has another one who can function as effectively as did Paul A. Dever.

Young Artists Have Display Work at Library

Young local artists are having their work on display now through mid-May at the Children's Room of the West Newton Public Library.

Theme of the drawings is colonial life in America and the artists are second grade students in the Carroll School.

Pictures are the work of Chippie Shriver, Alec Kevorkian, Lincoln Clapp, of West Newton; Chip Bachrach, Mary Lou MacNeil, of Newtonville; Robert Mandell of Newton Centre; and Martha Porter and Roger Molzen, of Auburndale.

Ceramic animals, created by pupils of the kindergarten and the first grade, are also on display.

Another interesting feature of the exhibit of youthful artists is a display of crayon drawings by boys and girls in China and Japan. These illustrate the theme, "United Nations" which is being carried on in combination with art and other studies.

School authorities hope by this means to start in young minds the idea of being good neighbors through understanding of other countries and customs.

Relationship Of God And Man To Feature Service

The spiritual relationship of God and man will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement."

Scriptural selections to be read include the following from John (17:1-20:21): "These words spake Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven; and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee. . . . Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through thy word; That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that thou hast sent me."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (336:25-26): "God, the divine Principle of man, and man in God's likeness are inseparable, harmonious, and eternal."

Gibbs Says Furcolo Ignoring $400 Million In Cash Because It Must Be Expended Wisely

Governor Furcolo's request for $50 million for unemployment relief is based on his inability to "tamper with" $400 million now available for expenditure, Senator Donald L. Gibbs of Newton declared this week.

Gibbs said the Legislature has already appropriated a vast sum but in doing so it made certain that the Governor would not be able to spend it unwisely. He added that it would "eventually be spent wisely when and if Governor Furcolo and his high level political appointees settle down and start doing their jobs."

In a statement presenting his views on the Furcolo appeal for $50 million, Senator Gibbs asserted:

Of the remaining $20 million, much would be required for proper administrative and supervisory agencies. When what was left got down to the unemployed, only a comparative few — those with Democratic political connections — would benefit financially as the Commonwealth put another back-breaking load on its immediate future," Senator Gibbs said.

Promises Service-

with Brookline and Boston & Albany officials as well as with President John H. Walsh of the M & B.

What success can be obtained in getting the ICC to modify its abandonment permission remains to be seen.

"The city feels that irrespective of all other factors involved," said the Mayor, the ICC should require the railroad to provide interim service as long as possible; that the inconvenience being thrust upon the public by having no service is unreasonable.

"It is primarily for that purpose that a modification of the ICC order will be sought."

In the questionnaire which the Mayor hopes to place in the hands of every Highland Branch commuter, information will be sought concerning the time of the train the commuter now takes and what plans he is making after the railroad ceases operation.

Topping the questionnaire is the following message of the Mayor to the commuters:

"Present indications are that the B & A will abandon service on the Highland Branch Line about May 1, and that for a period of possibly 18 months there will be no commuter service on the line.

"In order to assist and plan as far as possible alternate means of commuting during this "no service" period, the city is seeking the information requested on the attached card.

"It is fully recognized that your plans may not at this time be definitive or may change.

"However, a general picture of the situation from you will enable us to endeavor to assist you in your unfortunate plight.

"Please submit the requested information as fully as you can and return card as soon as possible. Thanks for your cooperation."

Meanwhile, the role the M & B would play in the interest assumed increasing interest for the commuters. Some details of the road's plan were announced at the State House during a hearing conducted by Commissioner Roy C. Papalia of the PUC.

The hearing was on the request of the road to hike its fare from the present 20 cents per single ride to 25 cents.

The M & B is convinced that it can supply 100,000 passengers a year with satisfactory service during the 18 months to two years it will require to adapt the Highland Branch and facilities to MTA operation.

If the increase is granted, according to Commissioner Papalia, it would be the first 25-cent bus fare in New England and the Eastern Seaboard.

"You are apparently pioneers in the 25-cent bus fare in New England and the Eastern Seaboard," said Papalia. "Have you any assurance that the public will accept the 25-cent fare? Or that the reduction in passengers due to resistance to the 25-cent fare will not put your firm in a more unfavorable financial condition?"

The B & M doesn't expect to take over all of the business the B & A is spinning and on which the MTA succeeded in getting adoption papers from the State and ICC. Harrington declared the M & B fully expects that some of the commuters will seek new transportation other than that of the firm he was representing.

The Boston Worcester Street Railway Co., he said, will absorb some. The MTA which already reaches into Highland Branch territory at some points will get others. Other bus lines and private automobiles will also carry Five innings of no hit, no run ball pitched by Newton High's Charlie Snider indicate a banner season for NHS, as they breezed to an easy 10-4 victory over Norwood High in a practice game Monday at the Newton High Field.

The game was Newton's final warmup before opening its Suburban League season against Watertown on Friday.

Snider had smooth sailing for the first five frames, with the visitors managing to get the ball out of the infield three times for easy putouts. In 11 innings to date, including practice games, Snider hasn't allowed a hit or a run, has struck out 16, and issued only six passes on balls.

Newton managed to get off to a 2-0 first inning lead, then scored four more times in the fifth and sixth frames before Norwood came through with its four runs in the seventh.

Asked by the DPU's rate expert, Paul M. Many potential riders, he added, will not to Boston by automobile or to other transportation terminals feeding Boston.

Plan Open House At Jackson Homestead

The last Open House of the season will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday, at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington street, Newton. Everyone interested in fashions will enjoy the exhibit of lovely gowns, fans, shawls, bags, and other accessories loaned by Mrs. C. H. Abrams of West Newton.

One particularly handsome dress was worn at President Lincoln's Inaugural Ball, and is now gracing our charming new mannequin in the parlor. Mrs. E. Graham Bates has added color and distinction to the display with her collection of antique bottles.

There are small scent bottles, including three sea horse designs; a frosted "night cap" bottle with glass; a poison bottle whose bumpy surface warned the user not to reach for it by mistake; larger bottles of many colors, and others with interesting shapes.

Hospitality will be the keynote from the moment you turn in at the gate. As usual Girl Scouts in old-fashioned dresses will greet you at the door, and will serve the refreshments. Mrs. William D. Wellock has assembled a distinguished group of Club Presidents to welcome you in the different rooms.

They are Miss Anne E. Bunker of the Review Club of Auburndale, Miss Theresa L. Cram of the Newtonville Women's Club, Mrs. Thomas F. In the Spring a young lady's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of... clothes... and once again the girls of the Newton Junior's Community Club are busy with plans for their Spring Fashion Show... The show this year promises to be better than ever with spring and summer fashions taken from the racks of the Popular Regent Shop in Newtonville Square. The show will feature many "fun time" outfits and the latest colors and styles to take "milady" to office, dates, or beach parties. This treat in fashions will be shown at the Pierce School on Thursday evening, April the 24th, and for more information I would suggest you contact the Regent Dress Shop...

There is always something new and exciting at Allets Gift Shop to make shopping for gifts an adventure. Have you seen the wonderful array of spring costume jewelry!... Of course, if "your" bride has signed the registry you will have no problems at all... Jean will be able to tell you of her preferences in china and tableware... and then there are unique conversation pieces that would take beautifully to any home, like the huge round bowl in "cracked glass" or the new "bent glass" dishes, flecked with gold. With Mother's Day on the horizon, how about bronzed baby shoes for a sentimental gift... I am sure she would be thrilled with a "Mason Masterpiece in bronze." Drop in at Allets today, you will enjoy just looking around for ideas.

The Lampshade Studio is another charming shop where I love to visit. The girls are always working on some interesting project like, wiring an old piece of driftwood for a unique lamp... or fashioning a bit of silk into an exquisite lampshade... They are very clever.

Say Mom, have you called Miss Dennehy about the Algonquin Day Camp yet? Mabe I can answer some of your questions about the safety factors. All counselors at the camp are well trained and experienced. You will learn that many of them are teachers and related fields whose education and training make them well qualified. A nurse is on duty at all times. The new camp site in Weston has a chlorinated pool with filtered water where all swimming programs are carried on under the supervision of Red Cross Water Front Safety instructors... and a natural pond where boating and fishing is conducted, maintaining the most rigid safety standards.

Sounds like fun. Just talking about swimming seems good. This is the time of year that camera enthusiasts really "live it up"... There is a wealth of natural background material all around us, from the first tulip that blooms to the late summer clambakes... Check over your equipment and make sure you have plenty of film on hand, and for film... service... and tips on professional results... be sure to get acquainted with the folks at Atwood's Camera Shop next to the parking lot at Newton Centre.

Here is an opportunity to ease your overburdened stocking budget... and at the same time get acquainted with a darling little dress shop with a charming young proprietor. Renee's Dress Shop at 433 Centre St., is a lovely shop filled with bright spring time cottons, sports clothes and day time dresses will delight you. Tell Phyllis that I told you to visit her and browse around... and then ask her about the tremendous savings on this "once a year sale on Ironwear Hosiery"... the stocking that is "insured" against runs.

There are the cutest ideas in spring toys for the youngsters at the B. S. Edward Store... Drop in on your way to the marathon and make it a real holiday for the kids by letting them pick out a special treat... Look at the wonderful practice golf sets with full sized clubs... and the specially priced playground ball. The complete new stock is in, so the youngsters will have a grand time shopping.

FIGHT CANCER WITH A CHECKUP AND A CHECK

SHE WAS too weak to speak... this child of eight. But the words she might have said were plain to see in her eyes: "Can't you make me well again, Doctor?"

It's terribly hard... even for a doctor who sees tragedy enough... to watch a child fade from the sunlight of life... a victim of leukemia.

We had succeeded in prolonging her life by many months. But that's not enough! Cancer ranks today as the Number 1 disease-killer of children. We can... we must... find ways to battle it, and win over it.

Research, supported by the American Cancer Society, is striving towards that goal.

Let's give generously to the American Cancer Society and help eliminate this enemy which will take the lives of more than 250,000 Americans in this year alone.

Send your gift—a generous one, if possible—to CANCER, c/o your local post office.

Youth Fellowships Plan Busy Week in Washington

Thirty-six young people, members of the senior high Fellowships of Central Church in Newtonville and the Auburn-dale Congregational Church, will leave Newton for a tour of Washington, D. C., at 8 a.m., Monday, April 21.

Interviews with national figures such as Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey, Senators Lev-erett Saltonstall and John F. Kennedy, Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., and Undersec-etary of State Christian A. Herter, Jr., have been arranged for the group by co-leaders Rev. Walter B. Davis and Rev. Robert E. Holly.

Plans also call for visits with Brooks Hays, national Baptist leader recently returned from Russia, and Cong. Walter Judd, former Congregational mission-ary to China.

A stopover in New York on the way home will provide op-portunity for a tour of the United Nations building, and visits to the East Harlem Pro-Testant Parish and the Congre-gational Service Center.

To earn funds to finance the trip, the boys and girls have held paper drives, covered dis-summer, cake sales and car washes. The holiday will in-clude sightseeing and a Broad-way show, as well as the re-hearsal for Pat Boone's TV show.

Recreation Gives Council Report

The expansion of the summer school program in Newton is causing more families to stay in the city during the hot months, a survey by the Recre-ation Committee of the PTA Council reveals.

Melvin Dangel heads the committee making a study of recreation facilities in Newton in the summertime. An in-terim report on the project was made at last week's board meet-ing.

President Edward C. Uehleir appointed Dr. Thomas Brower to serve as chairman of a com-mittee in charge of liaison be-tween the PTA Council and the Newton School Committee. The annual meeting will be held May 12 at Bigelow Junior High School and will be an open meeting to which the pub-lic is invited. Chairman Mrs. Vincent Hammersten an-nounced that the topic will be "What Are Newton Schools Do-ing for the Academically Tal-ented Child?"

Cub Scouts to Observe Webelos Day April 26

Saturday of next week will be Webelos Day for all Cub Scouts in Newton, Wellesley and Weston. During the afternoon and evening it will be a period for much activity for Cub Scouts who will be 11 years of age before Dec. 31.

The Nobscot Reservation, a 500-acre tract maintained by Norumbega Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, for use by Scouts and Explorers of the Council, will be the site of the programs. Registrations must be in the Norumbega Council office by next Tuesday.

Delay Expected In Ruling on Martin Ouster

No decision is expected from the State Supreme Court for three months in the city's ousting action against John B. Martin.

Although Martin's term expired on Jan. 1 and the city comptroller's job was recently filled by the appointment of Arthur A. Marr, Jr., of Malden, the litigation continues.

City Solicitor Matt B. Jones completed arguments before the Supreme Court recently. Martin was represented by Attorney James V. Fay. The oral arguments before the Supreme bench required two days, and each attorney submitted briefs at their conclusion.

Opposition Registered To Zoning Changes in Newton

Strong opposition was registered this week at public hearings held by the Newton Planning Board and Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee to petitions for changes of zone to return land on North street, Newtonville, to industrial use, and to permit garden-type apartments on Parker street, Newton Centre. Also opposed was a move to amend the ordinance to permit a funeral home in a residential area.

Opposing the request of Thomas F. McDonald for a change from Residence "D" district to manufacturing of Lots 6, 7, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20 on North and Farwell streets, Newtonville were more than 30 residents. A petition signed by 60 persons was also presented in opposition. Four land owners were registered in favor.

Joseph Stafford of 73 Tremont street, Boston, representing the petitioner, claimed that the change of zone would permit the construction of a $100,000 industrial plant on one lot, creating jobs for Newton residents and revenue for the city. He said that when Mr. McDonald purchased the land 12 years ago it was in a manufacturing zone and was changed to residential within 6 months. He added that the land was not suited for residential construction. Others who urged the change were Mr. McDonald and Thomas Dillon of the Burns Co., insurance division.

Attorney William E. Ginsburg, who represented the Granger family, reported that they have 39 lots on Farwell street suitable for homes, which could be spoiled by this change. Earl C. Davis of 109 Farwell street also spoke in opposition.

The problem of old, large houses was presented to the city in the petition of Margaret B. Hughes and others for a change of zone of six lots at Parker, Cypress, and Paul streets, Newton Centre, from Single Residence "C" to Residence "D." Representing the petitioners, William A. Guernsey stated that Mrs. Hughes has a large house which she cannot sell. If the site is changed to Residence "D" a purchaser might be found who would build garden type apartments, he said.

Led by Margaret A. Gorman of 62 Cypress street, six residents opposed the petition, which sought the change of zone for the following lots: 1 and 19 Parker street, 51 Cypress street, and 18 and 24 Paul street.

The petition of Vyvan P. Mackay to gain permission for a funeral home at 465 Centre street, Newton, now in Residence "D" District, brought a split in churches in the area. The petitioner, represented by Atty. William E. Halliday of West Newton, is seeking an amendment to Section 23.4 of the City Ordinances to permit in Residence "D" Zones a "funeral home, provided that the premises are also occupied as principal residence by duly registered and licensed funeral director." Mr. Mackay is also seeking permission to use the dwelling at 465 Centre street for a funeral home.

Three churches were recorded in favor of the petition and one was listed as being opposed. Representative George E. Rawson spoke in favor of the petition. Listed as favoring the funeral home were Rev. Ray A. Eusden, D.D., Elliot Congregational Church; Rev. Paul Uhlinger, Newton Methodist Church; and Rev. Charles N. Pickell, United Presbyterian Church. G. Arthur Chamberlain of 44 Halcyn road, Newton Centre, reported that the Immanuel Baptist Church trustees are reported to the request.

The petitions were held for study.

Tiger Tennis Team Strong

Prospects appear bright for Newton High School's tennis team as it prepares for its coming season. Last year's team was undefeated in regular league competition and lost only to three private schools.

The returning lettermen this year are Nick Charney, who was New England's fifth ranking doubles player two years ago, Phil Currier, and junior Len Bernheimer, who were the 2, 3 and 5 men last year. Whitney Foster, who was number 4, has transferred to Andover.

Last year's junior varsity had an 11-3 record and the j.v. lettermen who are battling for the remaining varsity positions are Steve Butter, Clint Pollack, Mike Butter, Fred Jarrett, Paul Atkinson, Charlie Gordon, Bob Kates, and Dick Goldstein.

The schedule consists of 15 matches plus the state tournament, held late in May. The varsity will face St. Marks, Boston English, Belmont Hill, Boston Latin, Brookline, Andover Academy J.V., Winchester, Middlesex School, and Milton Academy. The opening match is against St. Marks next Wednesday.

Pleads Guilty to Kidnap Charges

Richard E. Thomas, 40, formerly of Cherry street, West Newton, pleaded guilty in Superior Court at Manchester, N. H., to kidnapping and larceny charges. The charges were based on the robbery of a Nashua N. H., five-and-ten-cent store. The case was continued for hearing when the Court learned Thomas was recently paroled after an eight-year sentence in Massachusetts and will remain on parole for 14 years.

House Refuses To Ban City Workers On Elective Jobs

By a roll call vote of 103 to 97, the Massachusetts House of Representatives rejected an effort of Representative George Rawson of Newton, to gain reconsideration of the House action in killing a bill which would prevent a Newton city employee to hold both a city job and a municipal elective office.

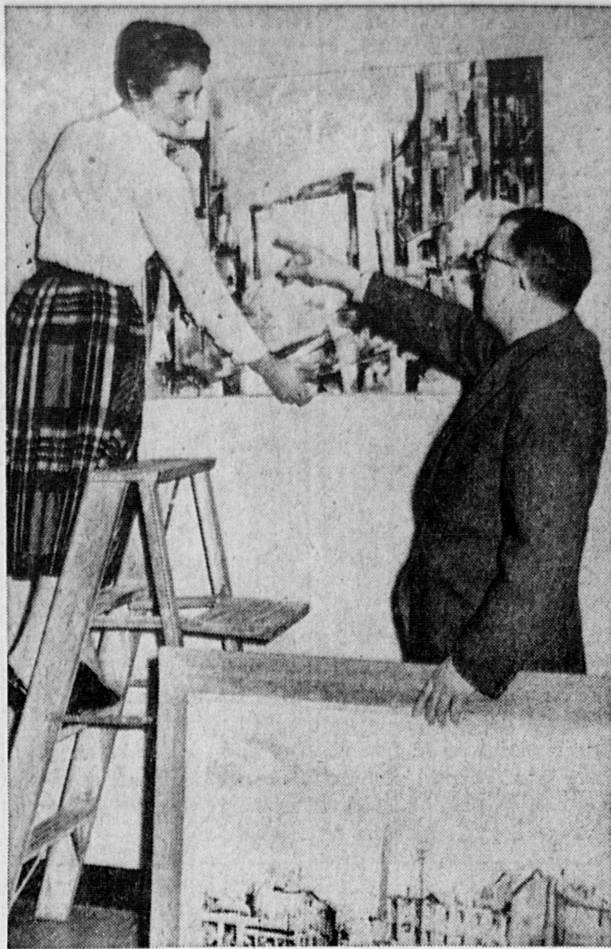

Rawson and Representative Irene K. Thresher voted "yes" on the reconsideration motion. Representative Arthur C. Heaney and John Whittemore did not vote.

The House action evoked from Newton Street Department Foreman Alfred R. Guzzi the comment:

"I am happy that the Legislature did not make second class citizens out of city employees. I'm sure that the endorsement of the bill by city officials contributed to my defeat by 49 votes when I was a candidate for alderman."

NFD Aids Watertown

Newton firefighters and apparatus aided in fighting a two-alarm fire which caused the overcoming of an 8-year-old boy at 21 Elliot street, Watertown. The boy was felled in the living room of the burning house and later revived at the Mt. Auburn Hospital.

THE OLD ARGUMENT about abstract versus representational art breaks out between Ruth Golub and Abe Rothstein during the hanging of paintings for the fourth annual Art Festival at Temple Shalom in West Newton. The show opened on the evening of April 16.

Art Festival Being Held By Temple Shalom Group

The fourth annual Art Festival of Temple Shalom of West Newton is being presented by the Temple Brotherhood Wednesday through Saturday of this week at the temple.

The four-day festival started with opening night ceremonies last night (Wednesday) when judging took place and will conclude with the Beaux Arts Ball on Saturday. Work of many artists in the Boston area is being exhibited. The display features paintings, sculpture, ceramics, needlecraft, and other types of art work.

Temple members will compete for prizes to be awarded by professional artists Ruth Cobb, Lawrence Kupferman, and Robert S. Neuman. Opening night events on Wednesday included the judging, a sherry hour, and a recorded concert, "Music to Watch Paintings By."

The Beaux Arts Ball, which closes the festival, is a first-time event for the Brotherhood, and will be a masquerade in the spirit of the Art Festival. Committee members are Mrs. Maurice Bean, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dephore, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Golub, Mr. and Mrs. Abe L. Rothstein, Mr. and Mrs. Summer Greengross, Mrs. Hyman L. Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Tofias, and Mrs. Leo E. Wolf.

Robert K. Wulff of 162 Mt. Vernon street, Newton, recently was initiated into Delta Sigma Rho, an honorary forensic fraternity at Colgate University. A member of the Colgate debating team, Robert also has been named to the dean's list at the university because of outstanding scholastic graduates. He graduated from Newton High School two years ago and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wulff.

Don Coyote, story-teller and children's entertainer, is the producer and master of ceremonies of the show, which features music, comedy, pantomime and a puppet show. Sixth graders from the sponsoring schools will don animal masks and pantomime a folk tale as part of the audience participation portion of the show.

Children will help manipulate the life-size puppets, The Brahmin and The Tiger. There will also be a Feather Dance and a Lying Tournament referred to by Davy Crockett IV.

All youngsters attending are eligible for one of ten prizes in the Crazy Hat Contest. They must design, make and wear a hat to the show.

"Use balloons, tin cans, banana peels or whatever," says Don Coyote, "the wilder the better."

Special guests will include Susanna, a semi-wooden Indian girl, and Sir Harvey Hirsute, the gorilla who went to Oxford.

Mrs. Sidney L. Shadovitz, program chairman of the Countrywide PTA, is coordinator of the event. Tickets may be obtained from PTA members or at the door.

Newton Listed $7,810,000 in New '57 Building

Newton was ninth, one place behind neighboring Waltham, in the value of new construction, recorded during 1957 in the various cities and towns of the Commonwealth according to figures released by the State Labor Board.

Among the important projects in Newton were two dormitories valued at $1,786,000.

Topping the list for 1957 in number of family units was Springfield with 645. Other communities with the total they listed were Framingham, 631; Brockton, 470; Boston, 396; Peabody, 359; Worcester, 338; and Waltham, 320.

In Newton a total of 160 permits were issued for $7,810,895 worth of new work including accommodations for 320 families.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

I wonder how many times a plumber has been called because the HOT and COLD markings on the water faucets have been reversed? (Aggravating thought, isn't it?) Well, a lot of unnecessary TV service calls have been made, too . . . to replace an unplugged power cord, or (more often) because the set owner had a misunderstanding of how to operate the controls.

With the coming of color TV, new kinds of control knobs have increased the chances of these misunderstandings. Color is like a new dimension, and the average TV owner cannot be expected to be an "old hand" with it just because he knows how to operate his old black-and-white set.

The new RCA Victor Color TV sets have gained many friends with their two simple controls for color (in addition to the regular TV controls). The Color Control knob adjusts for color intensity—the strength of color you want. The Hue Control knob adjusts for desired color values—the balance of reds and greens.

These foolproof color controls are just two of the many reasons why we urge you to choose RCA "Living Color" for your living room. In addition to the finest black-and-white reception, you get beautiful life-like color reproduction . . . sparkling vivid color detail. From soft pastels to the most vibrant tones, the color comes to life on RCA. Come in and talk color with us now!

Construction Site Invaded By Thief

Newton police report that a thief stole a ramjet gun used in construction work and 450 cartridges from the site of the dormitory being constructed on the campus of the Andover-Newton Theological School on Herrick road in Newton Centre sometime Sunday night or Monday.

The gun and 150 .22 caliber cartridges were taken from the construction shed at 217 Herrick road, which was entered by prying off the hasp of the padlock during the night, Eric Erickson, foreman for the William H. Porter Co., Watertown, reported.

Three hundred cartridges and $13 worth of tools were taken from a cabinet in the basement of the unfinished building, it was reported. The investigation was by Patrolman George F. Slavin.

Mrs. Genevieve Oncley, member of the Newton School Committee, will participate in a panel discussion on "Hot Potatoes For School Committees! How To Handle Them" on May 6 at the Seminar for School Committeemen to be held at the Boston University Campus. The session will be the fifth in a series of six in the annual Seminar sponsored by the Massachusetts Association of School Committees.

Newton Shocked by Worst Tragedy in Recent Years

Newton this week was shocked by one of its worst tragedies in recent years as five elderly women, imprisoned in an automobile, died in the waters of Crystal Lake.

It was one in a multi-million chance accident — inexplicable — impossible.

It was a tragedy which brought heroic efforts from police, firefighters, civilian defense personnel and other volunteers as they struggled furiously but without success to free the five women from the car that was a watery tomb.

Medical Examiner Peter F. Angelo, who listed the deaths of the five women as due to accidental drowning, will seek an inquest in Newton district court.

But some of the questions as to why the automobile, carrying the five women, rolled down an incline and into the waters of Crystal Lake will never be definitely answered.

You Must Have Safety Sticker Next Thursday

A reminder to the Newton residents that they have less than a week to obtain safety stickers for their automobiles, issued today by Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Element A. Riley.

Riley declared that his inspectors will be out on the highways in and about Newton on Thursday morning, stopping all cars which fail to show the required sticker.

Police found that the hand-brake was still on, when the ill-fated car was pulled from the water.

Even as arrangements were being made for the funerals of the five elderly victims of the strange tragedy, those who had tried to snatch the five women from death reviewed their efforts.

Heartbroken Mrs. Rose Watson, again and again, attempted to explain to herself a reasonable causation. The would-be rescuers were obliged to admit to themselves they could have done nothing more. Mrs. Watson knew that there was nothing she could have done to prevent the tragedy.

PTA Leash Law Petition Killed For This Year By City Fathers

Aldermen Accused of Dodging Issue on Newton Dog Problem

By a vote of 20-1 the Board of Aldermen this week rejected a petition of the Newton PTA Council for a full-time leash law to prohibit dogs from running loose in the city.

The action came shortly before midnight Monday night after the city fathers had toe-danced gingerly around the issue and huddled privately for nearly an hour in a conference room off the Alderman chamber.

Final disposition of the measure, however, was exactly as foretold in last week's Graphic, and the move for a restrictive dog leash ordinance apparently is dead for at least the remainder of this year.

In what was interpreted as an attempted gesture of appeasement to sponsors of the leash law petition, the Aldermen voted to distribute copies of the existing laws and ordinances covering the procedure which may be followed in making complaints concerning misconduct or disturbances by unruly canines.

Spokesmen for the groups which had sought the leash law declared somewhat tartly today that they were thoroughly aware of the present laws and considered them inadequate to meet Newton's problems.

Alderman Theodore D. Mann of Newton Centre cast the lone vote against the dismissal of the leash law petition and protested after the —LEASH LAW KILLED—

1958 Tax Rate Placed at $54; $4.80 Hike Over Last Year

Newton's tax rate for this year has been officially established at $54 by the city assessors.

That represents an increase of $4.80 over last year's figure of $49.20. But it is believed that it will be the lowest rate of any city in the Commonwealth and will be below the tax rates of most towns.

Higher school operating costs and a jump in State and county charges against the city were principally responsible for the $4.80 hike in Newton's tax rate.

An increase of $7,649,550 in the assessed valuation of taxable property in the city, re-

Local Women Are Delegates To Convention

Four Newton women will be among the 1500 delegates to the National Convention of the League of Women Voters of the United States in Atlantic City this week.

Mrs. Martin Greenberg, president of the Newton League left for Atlantic City Monday morning, accompanied by Mrs. J. Ernest Smith, Mrs. Arnold Mark and Mrs. Harold Isaacs. They will take part in deliberations leading to the adoption of the national league program for the next two years. Local leagues throughout the country have expressed greatest interest in the fields of U. S. —WOMEN DELEGATES—

Mayor's Housing Proposal to Get Hearing May 5th

A hearing will be held by the full Board of Aldermen a week from next Monday night, May 5, on a recommendation by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., for the establishment of a Newton Housing Authority.

That would be a preliminary step to the construction of a housing project for elderly persons in needy circumstances.

Mayor's ICC Appeal Is Expected To Halt Highland Branch Abandonment For At Least Month, Perhaps Longer

It appeared this week that Highland Branch commuters had won a reprieve of at least a month and possibly for a much longer period, as everything pointed to a suspension of the ICC order permitting the B & A to quit operation of the branch May 1.

Action by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., along with an appeal by the Brookline selectmen, both directed toward gaining reconsideration of the ICC's admittedly hasty decision, are expected to serve automatically in staying the order beyond May 1.

The railroad had been making every preparation to halt service on that date, unless an appeal was filed with the ICC before next Monday.

Announce Police Promotion List

Heading the list of candidates eligible for captain's rank in the Newton Police Department is Lt. Richard J. Burke of 19 High Street, Newton Upper Falls.

Results of the exam given last October were released this week by the Civil Service Commission, and revealed that four men passed the test for captain, with Burke topping the quartet.

—PROMOTION LIST—

Newton City Solicitor Matt B. Jones and Town Counsel Daniel Rollins of Brookline have been in close communication in filing the necessary papers requesting a re-hearing on the B & A's intent.

The joint or separate petitions will seek a review by the ICC. The attention of the ICC will also be directed to the necessity of stopping all railroad service through the entire 18-month period during which the MTA is building its tunnel link from Kenmore square to the B & A tracks near the Sears, Roebuck buildings in Boston, along with reconditioning the roadbed through Brookline and Newton.

The MTA has contended that the conversion of the line from railroad to rapid transit operation while trains are still running would be too expensive.

Daylight Saving

Don't forget to turn your clocks ahead an hour before you go to bed Saturday night! Daylight saving officially arrives at 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

This weekend you lose an hour's sleep, but you'll get it back next autumn.

Inevitably, in some homes everyone forgets to move the clock ahead, and in others everyone remembers to do it but neglects to find out whether someone else also has done it.

The ideal solution is to make one person responsible for changing the timepieces. If he forgets — well at least you have someone to blame.

Fete Chinese Girl Scouts At International Party

Newton Girl Scouts of Troop 175 were hostesses at an International Friendship party last Saturday afternoon in honor of a group of Chinese Girl Scouts from the Maryknoll Center on Tyler Street in Boston.

Accompanied by their leaders, Sister Regina and Sister Bernadette, the young Chinese misses gathered with the Newton Scouts at the Nonantum Boys Club at 2 p.m.

After songs and a flag ceremony, a playlet adapted from Hansel and Gretel was presented by the following girls: Carol Andelman, Susan Falk, Jenny Finkle, Margy Horowitz, Margy Kalikof, Diane Swartz and Diane Spear.

A Swedish folk dance was taught to the group by Leader Mrs. Joseph Klarfeld, and a balloon game won prizes for Scout Nancy Yee, Brownie Nancy Yee, Susan Yee, Susan Lim and Dorothy Chin.

After an exhibit by Mrs. Klarfeld of some souvenirs from the Juliette Low birthplace in Georgia, sandwiches and home-baked cakes and cookies were served.

Earning their cook and hospitality badges were: Leslie Meyers, Merrick Rosenwald, Susan Shapiro, Ruth Jane Stam, Robbie Stern, Judy Marks, Sue Altman, Penny Bogen, Vickie Hanbro, Nancy Smith, Elaine Ullman, and Judy Weiner.

Assisting with the program were Susan Klarfeld, Carol Fox, Mrs. Norman N. Smith, Frederick Arenella, Joseph Klarfeld, and Mrs. Joseph S. Kaufman, public relations director of the Newton Council.

Cancer Fund-Raising Drive Rings Doorbells on Tuesday

A house-to-house campaign, to raise funds and distribute educational pamphlets, will be conducted on Tuesday evening, April 29, to mark C-Day, occasion of the American Cancer Society's one-day Crusade to save lives from cancer.

The quota for this community is $40,000, according to E. Tyler Parkhurst and Police Chief Philip Purcell, co-chairmen of the Newton Crusade, who said that the collection will start at 6:45 p.m. At that hour some 2,000 volunteers will begin ringing doorbells.

The chairmen stressed the educational importance of C-Day, which, they declared, was of equal significance with the money-raising aspects of the event.

"Besides seeking funds," Mr. Parkhurst explained, "the volunteers will leave life-saving literature in every home. Such literature has played a large part in the steady gain in lives saved from cancer in recent years. C-Day stands for control of cancer, for cure, for checkup, and for check, And it offers opportunity to people generally in our community to aid the fight against man's cruellest enemy."

Chief Advises Of Important Date At Doorbell Tuesday

Chief Philip Purcell, of the Newton Police, co-chairman for the local Cancer Crusade campaign, has issued an earnest appeal for all citizens to make every effort to be at home, or make arrangements, to contribute to the fund-raising drive when a Cancer Crusader rings the doorbell next Tuesday night.

The house-to-house campaign will be held from 6:45 to 8:15 p.m.

"Newton Centre Days" to Be Gala Value Event in Stores

A galaxy of shopping values for every member of the family will feature the first annual "Newton Centre Days" to be sponsored by the energetic merchants of the area on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 15, 16, and 17.

At a meeting held at the Woodlawn Golf Club last week it was unanimously voted by the members of the Newton Centre Merchants Association to launch the gala bargain spree in all member stores over the three-day period.

The festival of values will be a gesture of appreciation by merchants for the fine patronage enjoyed by them over the fall and winter season.

Participating merchants also are determined to guarantee the success of the event in order to attract increased business to the area and to publicize the many genuine bargains waiting for thrifty shoppers at their stores.

"Newton Centre Days" will be featured in The Graphic in the coming issue. The event also will be advertised in the —GALA VALUE EVENT—

Burglar Gets Only 35 Cents

A burglar who broke into Tony's garage and service station at 1295 Boylston street didn't wind up with much to show for his efforts. After trying unsuccessfully to pry open a door and then smashing a window, the intruder found only 35 cents in an open cash register.

Launch Probe Into Crossing Tragedy Which Killed Three

New Hampshire State authorities joined local and railroad officials this week in an investigation of the tragedy at a grade crossing at Sanbornville, N.H., which cost the lives of two former outstanding young Newton athletes and the bride of one of them as the trio drove to a holiday weekend.

Killed when a sleek Budd liner crashed into their automobile on the dead centre of the crossing were:

T. Donald Thompson, 24, former Newton High School all-round star; Robert J. Gallagher, 24, son of Dr. and Mrs. James F. Gallagher of Newtonville, a Boston College ice standout, and young Thompson's bride, the former Virginia R. Findlay, 22, of Freeport, L.I., New York.

Death for each was instantaneous.

The trio planned a late-season weekend of skiing in New Hampshire. Their car, with Thompson at the wheel, stalled at Hutchings Crossing, 2 1/2 miles south of Sanbornville village. It required more than two hours to free their bodies from the wreckage after the Budd liner had carried the vehicle nearly a quarter of a mile along the tracks from the point of impact.

Leash Law Killed

session that his fellow board members had dodged the issue instead of facing up to it in forthright fashion.

Mann sought unsuccessfully to present a proposed new ordinance which would have barred dogs from school property and playgrounds during specified hours.

A first-year member, he was outmaneuvered and did not succeed in placing his measure before the body.

Alderman Mann tried to offer his motion during the discussion of a report made by the Aldermanic claims and rules committee but was told he could not do so at that time.

When Mann made a similar endeavor after the leash law petition had been turned down, Alderman Melvin J. Dangel moved that the meeting be adjourned.

Dangel was recognized by Aldermanic President Wendell R. Bauckman. His motion was seconded, and the meeting was declared ended with Mann still standing at his desk holding the order he desired to introduce.

Mann told a Graphic reporter after the meeting that what he had tried to propose was that the city's dog officer be instructed to impound any canines upon verbal complaint that they were on school property or playgrounds during school hours, the period extending from an hour before school opened until an hour after it closed.

Under the terms of his measure the owner of the dog on the first offense would be notified to pick up his pet at the pound and would be required to pay a prescribed boarding fee. On the second offense a fine of from $5 to $10 would be assessed against the dog-owner. On the third offense the owner would be fined $10 and would be ordered to restrain his dog at all times.

Alderman Mann said he would seek to introduce the order at the next meeting of the Aldermanic Board but was not certain whether he would be allowed to do so.

"I don't think this was right," Mann told the Graphic. "They skirted the issue. If the people were interested enough to petition use, as they did, and to create the atmosphere they did, I believe we should have taken some positive action."

"The figures we have had here — the incidence of complaints of disorderly dogs on school property and other public property — warrants some attention to the matter," Mann asserted.

That most of the Aldermen were regarding the dog leash petition with political wariness, was clearly evident from the manner in which the entire question was handled.

At one point during the discussion Alderman Dangel asked President Bauckman if it were correct that the petition could not be presented again for some time if the report of the claims and rules committee was adopted and the petition was given "leave to withdraw."

Bauckman replied that it could not be heard again this year. "And I hope it won't be heard again next year either," he added.

In contrast to the excitement which prevailed when an Aldermanic hearing was held on the same matter five weeks earlier — on the night of March 17 — not a single spectator was on hand to witness the final action of the Aldermen for 1958 on the leash law petition.

The Aldermanic claims and rules committee last week voted 6-1 to give the petition "leave to withdraw", a polite term for killing or rejecting it.

At that time the six committee members who voted to throw out the petition were Aldermanic President Bauckman, Chairman Leo M. Cannon of Newton, William P. Ripely of Newton Centre, Harry H. Ham, Jr., of Auburndale, Charles H. Cosgrove of West Newton and Winslow C. Auryanssen of Newtonville.

Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner of Waban cast the lone dissenting vote, and Alderman Paul S. Rich of Newton was absent from the committee meeting.

It developed at Monday night's public meeting that Flaschner dissented only because he wanted the adoption of a resolution explaining to the people of Newton the existing ordinances covering the complaints which may be made against unruly dogs.

Flaschner, in fact, read the committee's report to the full Aldermanic Board so that while he was listed as a dissenter in the original committee report he was not actually one when the matter finally reached the floor.

Although the matter had been before the claims and rules committee for five weeks, Chairman Cannon requested that a private conference on it be held by all the Aldermen before a final vote was taken.

Under the terms of the resolution adopted by the Aldermen in rejecting the leash law petition, a summary of the laws covering the procedure for making complaints concerning disturbances by dogs will be sent to all property-owners with their 1958 tax bills and also will be distributed through the city's schools.

These steps were listed in the Aldermanic resolution:

"A. Make notarized written complaint to Chief of Police giving details.

"B. Chief of Police assigns officer to make full report to him.

"C. Chief of Police has power to order the restraint or disposal of the dog.

"D. Dog owner or keeper within 10 days may petition Newton District Court for a reviled of the order of the Chief of Police.

"E. The Court must affirm the order of the Chief of Police unless it was made without proper cause or in bad faith.

"F. Failure to comply with the order of the Chief of Police shall be punished by a fine up to $10 or by imprisonment up to 30 days, or both.

The resolution also called attention to the following provisions in the law:

"1. Section 155 of Chapter 140 provides that the owner or keeper of a dog which does damage to a person or his property shall be liable to that person for such damage in a civil proceeding. The remedy of this section is in addition to the procedure for a restraining order by the Chief of Police, as set forth above. If a dog has been ordered restrained, and subsequently wounds a person, then under Section 159 that person may recover triple the amount of damages sustained by him.

"2. Under the rules and regulations of the Newton Health Department and the State Department of Public Health, as authorized by Section 6 of Chapter 111 of the General Laws, any doctor to whose attention a dog bite has been brought must make a report to the Newton Health Department.

"Then, under the Department of Agriculture, Division of Livestock Disease Control, Department Order No. 34 requires that all dogs known to have bitten any person must be quarantined for a period of fourteen days for observation to determine whether or not it has rabies. Control of these quarantine cases is in the hands of the dog officer (Inspector of Animals), the Newton Health Department and the Health Department.

"Section 3.10 of the Revised Ordinances of Newton, 1952, reads as follows: No person shall own or keep in the city any dog which, by barking, biting, howling or in any other manner, disturbs the quiet of any person. (Application for complaint under this ordinance should be made to the clerk of the Newton District Court.)

The introduction to the Aldermanic resolution read as follows:

"Whereas a great deal of public interest on the part of Newton's citizens has been expressed on the question of controlling dogs from damaging persons and property, and

"Whereas the question was presented for the consideration of the Board of Aldermen by a petition seeking the enactment of a full time leash law, and

"Whereas this petition evoked an enthusiastic controversy between the supporters and the opponents of the petition and

"Whereas the Board of Aldermen has considered the arguments and materials presented to it by both sides of the controversy and has inquired into the existing laws relevant to the control of dogs and the use of said laws in Newton, and

"Whereas it appears that many persons concerned with the misconduct of dogs have not been aware of these existing laws available for the redress of their grievances, and

"Whereas the more extensive use of these laws, particularly Section 157 of Chapter 140 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, may well alleviate the problem;

The other two major league teams, the Kansas City Athletics and the Washington Senators, will play their first game on Sunday. The minor league teams also will open their season Sunday.

Mrs. Feinberg to Give Exhibition At Flower Show

Mrs. Archibald (Wilhelmina) Feinberg, a well known landscape architect from Newton, will use materials furnished by Weston Nurseries when she conducts an exhibition at the Newton and Suburban Flower Show.

She will demonstrate how fencing can become an intimate part of a garden rather than just a division line or termination of the cultivated area.

A recent winner of the coveted John Taylor Ames Award, Mrs. Feinberg is a member of the National Council of Judges, and is also a member of the State Awards Committee of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts.

She is an accomplished lecturer on horticulture, landscaping and flower arrangement.

For the first time in its 37 years of existence, the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs will come to Newton High School for its annual contest and concert as guests of the Highland Glee Club.

Eight or more clubs will compete in the contest to be held the afternoon of May 10, and the joint concert of from 250 to 300 voices will perform in the evening.

Soprano Nancy Carr of the Chicago Theatre of the Air and Eunice Alberts, contralto, will sing arias duets. Dr. Ralph MacLean will conduct and Bruce Herrick will be the accompanist.

Expected to participate are glee clubs from Andover, Beverly, Cambridge, Ipswich, Lowell, Lynn, Melrose, New Haven, Portland, Portsmouth, Quincy and Winchester. One ticket admits the bearer to both the afternoon and evening programs. Clinton W. Kyle is chairman of the concert committee.

Newton's Highland Glee Club is marking its 50th anniversary this year. Members will be defending their position as winners of the Grand Prize Trophy, captured at last year's contest in Portland, Me.

The contest will begin at 12:30 p.m. and continue for an hour and a half. Each club will sing two songs of their own selection and will be judged on diction, tone quality and ensemble.

A catered dinner will be served at 6 p.m. in the high school cafeteria for members of the visiting glee clubs and their friends. Tickets may be obtained by calling LA 7-2735. Supper reservations must be made before May 5. Proceeds will benefit the Highland Glee Club's Scholarship Fund for Newton High School graduates.

Crossing Tragedy

The crossing, officials said, had been the scene of a number of previous accidents. There are no gates to protect traffic at the point but warning bells and light signals were in working order, it was claimed.

The Budd liner was disabled but passengers and crew members were uninjured.

The accident occurred at 8:22 a.m. last Saturday. Thompson and his bride had picked up Gallagher at Gallagher's home at 67 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville, about 6 a.m. They had planned their outing at Pinkham Notch, following a custom established early in the winter.

Thompson was driving. Engineer Everett McMasters, 51, of Stoneham, at the controls of the Budd making a run from Intervale, N. H., to Dover, N. H., is reported as telling authorities that he saw the automobile approaching the crossing, seemingly about to stop. Officials said the Budd was travelling at 35 miles an hour. McMasters said the car carrying the three young people, after slowing down, proceeded ahead and came to halt at mid-tracks of the single-track road-bed.

The Budd's brakes were disabled in the crash and New Hampshire State Trooper Kenneth Hayes estimated that the train with the wreckage ahead travelled 1056 feet before a stop could be effected with the Budd's hand brakes.

Medical Referee Francis E. Dube of Center Ossipee, N. H., said death was due to fractured skulls and multiple other injuries.

Thompson had been making his home at 1870 Beacon street,

Thurs., April 24, 1958, THE NEWTON GRAPHIC Page 3

Brookline, with his bride, since graduating from Brown University. He met his bride at Brown while he was starting as an All-Ivy League back and she was a student at Brown's affiliate Pembroke College. He was known affectionately as "Zipper" Thompson in his Newton High School days.

He was the son of Mrs. Robert E. Thompson of 411 Auburn street, Auburndale. His father is dead. He graduated from Newton High in 1952 after a starry career as an athlete. At Brown he played varsity football and hockey. He won All-Eastern honors as a back in 1954. He was graduated from the Providence university in 1954.

He was married to the former Miss Findlay on September 14. He had been working as a salesman for the National Cash Register Company of Boston since his graduation.

Besides his mother, he leaves four brothers, Robert E., Natick; Peter E., David and Jay, all of Auburndale, and two sisters, Mrs. Barbetta Wilson of Natick and Miss Jane Thompson of Auburndale.

Robert Gallagher attended Boston College High School, where he was an outstanding hockey star. He played on the varsity team in the 1951-52 season and was considered one of the best of the college players in this area.

He was majoring in business administration at B. C. and would have graduated with this year's class. In addition to his parents, he leaves a brother, Dr. James F. Gallagher, Jr., of Miami Shores, Fla., and two sisters, the Misses Marie and Jane Gallagher of Newtonville.

Scout Council Meeting Is Scored Real Success

The Newton Girl Scout Spring Council Meeting, held on Thursday, April 17th at the Pierce School in West Newton, was pronounced a signal success by those attending.

The Senior Girl Scouts had offered many suggestions for improvement and expansion of the Girl Scout program in Newton and this meeting Thursday evening was an attempt on the part of the adult membership to discover possible solutions and answers to the Senior's challenge.

The evening opened with a coffee hour in the gym, with refreshments in charge of Mrs. John Schweiger, Mrs. John Shaw, Mrs. Herbert A. Shaw and Mrs. John Snider, and Mrs. Thomas Gephart making the building arrangements.

The receiving line to welcome visitors and members consisted of: Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, President, Mrs. Nathan D. Bugbee, Mrs. Dwight P. Merrill, Mrs. Norman A. Smith, Mrs. Leonard G. Trowbridge, vice-presidents, Mrs. John J. Schweiger and Mrs. Bernard Roth, Vice Chairmen of Field Committee, Mrs. Stanley T. Johnson, Senior Planning Board Advisor, Miss Betty Andersen, Miss Carol Berberian, Miss Barbara Williams and Miss Joanne Shinnick, President, Secretary, and Treasurer, respectively of the Senior Planning Board.

The meeting convened in the auditorium with Mrs. Dwight P. Merrill, Chairman, Council Meetings Committee, presiding. A color ceremony was presented by Troop No. 121 with the following girls participating: Sally Loftus, Mary Farina, Elaine Frechette, Mary Jane Leone, Patricia O'Brien, Pamela Shea and Sandra Torrielli.

Following a short business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, president, the general meeting broke up into five discussion groups, touching on such points as troop sponsorship, training for leaders, publicity, troop organization and programs.

The group re-convened in the auditorium where recorders from each discussion group gave brief summaries of topics covered. Recordors were: Mrs. Richard P. Emerson, Mrs. Bernard Roth, Mrs. Robert Pettit, Mrs. Louis Lobel, Mrs. Thomas S. Hayden, Mrs. Paul Dietz and Mrs. Wonalid R. Lee.

Group singing was led by Miss Marion Roberts, executive director, Massachusetts Girl Scouts, and the evening closed

Aldermen Block Funeral Home

A petition for a zoning variance to make possible the establishment of a funeral home at 465 Centre street, was rejected at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

The Aldermen actually voted 12-9 to allow the change, but that fell short of the margin needed to approve the change.

In the debate which preceded the vote both Aldermen Leo M. Cannon and Joseph G. Bradley spoke in favor of the application submitted by Vyvan P. Mackay.

Mayor Sees No Advantages in Met. Govern't

A metropolitan government for Greater Boston would be just another bureaucracy, Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., declared on a WBX panel show — "Metropolitan Government; Pro and Con."

The Mayor proposed a voluntary area council which would coordinate such problems as highway traffic and mass transportation, water supply and sewerage disposal.

He said a "metropolitan government would tend to create another bureaucracy which would further remove the people from close and intimate association with local matters and decisions."

Assistant Professor Robert C. Wood of Massachusetts Institute of Technology argued that the Greater Boston communities form one economic unit with Boston as the core. He said such a unit deserves one government.

Well Done, Chief

When Franjo Mihalic of Yugoslavia sat down to his beef stew in Boston's Exeter street on Patriots' Day, he was tired and happy. He had no time to be happy or unhappy. After a sandwich he still had a lot of work to do. His job was to get Newton traffic back to normal. Every Patriots' Day is a day of hard work for Newton's police chief.

Newton police chief, Philip Purcell, had no beef stew waiting for him. He was tired. He had no time to be happy or unhappy. After a sandwich he still had a lot of work to do. His job was to get Newton traffic back to normal. Every Patriots' Day is a day of hard work for Newton's police chief.

He has to start planning many weeks ahead for handling the crowds. He has to please a lot of people. Some of them drive automobiles. Some of them just come to watch. All of them are quick to criticize; slow to say "thank you."

On the morning after Patriots' Day the metropolitan papers said everything was handled nicely as the Marathoners went through the long stretch between the Newton-Wellesley line and Lake street. Police handled the crowds nicely. They played a sort of silent role in making it a pleasant drama. The folks who just watched and the folks who were driving automobiles didn't realize that one of the reasons everything went so smoothly was due to the hard work of preparation, administration and on-the-scene supervision.

Chief Purcell was only a stage director. Only he knows all the thought and attention to detail that went into the job. Only he knows that a single slip could have meant a lot of adverse criticism of a pretty fine city named Newton.

It's a sort of an anonymous job when everything goes well. It's when there's ground for criticism that you hear about the police and their work.

We think that along about 4 p.m. on Patriots' Day Police Chief Purcell and his officers deserved a bit of an accolade, if not a beef stew, for a task that was very well done.

Your Help Is Needed

On June 11, 1956, at Chicago, members of the American Medical Association gathered to study some carefully assembled reports. It wasn't a routine meeting. The men who sat at the polished table were brilliant men. Their names were listed high in the councils of the medical profession.

Before them appeared another brilliant medical man. His name was Dr. Jonas A. Salk. Before the meeting was over the gathering belied the cold, factual, tradition-bound behaviour of its attending members.

Their cheeks were flushed. Their eyes were bright with excitement. They realized they were being informed of one of the great discoveries of the discovery-filled Twentieth Century.

A short time later the news agencies of the world were creating excitement in every news desk they reached. The news was greater than even declarations of war could be. They announced that the medical profession was finally certain that it had "licked" polio.

Some day, probably in much the same manner, another momentous medical announcement will come to newspaper city desks. It is possible you and I will live to hear it — to rejoice in it. It will be the word that Science has found the answer to man's worst scourge — Cancer.

It is possible, too, that the answer may be denied beyond our lives. We do know, however, that that answer will be forthcoming — some day; some time.

You and I can help speed that eventful day. Next Tuesday, callers will come to our homes. Their purpose will be to collect funds for the 1958 Cancer Crusade.

When your dollars and the dollars of everyone who contributes anywhere in these United States are placed together, they will form the wherewithal by which the search for the answer to cancer will be pushed toward that ultimate conclusion.

Whatever your contribution may be, it will be important.

It may be that little extra something which will help poke the initial breach in the wall that now makes cancer one of mankind's most vicious and uncompromising enemies.

Political Overtones

have caused a certain amount of bewilderment for observers striving to keep abreast of the back-stage maneuvering within the Democratic party.

Ex-Governor Dever might not have been able to iron out all those matters, but he certainly would have been able to handle some of them before they reached the stage of provoking open warfare between certain elements of the Democratic party, as they are now threatening to do.

Dever, for example, would have called party leaders together and reached an agreement as to who would serve as permanent chairman of the Democratic convention to be held at Boston's Mechanics Building late in June.

As matters stand at the moment, Speaker John F. Thompson of Ludlow feels he should be the presiding officer at the conclave. A good many other Democrats, however, believe Senator John E. Powers is much more deserving of the honor, particularly since the convention is to be staged in Boston.

Thompson's supporters argue that former Speaker Michael F. Skerry was selected as chairman in 1956 and that it would be a slight to Thompson if he were bypassed and someone else were picked for the chairmanship.

Powers' admirers brush aside that claim with the assertion that there is no tradition that the House

Speaker serve as convention chairman, pointing out that two such conclaves have been held in recent years, that Skerry functioned as presiding officer in 1956 and that ex-Representative Michael J. Neville of Cambridge ran the 1954 proceedings.

Whether this situation will reach the stage of an open clash between Speaker Thompson and Democratic Senate Leader Powers is uncertain. If it did, Powers probably would prevail.

Ordinarily, it is considered that the Democratic legislators come pretty close to controlling a pre-primary convention. That is one of the reasons they are so quick to vote for a conclave.

But Powers is one contender who could cut deeply into Thompson's support in the House of Representatives.

A floor fight between Powers and Thompson, if one should develop, would have extremely interesting implications.

Thompson is one of Governor Furcolo's top lieutenants. For all practical purposes he was placed in the Speakership by Furcolo who appointed former Speaker Skerry to the clerkship of the Malden district court in order to make way for Thompson's elevation to the post of presiding officer of the House.

Powers, on the other hand, is much closer to U.S. Senator John F. Kennedy than he is to Governor Furcolo. He also helped to manage the fight which resulted in the election of John M. Lynch of Somerville as chairman of the Democratic State Committee in 1956.

The Democratic Senate leader has been prominent in the councils of his party for a much longer period of time than has speaker Thompson who did not move into the political forefront until he was made Democratic floor leader following Skerry's election as Speaker in January, 1955.

Senator Powers is a seasoned, cool-headed politician, who ordinarily does not involve himself in fights even when he can win them unless he stands to accomplish something by doing so.

Whether the convention chairmanship would mean enough to battle for it is something he undoubtedly is weighing. It carries a certain measure of prestige, but not enough to get very excited about.

However, a convention chairman could provide fair treatment for those championing different causes, including possibly an anti-sales tax plank.

Governor Furcolo, of course, also has a certain stake in the outcome of any fight for the convention chairmanship. If Thompson makes a battle for the honor with the Governor's consent and loses, it would be a blow to Furcolo's prestige. It would seem inconceivable that Furcolo would involve himself in such a conflict to the extent of throwing his support behind Thompson. Yet, he has done some unexpected things.

A move by certain labor spokesmen to persuade Councillor McDonough to toss his hat into the gubernatorial ring stems from the belief that Furcolo's political stock has dropped sharply during the 16 months he has been in office.

Rumors periodically have swirled around Beacon Hill that Governor Furcolo will not stand for reelection. They have not been taken seriously.

Governor Furcolo gives every indication and appearance that he not only intends to seek another term but that he plans to build his campaign on his $50 million unemployment bill.

A Governor standing for renomination, with the patronage power of his office at his disposal, is in a pretty formidable position. A challenge to him at a convention by a person of approximately equal political stature and standing such as Councillor McDonough would, of course, precipitate a terrific fight within the party.

McDonough twice sought the gubernatorial endorsement. He was nixed out by Robert F. Murphy in 1954, and he lost to Furcolo in 1956. There is no question but that he could muster enough support to make a strong fight against Furcolo at the coming June convention.

The fact that representatives of organized labor have approached McDonough with the proposition that he make such a move, reflects their bitterness toward Governor Furcolo. It also points up the confusion and uncertainty which exists in the Democratic party in Massachusetts at a time when a Democratic tide apparently is running across the rest of the United States.

It is a situation which is causing many Democrats to sit back in very sombre reflection.

Hope For Big Year In Foreign Travel

Despite the recession blues, 1958 promises to break all records for European travel, according to Michael Hansen, manager of Hammond Travel Service in Newton Centre.

On the basis of bookings already made, travel agents and airline and steamship companies anticipate about a 10 per cent increase in the flow of American visitors to Western European countries this year over 1957, when a record 600,000 United States citizens hopped the ocean.

Experts attribute much of this year's expected increase to the triple attractions of the Brussels World Fair, the Lourdes Centennial Celebration and the Tenth Anniversary Celebration in Israel.

The number one attraction, of course, will be the World's Fair at Brussels. The fair will feature the seven wonders, including 4,000 years of art; the world of 1900, the City of Tomorrow, the Atomium (The Fair's Symbol), representing the atomic structure of a crystal of metal, enlarged 180 billion times; International Hall of Fame; Garden of the Four Seasons; Film Festivals; musical and theatre events, ballet and folk dancing, folk lore, flower shows, fashion events, an auto show, fireworks competition and sports events.

The attention of the Catholic world will be focused on Lourdes. A record-breaking attendance is expected at the Shrine, which has been visited by millions of pilgrims in the past.

To celebrate its Tenth Anniversary, the State of Israel has proclaimed a Festival, with a roster of over 100 special events.

The annual meeting of the Newton Auxiliary of the Francis E. Willard Homes will be held on Monday at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Weedon in Newton. Mrs. F. Hopewell Underhill, the outgoing president, will meet with the board at noon.

Babe Ruth League Organized For 13-15 Year-Old Players

Clear the way for the Babe Ruths!
If everything goes well — and there's no reason why it shouldn't — Newton baseball fans should see some of the choicest exemplifications of the diamond sport within normal shouting distance of their own front doors in the weeks ahead. The baseball will be distilled in its purest, most crystalline form by the city's 13-15-year olds.

That's because the Newton Recreation Department has decided to join with the national Babe Ruth organization which has some 116 leagues and 600 teams operating in the New England region alone.

The Babe Ruth League will be extended to each of the city's eight villages. Present plans call for an official opening day on Monday, June 2, and it is planned to have on hand all sorts of dignitaries including a big-shot Babe Ruth League official.

The league here will take over the Newton Twi League's Pony

Annual Party To Benefit Cerebral Palsy On Tuesday

The annual dessert bridge and canasta party to benefit the Cerebral Palsy organization will be held next Tuesday, April 29 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr., 170 Sargent street, Newton. The dessert bridge is scheduled to start at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. Ross L. Trenholm of Bow road, Newton Centre, is chairman of the affair, assisted by Mrs. E. Lake Jones and Mrs. Richard Leahy.

Tickets to the bridge are being distributed by Mrs. Garret Schneek, Jr., of 147 Sargent street, Newton. Others on the committee are Miss Mable Roby, Mrs. William Ayers, Miss Priscilla Schenck, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr., and Mrs. C. John Madden.

Fred B. Cole, the well-known disc jockey of WHDH will be the master of ceremonies.

The proceeds of the bridge benefit will go towards maintaining the CP Nursery School and Summer day camp.

Division operations of the past few years.

Each team will be completely uniformed, covered by insurance and will use regulation diamonds.

Babe Ruth League, Inc., is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization sponsored by the Coca-Cola Company. It was originally incorporated in 1952. There are presently hundreds of leagues and thousands of teams in 46 States and seven provinces of Canada operating under its aegis.

It differs from Pony League operation in many ways. For one thing, possibly the most important, the Babe Ruthers use a regulation diamond, while the Pony League used the cut-down version.

It has been found that the boys emerging from Little Leagues can readily adapt themselves to the regulation ball field when they reach the 13-14-15-year bracket. They are not obliged to wait until they reach high school before making the readjustment.

Formation of the league is an extension of the Newton Twi League program. It will give boys who love to play baseball a chance to graduate from Little League, to Babe Ruth League to the upper rungs of the Twi League ladder by regular stages, even while they are playing with youngsters of their own age.

Villages and representatives who have accepted the program include:

Newton Highlands — John Mc Barron, James McLean, Richard Griffin.

Waban — Herbert Winer, Walter Collins, Kenneth Brinkhurst.

Newton Centre — Edward Lynch, Martin Glazer, Edward Nangle.

Newton Upper Falls — James Kezar, Gennaro Messore.

Auburndale — Del Ryan, Antoine Leger.

Newtonville — Al Leonard, Dick Perkins.

West Newton — Paul Burke, William Hannon.

Nonantum — Sam Crocetti, Alfred D'Angelo.

One Mid-April Inductee

Donald Robert Mazzola of 101 Pearl street, Newton, was the sole registrant of the three Newton Selective Service Boards to be called for induction in the mid-April call.

Newton Shocked-

Victims were Mrs. Hattie Gordon, 96; Mrs. Esther Ross, 92; Mrs. Ina Dowling, 85; Mrs. Gertrude Cummings, 85, and Mrs. Dohilda Hinrichs, 80.

All were guests of the rest home conducted by Mrs. Watson at 38 Lake avenue, Newton Centre.

They were prepared for a brief, untiring automobile ride on a perfect spring afternoon last Sunday. They had been assisted into the car by Mrs. Watson. She had applied the hand brake and made certain the car doors were locked when she discovered that she had not brought along her coat.

She was gone only the time it required to negotiate the few steps from the parked car to the hallway of her rest room. Even as she emerged from the house she saw the car rolling over an incline and headed straight for the lake with its precious human cargo.

She ran to overtake it. But the machine gathered momentum as it went over the slope. It struck the water like a powerboat launched perfectly from the shore. It didn't sink. Not immediately. It had an unbelievable buoyancy that carried it some 40 feet from the edge of the lake. Then, defying all laws of gravity, it seemed to float for minutes — maybe as long as five.

No screams issued from the closed tonneau. Perhaps, the Back row, Mrs. John Worcester, vice president; Mrs. Bently Colcock, program chairman; Mrs. William P. Giles, hospitality chairman; Mrs. Florentino Pina, recording secretary, and Mrs. Alan Locke, historian. With the exception of Mrs. Thibodeau, who is from Wellesley, the entire group is from Newton.

five victims couldn't believe the weird fantasy. Perhaps they were too shocked even to utter a sound.

First to reach the car was William Lane Bruce, 34, assistant dean of the Harvard Law School. He had plunged into the cold water — swimming and wading in a desperate attempt to reach the trapped women. He tried to open the doors. The water pressure alone denied that means of escape.

Then he tried to kick the glass of the windows in. That failed. Finally in answer to his instructions to his children he obtained a hammer. The glass resisted its blows.

The car was still over the surface but now sinking fast as four Newton police officers arrived at the scene. They and two other volunteers joined Bruce in the battle to unseal the car. But the car sank to the lake bottom even as they fought.

Soon members of the fire department and civilian defense were on the scene. All battled desperately and long but there was nothing they could do. The car went to the bottom.

The machine had started its fatal roll at 3:39 p. m. It was pulled from the lake and the bodies recovered at 4:25 p. m.

St. John's Boy Elected Head of C.Y.O. Deanery

Robert Melanson of St. John's parish, Newton, was elected president of the Newton C.Y.O. Deanery and Miss Patricia Cox of St. Bernard's parish, Newton, was chosen vice president, at the annual deanery election held in East Junior High School, Watertown.

U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy was principal speaker of the meeting. He told his audience he was just as pleased he did not win the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination in 1956, because if he had become Adlai Stevenson's running mate, "I would have been defeated and my political career would be over."

Consoling losers in the Deanery election he said, "Sometimes you want something that later turns out to be something you didn't want."

Newton Police Officers End Special Course

Two Newton police officers who successfully completed an intensive program in handling problems relating to adolescents, recently were awarded "Juvenile Specialist Certificates" by Middlesex District Attorney James L. O'Dea, Jr., and Dr. George Gardner, director of the Judge Baker Guidance Center.

The course was started last November and was attended by Patrolmen Francis B. Daly and Charles E. Feeley for two hours each week over a 20 week period.

The presentation marked the completion of the first intensive program in the state that is aimed at equipping police with the best techniques and approaches to handling the juvenile problems. The program was arranged by O'Dea with the Judge Baker Clinic as one of a number of steps his office has undertaken to combat the pressing juvenile problem.

"You officers have sacrificed your time and money to equip yourselves better for the important phase of police work to which you have dedicated yourselves," said O'Dea. "The citizens of your communities and the country as a whole are indebted to you for your devotion to your profession and pride in the job best done."

Results of the program will be forwarded to the National Institute of Mental Health, with a view to having it adopted throughout the nation.

Mrs. Matilda Thurston

Memorial services for Mrs. Matilda (Calder) Thurston, 82, who died in Auburndale last Thursday, will be held Sunday in the Wellesley Hills Congregational Church at 2 p.m. She was the widow of the Rev. Lawrence E. Thurston.

Mrs. Thurston, founder and first president of Gilling College for Women in Nanking, China, had been a missionary in that country for more than 30 years. Since 1943, she had lived with her sister, Miss Helen Calder, in Auburndale.

Mrs. Thurston began her long missionary career in 1900, teaching for two years under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions of the Congregational Christian Churches at Central Turkey College for Girls in Marash, Turkey.

In 1902, the year of her marriage, she went with her husband to China for the Yale-China Mission. They returned to the United States the following year because of Rev. Thurston's health. He died in 1904.

After two years as secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement in this country, she went back to China in 1906 and for the next five years served at the Yale Mission at Changsa. In 1913 she was appointed by the Presbyterian (USA) Board of Foreign Missions to Nanking.

It was there that, in cooperation with representatives of five other denominations, she planned the founding of Gilling College for Women. The same year she was appointed president of the college, which opened its doors two years later.

Mrs. Thurston was president of Gilling until 1928, when she turned over that office to one of the college's graduates. However, she remained until 1936 as president emerita in an advisory capacity.

In 1939, after three years in the United States, she returned once again to China and the difficult situation caused by the war with Japan. She was repatriated in 1942 after the Japanese occupied Nanking.

Mrs. Thurston was a graduate of Mount Holyoke College, class of 1896, and received a Lit.D. in 1925. Besides her sister, she is survived by a brother, William Calder, of Bristol, Conn.

Tax Roof Lifted-

He told the board that "unhappily but necessarily" he was in favor of the increase in the tax limit, as proposed by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.

Aldermanic President Wendell R. Bauckman probably expressed the situation as well as it could be voiced. He pointed out the increase over the present limit is mandatory since the 1958 budget necessitates a rise in the over-all tax rate for the year.

He declared that the calling of a special meeting every time it is necessary to raise the tax roof takes the time of the Board of Aldermen unnecessarily. He suggested abolition of the ordinance.

Apparently the day is gone when any community—or even the state or national government—can say "This is as far as we can go in taxes." That was the sense of the meeting.

The new ordinance provides that taxes on property in Newton, exclusive of charges, levies by the state and county, plus the costs of the city debt, shall not exceed $50 per $1000 valuation. The 1957 over-all tax rate was $49.20. An increase of about $5 is anticipated this year.

Saturday by Girl Scouts of Troop 175 in Newton, under the leadership of Mrs. Joseph Klarfeld. By entertaining girls of a different color and creed, the Newton Scouts completed their requirements for the International World Gift Badge.

Kimball 2nd, Mrs. Richard H. Lee, Mrs. Edwin L. Priess, Mrs. Edward W. Fride, Mrs. Rawson R. Cowan and many others. Proceeds will be used for scholarships at Smith.

have your insurance protection nearby -

If your insurance is backed only by an out-of-town company, you are not getting all the protection you deserve and need. When you have to file a claim, you may waste days, even weeks, sending for claims forms, filling them in, following up by long-distance telephone or by mail.

To avoid such "do-it-yourself" insurance, buy only through a local, impartial insurance agent. Your independent agent is a home-town businessman, not an employee of any insurance company. He works and lives near you, not out of town. He's ready to help you any time—ready to file your claim for prompt settlement.

To be sure of able assistance when you need it, look for this seal before you buy insurance.

Mayor's Appeal--

The appeals to the ICC will also question the procedure which saw the ICC reaching its decision before obtaining a report from the examiner who came to Boston to hold public hearings on the matter. The ICC, in its decision permitting the B & A to halt its service May 1, indicated that it considered the time element pressing and therefore was making its finding without waiting to hear from what its own examiner had to say.

Mayor Whitmore and others had appeared before the examiner in the Boston hearing to present the Newton-Brookline case. The action by the ICC had the effect of a decision being rendered as though the examiner hearings had never been held.

The plea for a stay of sentence will also contain detailed provisions questioning evidence on which the ICC reached its approval of abandonment.

The MTA has persisted in its stand that it cannot and will not start construction of the line until the railroad trains have stopped. MTA Chairman Anthony D. Pompeo, a resident of Newton and an appointee of Governor Furolo, said he could not estimate how long a successful appeal for reconsideration might delay the proposed $10.6 million project which the MTA had hoped to get under way this spring.

"The longer we wait," said Pompeo, "the greater the risk of an increase in costs." The trustees of the MTA have agreed to sit down and discuss the issues with the Brookline Board of Selectmen on May 7. The meeting will be held on the request of the Brookline authorities.

Director V. V. Baker of the ICC's regional office, said that the filing of the petition or petitions, would automatically stay the order to abandon commuter service on the Highland Branch. Brookline officials have alleged (1) the MTA has ignored that town in its plans to convert the railroad to rapid transit; (2) the Authority has refused to discuss plans for Brookline Hill and Chestnut Hill avenue; (3) the authority plans to erect an overhead trestle from Cleveland Circle to the railroad tracks and to construct a bus stop at Clinton road and Chestnut Hill avenue, Brookline.

City Saves $1100 In Second Bid Call

The Newton Purchasing Department reports that a re-advertising of bids for the contract for bituminous concrete sidewalks and curbs resulted in a savings of $1100 to the city.

The bid by the L. P. Quinn Co., of Newton, offered to supply 25,000 square yards of bituminous sidewalks with curbs to the city for $55,128. The second bid for the contract was by Robert J. Wood Co., of Fayville, (Southboro). The lowest bid for the contract last month was $56,225 but all bids were rejected at that time because of a technicality.

Two end-of-season dance parties for the fifth and sixth grades were held at the Franklin School in Newton last week to climax the Learn-To-Dance program sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department.

The principal, Mr. Lund, faculty members and parents attended and enjoyed watching the young and accomplished dancers perform the fox trot, waltz, cha cha, stroll, polka, Viennese waltz, jitterbug and novelty dances. Prizes were awarded to those boys and girls excelling in the various steps.

The purpose of the program is to teach poise, proper manners at social gatherings and a basic understanding of the dance steps.

The Learn-To-Dance program was under the direction of E. Evan Johnson and supervision of Mrs. Ragna Hogvard, and will resume classes next November. Mrs. Laura Karobilis and Miss Marie T. Quirk were the dance instructors in charge of the dance classes.

Executive Director Samuel Crocetti, the committee and staff have mapped out an interesting program which will include two trips weekly to places of interest, plus the daily athletic and swimming program.

Through the courtesy of the Boys Camps of Greater Boston, resident camping will be available this year as in the past. Information and applications for this program will be available in the near future.

$54.00 Tax Rate--

sulting principally from new construction, enabled the assessors to hold the rate at the $54 mark.

State Tax Commissioner Joseph P. Healey formally approved the Newton rate on Tuesday.

day. It marked the earliest date in the last two decades on which the Garden City tax rate has received formal State approval.

An analysis of the factors responsible for the climb in Newton's rate to an all-time high figure showed that the total budget of the school department this year is 12.9 per cent larger than in 1957, while the budget for all other city departments has increased 6.3 per cent.

An increase in the amount of money Newton must pay to the State and county, coupled with a drop in the revenue the city will receive from the Commonwealth, also played a part in boosting the rate.

State and county assessments against the city are $136,537, or 8.4 per cent, greater than last year, while the revenue Newton will get from the State is down $174,371, or 12.2 per cent.

The combined total of the increased assessments and the drop in revenue is $314,805 which is equivalent to approximately $1.20 in the tax rate.

The total valuation of real and personal property in Newton this year, according to the assessors, is $267,873,250, an increase of $7,649,550 over last year.

Of that increase, approximately $6,400,000 is in real estate assessments, almost all of which is accounted for by new construction, and the remaining $1,249,550 is in personal property.

Newton, incidentally, remains the fourth largest city in Massachusetts from the standpoint of total assessed valuation.

The average tax rate for the first 100 communities in Massachusetts to report their rates, 94 of which were towns, was $61.41, or $7.41 higher than Newton's $54 figure.

Boys Club Needs Bigger-Better Building Facility

Declaring the present Boys Club Building in Newton is "inadequate" and "bulging at the seams," William H. Montgomery, Sr., called for the construction of a bigger and better club.

In a meeting of the club at the Nonantum Public Library, Montgomery declared, "A community such as Newton, with a population estimated at 90,000 has an obligation to the youngsters of the city and should take greater advantage of the professional leadership at the Newton Boys Club."

"I would suggest that a new and bigger Newton Boys Club be planned in a more centralized location and that the present club be maintained as a branch," he said.

The following officers were elected unanimously: Jerry R. Angino, president; David Berkman, vice president; Theodore Scaffi, treasurer; Mrs. Doris Carter, secretary.

Austin A. Chute Named to Post

Austin A. Chute, of Newton Highlands, has been appointed to the post of Alumni Secretary of the Rivers Country Day School in Chestnut Hill.

Mr. Chute is well known to the alumni, having taught eight years at the former Newton Country Day School and completed his 30th year at the Rivers Country Day School.

Open House Group Makes Final Plans

The Open House Day Planning Committee of the National Council of Jewish Women, suburban Boston section, met recently at the home of Mrs. Maurice L. Babbitt in Newton Centre to discuss final arrangements for Open House Day.

Twenty members will open their doors to the entire membership of two thousand women on Monday at 12:45 p.m. for a Spring Bouquet Luncheon and surprise program at each home.

Mrs. Babbitt is chairman for the affair, assisted by the following:

Mrs. Harry Aronson, Newton; Mrs. Eliot G. Chertok, Newton; Mrs. Alfred Goldstein, Brookline; Mrs. Herman Dorfman, Newton Centre; Mrs. Harvey Shapiro, Brookline; Mrs. Philip Coleman, Newton Centre; Mrs. Edward L. Schwartz, Newton Centre; Mrs. Abraham Risenberg, Brookline; Mrs. Ralph N. Rosenbaum, Newton; and Mrs. Herbert Sherman, Newton.

Regular Meeting Planned By Club Executive Board

The Executive Board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday at 10:15 a.m. at the Newtonville Branch Library Hall.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Noel L. Larabee, chairman of the Membership Extension and Training Institute Committee of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs. Her topic will be "Membership Hints and Helps."

During her tenure as a Woman's Club president and as a leader in community activities, Mrs. Larabee has been able to gather many ideas to combat the membership problems which organizations face. She will discuss these problems and answer questions following the talk.

The annual meeting of the Federation will be held on Thursday, May 8. Reservations for the luncheon may be made by contacting Mrs. John Metz at LA 7-5697.

75 Boys Picked in Hot Little League Auction

In one of the hottest auction sales of little league baseball players since the inception of the Newton Central Little League 75 players were bid in by the five managers who will run the five teams which will represent Newton Central Little League.

This year the Newton Central Little League board of directors decided to put another team in action and as a result all players from previous years were thrown on the auction block.

Last Saturday marked the last day for tryouts of all ages and the auction was held Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Johnson on Chestnut street, Waban.

More than 250 boys ranging in ages from 9-12 had been trying out to be selected on one of the roster of '75 which would represent five teams, fifteen boys per team.

It was 2:30 a. m. Sunday morning before the last few boys went under the hammer of auctioneer Jack Pennington, coach of Warren Junior High School, West Newton, stated that in all his experience he has never put in such a night.

The Newton Central Little League will open Sunday, May 4 with a parade from the Newton Police Station to the Pierce School Stadium in West Newton. The parade will be headed by the president of the Little League, Peter Ryan and Mayor Howard W. The area in Newton which comprises the Newton Central Little League is that of Pierce School, West Newton; St. Bernard's Church, West Newton; Clafin School, Newtonville; Cabot School, Newtonville; and Our Lady's School, Newtonville; together with those boys who attend private school yet reside within the area.

The executive committee has purchased all new uniforms this year and the old uniforms have been turned over to Milton Goldberg of West Newton for use by the minor league. The new uniforms have been made by the Waltham Athletic Club.

Following is a list of the five teams, players, sponsors and managers.

Chief Purcell announced that Crusaders, made up of friends and neighbors, and flying squadrons of last minute volunteers, will visit every home in Newton on Tuesday night, April 29th.

Aldermen Reject Mayor's Proposal To Repay Woman

Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. was balked in his effort to set up a temporary position of assistant comptroller of accounts as the Board of Aldermen voted 11 to 10 Monday night to refuse to approve his recommendation.

He had sought to create the temporary post to assist the new comptroller and to reward Mrs. Ebba C. Cullen, acting comptroller for two years.

Opposing the Mayor's proposal were Aldermen William M. Powers and Stuart M. Spaulding, who asserted that individuals should not be rewarded for services in this fashion.

New comptroller Arthur A. Marr is slated to begin his duties on May 5, and Mayor Whitmore would have had the assistant work with him until June 27.

Woman Hurt As Auto Brake Fails

The failure of her auto's brakes to function properly resulted in chest and leg injuries to Edith A. Rothstein, 204 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, when her car collided with a utility pole, stone wall, and parked car Monday.

Taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital, she told police that as she was rounding a curve on Hammond street about 4:20 p.m. her brakes failed, causing her to lose control of the car.
